 From the founding of New France to the present day Quebec women have had to negotiate societal expectations placed on their gender Tracing the evolution of life writing by Quebec women Patricia Smart presents a feminist analysis of women s struggles for autonomy and agency in a society that has continually emphasized the traditional roles of wife and mother Writing Herself into Being examines published autobiographies and autobiographical fiction as well as the annals of religious communities letters and a number of published and unpublished diaries by girls and women to reveal a greater range of women s experiences than proscribed generalized roles Through close readings of these texts Smart uncovers the authors perspectives on events such as the 1837 Rebellion the Montreal cholera epidemic of 1848 convent school education the struggle for women s rights in the early twentieth century and the Quiet Revolution Drawing attention to the individuality of each writer while situating her within the social and ideological context of her era this book further explores the ways women and girls reacted to and often rebelled against the constraints imposed on them by both Church and state Written in a clear and compelling narrative style that brings women s voices to life Writing Herself into Being the author s own translation of her award winning French language book De Marie de l Incarnation Nelly Arcan Se dire se faire par l criture intime Bor al

 Edwards,Christopher Hogarth,2010-03-08 The Self Which is Not One Women s Life Writing in French assembles articles on women s life writing from diverse areas of the Francophone world It is comprised of nine chapters that discuss female writers from North Africa Sub Saharan Africa the Caribbean and Europe in addition to French writers The idea of the self is currently attracting widespread interest in academia most notably in the arts and humanities The development of postmodernism supposes a fragmented subject formed from the network of available discourses rather than a stable and coherent self Jacques Derrida for example wrote that there is no longer any such things as a full subject and Julia Kristeva now insists that the individual is a subject in process The growing importance of psychoanalytic theory particular in French studies has also impacted upon this development The basic tenet of psychoanalytic theory is that the individual is formed of a duality the conscious and unconscious parts of the self which prevent the individual from ever fully knowing her himself and which thus insists upon a plural incomplete self Developments in the field of postcolonial studies have also made us aware of different ways of approaching the self in different parts of the world and eroded the idea of a stable conscious and complete self As scholars examine these new ways of approaching the self autobiography has been the subject of renewed interest Several academic books have appeared in recent years that study the ways in which autobiographers represent the self as incomplete evolving and elusive In particular a number of books have appeared on the subject of women s autobiography and female subjectivity such as works by Sidonie Smith Julia Watson and Nancy Miller and several volumes interrogate postcolonial women s autobiography such as texts by Fran oise Lionnet Gayatri Spivak Carole Boyce Davies and Chandra Mohanty Our volume unites these strands of criticism by examining ways that female autobiographies write the self as a fragmented plural construct across the Francophone world This will be the first book length study of this important development This volume will be of interest primarily to students and scholars working in the areas of life writing French and Francophone studies postcolonial studies and gender studies The volume contributes to multiple areas that are currently garnering substantial interest in academe postcolonial studies Francophone studies gender studies and women s writing By comparing works from across the Francophone world our volume takes a global approach to the genre of autobiography and its inflections by women writers The Self That is Not One in Women s Autobiography in French therefore represents a timely intervention in several interlinking academic fields and will thus garner substantial interest Louise Talma Kendra

Preston Leonard, 2016-04-22 American composer Louise Talma 1906 1996 was the first female winner of two back to back Guggenheim Awards 1946 1947 the first American woman to have an opera premiered in Europe 1962 the first female winner of the Sibelius Award for Composition 1963 and the first woman composer elected to the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters 1974 This book analyses Talma s works in the context of her life focusing on the effects on her work of two major changes she made during her adult life her conversion to Catholicism as an adult under the guidance of Nadia Boulanger and her adoption of serial compositional techniques Employing approaches from traditional musical analysis feminist and queer musicology and women s autobiographical theory to examine Talma s body of works comprising some eighty pieces this is the first full length study of this pioneering composer Exploring Talma s compositional language text setting practices and the incorporation of autobiographical elements into her works using her own letters sketches and scores as well as a number of other relevant documents this book positions Talma s contributions to serial and atonal music in the United States considers her role as a woman composer during the twentieth century and evaluates the legacy of her works and career in American music Italian Women's Autobiographical Writings in the Twentieth Century Ursula

Fanning,2017-09-07 This book highlights the centrality of the autobiographical enterprise to Italian women s writing through the twentieth century a century that has frequently been referred to as the century of the self Ursula Fanning addresses the thorny issue of essentialism potentially involved in underlining links between women s writing and autobiographical modes and ultimately rejects it in favor of an argument based on the cultural linguistic and literary marginalization of women writers within the Italian context It is concerned with Italian women writers various ways of grappling with constructions of subjectivity throughout the century and sets out to explore them Fanning reads autobiographical writing as subject to many of the same constraints as fiction and in doing so draws attention to the significance of the recurring use of the terms pure and impure in many critical and theoretical discussions of the autobiographical where pure is used to suggest a truthful representation of a life while impure suggests the messy undertaking of mixing lived experience with fiction Recurring patterns and paradigms are found in the works of the various writers considered eighteen in all and these paradigms are analyzed through close readings of their works These close readings offer insights into approaches to the constructions of subjectivity in the narratives and are informed by feminist theories The chapters focus on selves in relationship taking their lead from the patterns unfolding in the writers work hence the subjects are constructed as daughters with different views of the self in relation to fathers and mothers within the confines of the romantic relationship which involves reconsiderations and rewritings of the romance plot as maternal subjects and as writers with an eye on their relationship to the literary canon as well as to the relationship with readers This book argues that there is such a thing as gendered subjectivity and that its constructions may be traced through the texts analyzed

Women and the Autobiographical Impulse Barbara

Caine,2023-09-07 Forming a critical introduction to the history of women s autobiography from the mid 18th century to the present this book analyses the most important changes in women s autobiography exploring their motivation context style and the role of life experiences Caine effortlessly segues across three centuries of history from the emergence of the modern autobiography in the 18th century which laid bare the scandalous lives of fallen women to the literary and suffragist autobiographies of the 19th century to the establishment of feminist publishers in the 20th century and the taboo shattering autobiographies they produced The result is a much needed history one which provides a different way of thinking about the trajectory of genre information Caine s compelling study fills an important gap in the genre of autobiography by embracing a wide range of women and offering an extensive discussion of the autobiographies of women across the 19th and 20th centuries making it ideal for classroom use

The Creation of the Self in Autobiographical Forms of Writing in Seventeenth-century England Brigitte Glaser,2001

Speaking of the Self Anshu Malhotra,Siobhan

Lambert-Hurley,2015-10-23 Many consider the autobiography to be a Western genre that represents the self as fully autonomous The contributors to Speaking of the Self challenge this presumption by examining a wide range of women s autobiographical writing from South Asia Expanding the definition of what kinds of writing can be considered autobiographical the contributors analyze everything from poetry songs mystical experiences and diaries to prose fiction architecture and religious treatises The authors they study are just as diverse a Mughal princess an eighteenth century courtesan from Hyderabad a nineteenth century Muslim prostitute in Punjab a housewife in colonial Bengal a Muslim Gandhian devotee of Krishna several female Indian and Pakistani novelists and two male actors who worked as female impersonators The contributors find that in these autobiographies the authors construct their gendered selves in relational terms Throughout they show how autobiographical writing in whatever form it takes provides the means toward more fully understanding the historical social and cultural milieu in which the author performs herself and creates her subjectivity Contributors Asiya Alam Afshan Bokhari Uma Chakravarti Kathryn Hansen Siobhan Lambert Hurley Anshu Malhotra Ritu Menon Shubhra Ray Shweta Sachdeva Jha Sylvia Vatak Helene Deutsch Paul Roazen, Elena Garro and Mexico's Modern Dreams Rebecca E. Biron, 2012-12-15 Elena Garro and Mexico's Modern Dreams uses Elena Garro's eccentric life and work as a lens through which to examine mid twentieth century Mexican intellectuals desire to reconcile mexicanidad with modernidad The famously scandalous first wife of Nobel Prize winner poet Octavio Paz and an award winning author in her own right Garro constructed a mysterious and often contradictory persona through her very public participation in Mexican political conflicts Herself an anxious and contentious Mexican writer Elena Garro elicited profound political and aesthetic anxiety in her Mexican readers She confused the personal and the public in her creative fictions as well as in her vision of Mexican modernity This violation of key distinctions rendered her largely illegible to her contemporaries That illegibility serves as a symptom of unacknowledged desires that motivate twentieth century views of national modernity Taken together Garro's public persona and critical perspective expose the anxieties regarding ethnicity gender economic class and professional identity that define Mexican modernity Blending cultural studies and detailed literary analysis with political and intellectual history Mexico's Modern Dreams argues that in addition to the intriguing gossip she elicited in literary and political circles Garro produced a radical critique of Mexican modernity Her critique applies as well to the nation's twenty first century crisis of globalization state power and pervasive violence Narrative and Self-Understanding Garry L. Hagberg, 2019-11-15 This exciting new edited collection bridges the gap between narrative and self understanding The problem of self knowledge is of universal interest the nature or character of its achievement has been one continuing thread in our philosophical tradition for millennia Likewise the nature of storytelling the assembly of individual parts of a potential story into a coherent narrative structure has been central to the study of literature But how do we gain knowledge from an artform that is by definition fictional by definition not a matter of ascertained fact as this applies to the understanding of our lives When we see ourselves in the mimetic mirror of literature what we see may not just be a matter of identifying with a single protagonist but also a matter of recognizing long form structures long arc narrative shapes that give a place to and thus make sense of the individual bits of experience that we place into those structures But of course at precisely this juncture a question arises do we make that sense or do we discover it The twelve chapters brought together here lucidly and steadily reveal how the matters at hand are far more intricate and interesting than any such dichotomy could accommodate This is a book that investigates the ways in which life and literature speak to each other
