Gyula Derkovits:

Derkovits Gyula. (1894-1934.) [With a list of pictures by the artist.] Imre ÁRTINGER, Gyula Derkovits, 1934

Gyula Derkovits "1514" Gyula Derkovits, 1949      Gyula Derkovits ,      Persistent Illusions Nóra Veszprémi, 2025-07-15

Persistent Illusions examines the visual representation of history in interwar Hungary where interpretations of the past were suffused with references to the country's recent territorial loss. In these images of history, nineteenth-century themes and motifs took on new forms to promote twentieth-century political ideas through the new media of modernity. Nóra Veszprémi illustrates how modernization created resilient imagery that persists in cultural memory through a wide range of paintings, prints, stamps, public spectacles and monuments. In doing so, she challenges the assumption that the official culture of the right-wing authoritarian regime of Admiral Miklós Horthy was characterized by a superficial revival of historical styles. Instead, she argues that the regime drew on history in complex, modern ways that disseminated motifs and ideological frameworks across political divides. By analyzing how ideology shapes enduring concepts of the past through the evocative power of images, Persistent Illusions encourages the reader to critically examine the legacies of interwar ideas and imagery in the present day.

Die Organisation und die Leistungen der Feldartillerie, 1853      Painting the Town Red Bob Dent, 2018-03-20. The intensely political cultural production that erupted during Hungary's short-lived Soviet Republic of 1919 encompassed music, art, literature, film and theatre. Painting the Town Red is the little-known history of these developments. The book opens with an overview of the political context in Hungary after the First World War and how the Soviet Republic emerged in the chaotic months which followed the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian Dual Monarchy. It looks at the subsequent roles during the Soviet Republic of artists, film makers, actors, musicians and writers and the attitude of the newly established People's Commissariat for Education and Culture in which the future internationally renowned Marxist György Lukács played a leading role. At its centre are the questions why did so many prominent people in the arts world participate in the Soviet Republic and why did their initial enthusiasm later subside. Painting the Town Red is an important contribution to the lively debate about the interaction between art and politics.

Decades of Crisis Ivan T. Berend, 2023-11-15. Only by understanding Central and Eastern Europe's turbulent history during the first half of the twentieth century can we hope to make sense of the conflicts and crises that have followed World War II and after that the collapse of Soviet-controlled state socialism. Ivan Berend looks closely at the fateful decades preceding World War II and at twelve countries whose absence from the roster of major players was enough in itself to precipitate much of the turmoil. As waves of modernization swept over Europe, the less developed countries on the periphery tried with little or no success to imitate Western capitalism and liberalism. Instead, they remained as Berend shows, rural agrarian societies, notable for the tenacious survival of feudal and aristocratic institutions In that context of frustration and disappointment rebellion was inevitable Berend leads the reader skillfully through the maze of social cultural economic and political changes in Hungary Czechoslovakia Yugoslavia Poland Romania Bulgaria Albania Austria Latvia Lithuania Estonia and the Soviet Union showing how every path ended in dictatorship and despotism by the start of World War II Only by understanding Central and Eastern Europe s turbulent history during the first half of the twentieth century can we hope to make sense of the conflicts and crises that have followed World War II and after that the collapse of Soviet controlled st

Luxury and the Ruling Elite in Socialist Hungary György Majtényi, 2021-11-02 After World War II a new community of elite emerged in Hungary in spite of the communist principles espoused by the government In Luxury and the Ruling Elite in Socialist Hungary György Majtényi allows us a peek inside their affluence Majtényi exposes the lavish standard of living that the higher echelon enjoyed complete with pools Persian rugs extravagant furniture servants and groundskeepers They shopped in private stores stocked with expensive meats and tropical fruits just for them They benefited from access to everything from books telephone lines and international travel to hunting grounds soccer games and even the choicest cemetery plots But Majtényi also reveals the underbelly of such society particularly how these privileges were used as a way of maintaining power initiating or denying entry to party members and strengthening the very hierarchies that communism promised to abolish Taking readers on a fascinating and often surprising look inside the manor homes and vacation villas of wealthy post World War II Hungarians Majtényi offers fresh insight into the realities of patriarchy loyalty gender and class within the communist regime

Imagining Postcommunism Beverly A. James, 2005-03-29 Although the 1956 Hungarian uprising failed to liberate the country from Soviet domination it became a symbol of freedom for people throughout Eastern Europe and beyond Labeling the events a counterrevolution communist authorities exacted revenge in two years of terror and intimidation Then for the next thirty years they pursued a policy of forced forgetting attempting to obliterate public memory of the events As communism unraveled in the late 1980s the 1956 revolution was resurrected as inspiration for a new political order In Imagining Postcommunism Beverly James demonstrates how 1956 became a foundational myth according to which the bloody events of that fall led to the ceremonial reburial of the martyred prime minister Imre Nagy in 1989 free elections in 1990 and the withdrawal of the last Soviet soldiers on June 19 1991 She shows how museums monuments and holiday rituals have aided the construction of a new Hungary through the reclamation and expression of competing memories of the critical events of 1956 Surveying the dazzling array of ceremonies exhibitions and memorials commemorating the revolution and its heroes James invites readers to consider the difference between the communist regime's master narrative of 1956 with its smug false unity and the multiple polemical stories woven by competing political forces in postcommunist Hungary A thoughtful application of communication and historical theories on the uses of memory this study offers a unique perspective on a crucial episode in the history of Eastern Europe
