Bloesch, 2010-03-23 In The Last Things Donald G Bloesch takes up difficult and sometimes controversial themes such as the coming of the kingdom of God the return of Jesus Christ the life hereafter the millennial hope the final judgment hell heaven purgatory and paradise Wrestling with biblical texts that often take metaphorical form Bloesch avoids rationalistic reductionism as well as timid agnosticism While he acknowledges mystery and even paradox Bloesch finds biblical revelation much more than sufficient to illuminate the central truths of a Christian hope articulated throughout the history of the church The Last Things is not just a review of past Christian eschatology but a fresh articulation of the grace and glory of God yet to be consummated The triumph of the grace of Jesus Christ and the dawning of hope beckon us to reach out in the power of the Spirit to receive that blessed future and the promise to renew the life of the church universal today The Seven Last Things David J. the end of human thought Khalip explores lastness as what marks the limits of our life and world Reading the fate of romanticism and romantic studies within the key of the last Khalip refuses to elegize or celebrate our ends instead positing romanticism as a negative force that exceeds theories narratives and figures of survival and sustainability Each chapter explores a range of romantic and contemporary materials poetry by John Clare Emily Dickinson John Keats Percy Shelley and William Wordsworth philosophical texts by William Godwin David Hume Immanuel Kant and Jean Jacques Rousseau paintings by Hubert Robert Caspar David Friedrich and Paterson Ewen installations by Tatsuo Miyajima and James Turrell and photography by John Dugdale Peter Hujar and Joanna Kane Shutling between temporalities Last Things undertakes an original reorganization of romantic thought for contemporary culture It examines an archive on the side of disappearance perishing the inhuman and lastness

God's Church-Community David Emerton, 2020-07-09 David Emerton argues that Dietrich Bonhoeffer's ecclesial thought breaks open a necessary third way in ecclesiological description between the Scylla of ethnographic ecclesiology and the Charybdis of dogmatic ecclesiology Building on a rigorous and provocative discussion of Bonhoeffer's thought Emerton establishes a programmatic theological grammar for any speech about the church Emerton argues that Bonhoeffer understands the church as a pneumatological and eschatological community in space and time and that his understanding is built on eschatological and pneumatological foundations These foundations in turn give rise to a unique methodological approach to ecclesiological description an approach that enables Bonhoeffer to proffer a genuinely theological account of the church in which both divine and human agency are held together through an account of God the Holy Spirit Emerton proposes that this approach is the perfect remedy for an endemic problem in contemporary accounts of the church that of attending either to the human empirical church community ethnographically or to the life of God dogmatically and to each problematically at the expense of the other This book will act as a clarion call towards genuinely theological ecclesiological speech which is allied to real ecclesial action
