New Perspectives on the War Film Clémentine Tholas, Janis L. Goldie, Karen A. Ritzenhoff, 2019-09-14 New Perspectives on the War Film addresses the gap in the representation of many forgotten faces of war in mainstream movies and global mass media The authors concentrate on the untold narratives of those who fought in combat and were affected by its brutal consequences Chapters discuss the historically underrepresented stories of individuals including women African American and Indigenous Soldiers Issues of homosexuality and gender relations in the military colonial subjects and child soldiers as well as the changing nature of war via terrorism and bioterrorism are closely analyzed The contributors demonstrate how these viewpoints have been consistently ignored in mainstream blockbuster war sagas and strive to re-integrate these lost perspectives into current and future narratives A New History of German Cinema Jennifer M. Kapczynski, Michael David Richardson, 2012 A dynamic event centered exploration of the hundred year history of German language film This dynamic event centered anthology offers a new understanding of the hundred year history of German language film from the earliest days of the Kintopp to contemporary productions like The Lives of Others Each of the more than eighty essays takes a key date as its starting point and explores its significance for German film history pursuing its relationship with its social political and aesthetic moment While the essays offer ample temporal and topical spread this book emphasizes the juxtaposition of famous and unknown stories granting attention to a wide range of cinematic events Brief section introductions provide a larger historical and film historical framework that illuminates the essays within it offering both scholars and the general reader a setting for the individual texts and figures under investigation Cross references to other essays in the book are included at the close of each entry encouraging readers not only to pursue familiar trajectories in the development of German film but also to trace particular figures and motifs across genres and historical periods Together the contributions offer a new view of the multiple intersecting narratives that make up German language cinema The constellation that is thus established challenges unidirectional narratives of German film history and charts new ways of thinking about film historiography more broadly Jennifer Kapczynski is Associate Professor of German at Washington University St Louis and Michael Richardson is Associate Professor of German at Ithaca College War and Film James Chapman, 2008-06 About depictions of war in cinema Queer Sexualities in Early Film Shane Brown, 2016-07-26 Since the publication of Vito Russo's seminal study The Celluloid Closet in 1981 much has been written about the representation of queer characters on screen Until now however relatively little attention has been paid to how queer sexualities were portrayed in films from the silent and early sound period By looking in detail at a succession of recently found films and revisiting others Shane Brown examines images of male male intimacy buddy relationships and romantic friendships in European and American films made prior to 1934 including Different from the Others and All Quiet on the Western Front He places these films within their socio political and scientific context and sheds new light on how they were intended to be viewed and how they were actually perceived In doing so Brown offers his readers a unique insight into a little known area of early cinema queer studies and social history

Anti-Heimat Cinema Ofer Ashkenazi, 2020-09-08 Anti Heimat Cinema The Jewish Invention of the German Landscape studies an overlooked yet fundamental element of German popular culture in the twentieth century In tracing Jewish filmmakers' contemplations of Heimat a provincial German landscape associated with belonging and authenticity it analyzes their distinctive contribution to the German identity discourse between 1918 and 1968 In its emphasis on rootedness and homogeneity Heimat seemed to challenge the validity and significance of Jewish emancipation Several acculturation seeking Jewish artists and intellectuals however endeavored to conceive a notion of Heimat that would rather substantiate their belonging This book considers Jewish filmmakers' contribution to this endeavor It shows how they devised the landscapes of the German Homeland as Jews namely as acculturated outsiders within Through appropriation of generic Heimat imagery the films discussed in the book integrate criticism of national chauvinism into German mainstream culture from World War One to the Cold War Consequently these Jewish filmmakers anticipated the anti Heimat film of the ensuing decades and functioned as an uncredited inspiration for the critical New German Cinema German Ways of War Jaimey Fisher,2022-08-12 German Ways of War explores the production of novel spaces and evocation of new affects in the war film genre between the 1910s and 2000s Beyond the conventional pairing of visibility and violence war films combine mobility landscape territory scales and topological networks into affective geographies that interweave narratively generated affect space and political processes Why We Fought Peter C. Reimer,Carol J. Reimer,2010-04-01 German film is diverse and multi faceted its history includes five distinct German governments Wilhelmine Germany the Weimar Republic the Third Reich the Federal Republic of Germany and the German Democratic Republic two national industries Germany and Austria and a myriad of styles and production methods Paradoxically the political disruptions that have produced these distinct film eras as well as the natural inclination of artists to rebel and create new styles allow for the construction of a narrative of German film While the disjuncture generates distinct points of separation it also highlights continuities between the ruptures Outlining the richness of German film The A to Z of German Cinema covers mainstream alternative and experimental film from 1895 to the present through a chronology introductory essay appendix of the 100 most significant German films a bibliography and hundreds of cross referenced dictionary entries on directors actors films cinematographers composers producers and major historical events that greatly affected the direction and development of German cinema The book s broad canvas will lead students and scholars of cinema to appreciate the complex nature of German film Hindenburg Anna von der Goltz,2009-09-10 Hindenburg Power Myth and the Rise of the Nazis investigates the various political and cultural manifestations of the myth surrounding German Chief of Staff and Reich President Paul von Hindenburg from the Battle of Tannenberg in 1914 to his death in the Third Reich and beyond How this little known General whose career to normal retirement age had provided no real foretaste of his heroic status became a national icon and living myth and what this phenomenon tells us about one of the most crucial periods in German history is the subject of this book. The book charts the origins of the Hindenburg myth during the First World War, looks at how it survived the revolution and explains why Hindenburg's name on the ballot mesmerized voters in the presidential elections of 1925 and 1932. The only two times in German history that the people could elect their head of state directly and secretly they chose this national icon. Hindenburg even managed to defeat Hitler in 1932, making him the Nazi leader's ultimate arbiter. The book examines the complex role of the Hindenburg myth in fashioning the Führer cult while also emphasizing its more wide-ranging appeal prior to 1933. The Hindenburg myth in fact caught the imagination of an exceptionally broad social and political coalition of Germans, turning it into one of the most potent forces in German politics in a period otherwise characterised by rupture and fragmentation. Crucially, it managed to survive military failures and political disappointments. As the author shows, the mythical narrative was constantly evolving, but the belief in Hindenburg's mythical qualities was more enduring than a narrow application of Weber's model of charismatic authority, which defines projection as key would suggest.

Cinematic Corpographies Eileen Rositzka, 2018-05-22. Writing on the relationship between war and cinema has largely been dominated by an emphasis on optics and weaponised vision. However, as this analysis of the Hollywood war film will show, a wider sensory field is powerfully evoked in this genre. Contouring war cinema as representing a somatic experience of space, the study applies a term recently developed by Derek Gregory within the theoretical framework of Critical Geography. What he calls corpography implies a constant re-mapping of landscape through the soldier's body. These assumptions can be used as a connection between already established theories of cartographic film narration and ideas of neo-phenomenological film experience, as they also entail the involvement of the spectator's body in sensuously grasping what is staged as a mediated experience of war. While cinematic codes of war have long been oriented almost exclusively to the visual, the notion of corpography can help to reframe the concept of film genre in terms of expressive movement patterns and genre memory, avoiding reverting to the usual taxonomies of generic texts.

Becoming a Nazi Town David Imhoof, 2013-10-03. Becoming a Nazi Town reveals the ways in which ordinary Germans changed their cultural lives and their politics from the mid 1920s to the mid 1930s. Casting the origins of Nazism in a new light, David Imhoof charts the process by which Weimar and Nazi culture flowed into each other. He analyzes this dramatic transition by looking closely at three examples of everyday cultural life in the mid-sized German city of Göttingen: sharpshooting, an opera festival, and cinema. Imhoof draws on individual and community experiences over a series of interwar periods to highlight and connect shifts in culture, politics, and everyday life. He demonstrates how Nazi leaders crafted cultural policies based in part on homegrown cultural practices of the 1920s and argues that overdrawn distinctions between Weimar and Nazi culture did not always conform to most Germans' daily lives. Further, Imhoof presents experiences in Göttingen as a reflection of the common reality of many German towns beyond the capital city of Berlin.

Order and Insecurity in Germany and Turkey Emre Sencer, 2016-11-25 This book examines processes of military political and cultural transformation from the perspective of officers in two countries Germany and Turkey in the 1930s The national fates of both countries interlocked during the Great War years and their close alliance dictated their joint defeat in 1918 While the two countries were manifestly different in their politics and culture both had lost the war and both went through powerful changes in its immediate aftermath They painted themselves as the victims of a new imperialist order whose chief representatives were Britain and France The result was a radical militarism that unleashed violent currents in these countries developments that were to be more transformative than the impact of the war experience itself
