Hess, Kathleen Bond, 2025-07-01 Originally published in 1983 Aging in Society consists of a selection of papers that were prepared by various authors as background papers for the 1981 White House Conference on Aging The papers provided an overview of knowledge on various aspects of aging in the United States at the time Topics covered include aging and the family economic aspects of an aging population recent trends in the geographical distribution of the elderly population and mortality and health differentials by sex Today it can be read in its historical context

The University of the Third Age and Active Ageing Marvin Formosa, 2019-07-01 This comparative resource charts the interface between the University of the Third Age U3A movement and active ageing and in doing so offers a comprehensive and thorough understanding of what U3A means in different geographical and sociocultural contexts After first providing introductory chapters to introduce the U3A movement and active ageing in global perspective and tracing the origins of U3As in France the book sets off charting the international development of U3As in both European and Asian Pacific contexts Deliberately the book moves away from the dominant Anglo centric US and UK rooted analyses of U3As to account for contexts of different political ideology sociocultural values geography and degrees of urbanisation and industrialisation Lastly it thematises foreseeable issues concerns and predicaments that the global U3A movement faces while meeting the challenges and seizing the opportunities presented by active ageing The chapters comparative perspectives encompass Origins and development The Francophone model of U3As The development and characteristics of U3As in European and Asian Pacific geographies From social welfare to educational gerontology U3As in China Russia Taiwan Malaysia and South Korea U3As in Italy Spain and Sweden A dynamic flexible and accessible learning model Late life learning for social inclusion U3As in Poland Iceland United Kingdom and Malta The U3A movement in Australia From statewide networking to community engagement Cross cultural perspectives on U3As The case of Thailand The University of the Third Age and Active Ageing boasts welcome contributions to the scholarship on the different histories structures and challenges posed by national U3As Readers from a variety of backgrounds and research interests including gerontology geriatrics active ageing older adult learning comparative education and educational technology will find this a necessary and valuable resource in better understanding a globalised U3A world The University of the Third Age and Active Ageing European and Asian Pacific Perspectives contributes to the deep well of histories experiences structures accomplishments and problems of national U3As It emerges as a tapestry of extraordinary research that offers to guide the U3A movement as it soon enters its fiftieth year of existence Prof Stephen Katz Trent University

Handbook of Communication and Aging Research Jon F. Nussbaum, Justine Coupland, 2004-04-12 This second edition of the Handbook of Communication and Aging Research captures the ever changing and expanding domain of aging research Since it was first recognized that there is more to social aging than demography gerontology has needed a communication perspective Like the first edition this handbook sets out to demonstrate that aging is not only an individual process but an interactive one The study of communication can lead to an understanding of what it means to grow old We may age physiologically and chronologically but our social aging how we behave as social actors toward others and even how we align ourselves with or come to understand the signs of difference or change as we age are phenomena achieved primarily through communication experiences Synthesizing the vast amount of research that has been published on communication and aging in numerous international outlets over the last three decades the book's contributors include scholars from North America and the United Kingdom who are active researchers in the perspectives covered in their particular chapter Many of the chapters work to deny earlier images of aging as involving normative decrement to provide a picture of aging as a process of development involving positive choices and providing new opportunities A recurring theme in many chapters is that of the heterogeneity of the group of people who are variously categorized as older aged elderly or over 65 The contributors review the literature analytically in a way that reveals not only current theoretical and methodological approaches to communication and aging research but also sets the future agenda This handbook will be of great interest to scholars and researchers in gerontology developmental psychology and communication and in this updated edition will continue to play a key role in the study of communication and aging      Teaching and Learning in Later Life Frank Glendenning, 2018-01-17 This title was first published in 2000 This collection of papers examines the development of education for older adults against the background of an ageing population and the challenge of lengthening life expectancy It brings together contributions from the UK and Canada The book analyzes the current situation reviews trends and perspectives and discusses educational gerontology and its relationship to older adults in the approach to the 21st century There is a call for recognition of the status of older people in education on the basis of social justice using the notions of equal opportunity access to democratic participation respect for persons and the status of equal citizenship There is also recognition of the need to empower older adults by facilitating a sense of autonomy and self determination Educational gerontology is examined in the context of critical theory and social gerontology raising a number of questions necessary to the understanding of critical educational gerontology The book seeks to promote a positive attitude to ageing and concludes by drawing out implications for the future      The SAGE Handbook of Aging, Work and Society John Field, Ronald J Burke, Cary L Cooper, 2013-09-19 Aging has emerged as a major and urgent issue for individuals organisations and governments of our time In this well timed and comprehensive handbook key international contributors to the field of study come together to create a definitive map of the subject Framed by an authoritative introductory chapter the SAGE Handbook of Aging Work and Society offers a critical overview of the most significant themes and topics with discussions of current research theoretical controversies and emerging issues divided into sections covering Key Issues and Challenges The Aging Workforce Managing an Aging Workforce Living in an Aging Society Developing Public Policy      Geragogics Celia M. Berdes, Grace D. Dawson, 1992 In this new book a variety of European researchers and scholars present their most current and interesting research in the field of geragogics the European term for gerontological education and educational gerontology These professionals forward the concept of geragogics to open readers minds and eyes to streams of geragogics research that have often been neglected in the U S Geragogics examines the history scope principles and practice of geragogics and defines some of the kinds of work that are being conducted in the field in Europe It suggests new and exciting areas for research and promotes a new integration of gerontological education and educational gerontology encouraging readers to move beyond the disciplinary and research conventions which have limited exploitation of the field This state of the art report on European research makes an exciting and informative volume Along with a comprehensive overview of the field of geragogics chapters in this book cover topics such as the effects of participation in third age universities motivations for continuing education in old age measuring the working ability of aging workers driving education for the elderly educational approaches to serving elderly immigrants comparative life values of European and American elderly Academics and researchers in gerontological education and educational gerontology and professionals involved in international aging European immigrant elderly and programs of education and employment for the elderly will find this book a valuable addition to the literature Geragogics is a thought provoking journey through fields and perspectives often ignored in the United States      Pedagogies for Later-Life Music Learning and Participation Andrea Creech, Colin

Enright, 2025-07-01 This open access book presents evidence based participant and facilitator perspectives on later life music learning and participation The chapters explore the principles and practices that can facilitate and support meaningful music making in a range of non formal later life contexts highlighting consistent as well as context specific pedagogical issues Case study examples are used to examine issues relating to pedagogy as improvisation the use of technology to support creativity and meaningful music experience facilitation of the use of music for creativity sense of belonging musical identities and musical development in later life and more The book concludes with an innovative and creative pedagogical model to support critical reflection on values frameworks and practices in later life music learning and participation The book will be accessible and relevant for music researchers and educators music education students and community music leaders alike

Taiwan's Senior Learning Movement Brian Findsen, Hui-Chuan Wei, Ai-tzu Li, 2022-03-21 This volume provides an in depth analysis of historical and recent developments of senior learning in Taiwan where publications in English have been scant It takes a broader view on lifelong learning and active ageing from a theoretical conceptual base written by prominent international authors this represents the outside in perspective The inside out on the other hand signifies an in depth investigation of initiatives written by authors from Taiwan who are closely involved with developments in policy and practice The volume is situated theoretically in the intersection of complementary concepts such as lifelong learning active ageing later life learning learning communities and social movements It is located geographically and culturally in East Asia where senior learning education is expanding in response to large populations of older adults and concerns about their physical and social well being It is argued that Taiwan is leading the way in terms of innovation and community engagement in regard to older adult learning education and can thus serve as a model for neighboring countries By analyzing historical precedents cultural dynamics policy trends research sub fields and community engagement this book is of interest to both East Asian and Western scholars practitioners policy makers and students amongst the fields of lifelong learning social gerontology and educational psychology      Quality Learning for Positive Ageing Alan Potter, 2024-02-29 Quality Learning for Positive Ageing explores the views of older adult learners to understand the factors that contribute to quality in later life learning and how these relate to wellbeing positive ageing and gaining protection against cognitive decline Through capturing and considering the viewpoints of learners facilitators and learning organisations the author outlines the specific characteristics of quality that they associate with informal learning and how it can be enhanced through the adoption of simple strategies Key topics covered include the implications of an increasing ageing population and barriers to older people learning as well as the cognitive mental wellbeing health and social benefits of learning in later life Illustrated throughout with vignettes of real later life learners this thought provoking text unpicks how learners can maximise the benefits of learning in later life for themselves how tutors can create learning opportunities that embody the characteristics of quality for them and how providers can offer an environment that simply allows quality learning to flourish This accessible and comprehensive text will be of great interest to researchers of gerontology and ageing educational gerontology adult education and lifelong learning as well as those engaged in dementia research     Learning in Later Life Trish Hafford-Letchfield, 2016-06-17 Within the UK and Europe government legislation and policies concerned with demography have asserted a paradigmatic shift towards the increased engagement of older people with public services The philosophy of user involvement and co production within these contexts has become integral to finding ways in which to improve the wellbeing of older people and their experiences of ageing well Whilst this area has been steadily emerging within the educational field in relation to the lifelong learning of older people there has been a relative under theorization and a lack of empirical research however into the lifelong learning needs opportunities and experiences of those older people using social care who are typically marginalized from these debates and developments This book address this gap by paying specific attention to examining what opportunities might be present within care services and public services in general for older people using social care to capitalize on the skills and knowledge they might need to achieve more person centred support Through developing a debate and argument for the convergence of the lifelong learning agenda with social policy and social care its core argument focusses on the challenge of sustainability of the care and support of older people The author explores how social care could engage more meaningfully with concepts such as social capital and the challenges associated with achieving a genuine co productive approach towards the quality of experience of older people using social care This book will be an essential read for professionals working with older people in health and social care as well as those engaged with gerontology and ageing studies in education and practice     Development in the Preschool Years Thomas E. Jordan, 2013-09-17 Development in the Preschool Years Birth to Age Five reports a prospective longitudinal analysis of influences on development in the years from birth to age five While speculation on the ways in which young children grow tends to be in terms of generalities this volume emphasizes the role of empirical data in such discourse and attempts to relate observations to an antecedent set o f quantitative findings At a more particular level the investigation considers six aspects of development motor intellectual language somatic social and physical development The book is organized into three parts The first part contains chapters that review of the corpus of longitudinal studies specific approaches and recent research and describe the methods used to generate and analyze the data The second part provides multivariate regression analyses of the data in six domains while the third part presents a discussion of the findings The fundamental intent of this investigation is to make a contribution to policy formation for the early years of life      Third Age Learners of Foreign Languages Danuta Gabryś-Barker, 2017-12-18 People are increasingly reaching the so called third age a period when seniors search for a renewed purpose to life and spend time undertaking activities that they consider motivating such as the learning of a foreign language The study of language learning among aging populations has become a fast growing area of research and this book is one of the first attempts to bring together what we know about this age group and their profiles as foreign language learners Contributors to the volume discuss the issue from various psychological neurological and pedagogical perspectives Each of the chapters provides an updated theoretical background and offers some initial conclusions on the basis of original empirical studies carried out Chapters challenge certain familiar preconceptions and assumptions about senior learners offer the reader ideas for future research in this under studied area and provide some practical advice for applying the proposals and solutions offered in real foreign language third age classrooms
