

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a brown t-shirt and patterned pants, is sitting in a meditative pose on a large orange cushion on a rocky cliff edge. She is looking out over a vast, misty mountain landscape. The background is a mix of dark, rocky terrain and a bright, hazy sky. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

Gender And Human Nature:

Gender and Sexuality Chris Beasley, 2005-05-20 About various theories of gender sexuality feminism and masculinity including queer theory transgender theorizing modernist liberationism and social constructionism Paradoxes of Gender Judith Lorber, 1994-01-01 In this pathbreaking book a well known feminist and sociologist who is also the Founding Editor of Gender why transvestites transsexuals and hermaphrodites do not affect the conceptualization of two genders and two sexes in Western societies why most of our cultural images of women are the way men see them and not the way women see themselves why all women in modern society are expected to have children and be the primary caretaker why domestic work is almost always the sole responsibility of wives even when they earn more than half the family income why there are so few women in positions of authority when women can be found in substantial numbers in many occupations and professions why women have not benefited from major social revolutions Lorber argues that the whole point of the gender system today is to maintain structured gender inequality to produce a subordinate class women that can be exploited as workers sexual partners childbearers and emotional nurturers Calling into question the inevitability and necessity of gender she envisions a society structured for equality where no gender racial ethnic or social class group is allowed to monopolize economic educational and cultural resources or the positions of power Gender Thinking Stephen Smith, 2010-04-30 The first comprehensive philosophical exploration of the concept of gender Feminist Politics and Human Nature Alison M. Stereotype is a pervasive and persistent human tendency that stems from a basic cognitive need to categorize simplify and process the complex world This tendency is a precondition for social bias prejudice and discrimination Previous research has mainly focused on the content psychological mechanisms and intervention strategies of negative stereotypes as well as the stereotype threat phenomenon induced by an evaluative context where a negative in group stereotype could be confirmed However there is a lack of research examining the psychological process of forming and internalizing social stereotypes the neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes and the interventions including potential neurocognitive interventions addressing the consequences of negative stereotypes Furthermore as per the Behavioral Immune System BIS theory the very presence of a pathogen is likely to increase stereotyping across various social categories especially in those with a heightened perception of vulnerability to disease Thus stereotypes can be enhanced in the context of pathogen exposure such as the current outbreak of COVID 19 pandemic People exposed to the virus are more likely to suffer from personal and institutional stereotypes and discrimination which may cause negative consequences to personal and social well being Therefore in the current context of global Covid 19 pandemic it is necessary to investigate the increasing biases driven by stereotypes regarding viewing pathogens as a threat which holds across different social categories Specifically what constitutes and shapes stereotypes towards people living in epidemic areas What are the consequences of these short term shaped stereotypes What is the relationship between the consequences of these stereotypes and traditional stereotypes i e stereotypes towards race gender and age Will these short term stereotypes interact with traditional stereotypes to exacerbate discrimination or will the recategorization based on the short term stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic allow people to ignore the traditional inferior social identity and in turn to promote social integration among different groups And how can we prevent the increasing tendency of relying on stereotypes and instead increase pro social behaviors in the Covid 19 context The current Research Topic focuses on understanding the psychological process of forming and internalizing social stereotypes the neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes as well as interventions including potential neurocognitive interventions regarding the consequences of negative stereotypes And we also aim to gather the latest research investigating the broad psychological process of social stereotyping with an emphasis on the implications under the Covid 19 context That is this Research Topic is also interested in the negative stereotypes specific to Covid 19 pandemic as well as relevant preventative interventions aimed at people perceived as at higher Covid 19 exposure risk Theoretical and empirical research from psychology sociology and related fields is welcome Examples of possible themes for manuscripts include but are not limited to the following topics The content of stereotypes Social categorization and discrimination based on stereotypes Traditional stereotypes and their consequences The psychological process of social stereotype formation and internalization The mechanisms including neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes and its consequences The stereotype neutralizing interventions including neurocognitive intervention strategies towards negative stereotypes The psychological process of stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic The social group categorization and social cohesion during Covid 19 pandemic The interactions between traditional stereotypes towards social groups seen as inferior in the dominant culture and the short term stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic The strategies of tackling stereotypes in Covid 19 pandemic

Women and Men in Ministry Robert Saucy, Judith TenElshof, 2001-05-01 The role of women in the church is a debate that has raged within the church for much of the twentieth century On one side are those who say there is no difference between men and women On the other side are those who severely limit women who want to offer ministry to the church Judith TenElshof and Robert Saucy take the middle approach Believing that the modern views have denied the distinctions between men and women the authors adopt a view called complementarianism TenElshof and Saucy argue that while men and women are equal God has given different roles to each and that these roles rely on each other to be fully effective

Communicating Gender in Context Helga Kotthoff, Ruth Wodak, 1997-06-12 The contributions to the book Communicating Gender in Context deal not only with grammatical gender but also with discursive procedures for constructing gender as a relevant social category in text and context Attention is directed to European cultures which till now have come up short in linguistic and discourse analytic gender studies e g Austria Spain Turkey Germany Poland and Sweden But also English speech communities and questions of English grammatical gender are dealt with In accordance with recent sociolinguistic research the contributors refrain from generalizing theses about how men and women normally speak no conversational style feature adheres so firmly to one sex as was thought in early feminism The studies however show that even today the feminine gender is often staged in a way that leads to situative asymmetry to the advantage of men The broader societal context of patriarchy does not determine all communicative encounters but demands particular efforts from women and men to be subverted

Gender Justice, Development, and Rights Maxine Molyneux, Shahra

Razavi, 2002-11-07 This text examines contemporary issues such as neoliberal policies democracy and multiculturalism analyzing them from a gender perspective It examines how liberal rights and ideas of democracy and justice have been absorbed into the political agendas of women's movements

Introducing Ecofeminist Theologies Heather
