Suzanne P. Hudson, 2024-02-06 This first book length study of Robert Ryman argues that his work is a continuous experiment in the possibilities of painting In this first book length study of Robert Ryman Suzanne Hudson traces the artist s production from his first paintings in the early 1950s many of which have never been exhibited or reproduced to his recent gallery shows Ryman s largely white on white paintings represent his careful working over of painting s conventions at their most radically reduced Through close readings of the work Hudson casts Ryman as a painter for whom painting was conducted as a continuous personal investigation Ryman s method an act of learning by doing as well as his conception of painting as used paint sets him apart from second generation abstract expressionists minimalists or conceptualists Ryman born in 1930 is a self taught artist who began to paint in earnest while working as a guard at the Museum of Modern Art in New York in the 1950s Hudson argues that Ryman s approach to painting developed from quotidian contact with the story of modern painting as assembled by MoMA director and curator Alfred Barr and rendered widely accessible by director of the education department Victor D Amico and colleagues Ryman s introduction to artistic practice within the white walls of MoMA Hudson contends was shaped by an institutional ethos of experiential learning Others who worked at the MoMA during these years include Lucy Lippard who married Ryman in 1961 Dan Flavin another guard and Sol LeWitt a desk assistant Hudson s chapters Primer Paint Support Edge and Wall named after the most basic elements of the artist s work eloquently explore Ryman s ongoing experiment in what makes a painting a painting Ryman s work she writes tests the medium s material and conceptual possibilities It signals neither the end of painting nor guarantees its continued longevity but keeps the prospect of painting an open question answerable only through the production of new paintings Perpetual Inventory Rosalind E. Krauss, 2013-02-08 In essays that span three decades one of contemporary art s most esteemed critics celebrates artists who have persevered in the service of a medium The job of an art critic is to take perpetual inventory constantly revising her ideas about the direction of contemporary art and the significance of the work she writes about In these essays which span three decades of assessment and reassessment Rosalind Krauss considers what she has come to call the post medium condition the abandonment by contemporary art of the modernist emphasis on the medium as the source of artistic significance Jean Fran ois Lyotard argued that the postmodern condition is characterized by the end of a master narrative and Krauss sees in the post medium condition of contemporary art a similar farewell to coherence The master narrative of contemporary art ended when conceptual art and other contemporary practices jettisoned the specific medium in order to juxtapose image and written text in the same work For Krauss this spells the end of serious art and she devotes much of Perpetual Inventory to wrestling new media to the mat of specificity Krauss also writes about artists who are reinventing the medium artists who persevere in the service of a nontraditional medium strange new apparatuses often adopted from commercial culture among them Ed Ruscha Christian Marclay William Kentridge and James Coleman A Class of Their Own Maren Polte, 2017-06-22 The pioneer group of the Düsseldorf School The Düsseldorf School has become a household name in the art world for one of the most successful and influential strains of modern photography Coined in the late 1980s the name refers mainly to the pioneer group of students of the late Bernd Becher who in 1976 became the first professor for creative photography at a German arts academy His students included Andreas Gursky Candida Höfer Axel Hütte Thomas Ruff and Thomas Struth all of them today internationally acclaimed artists in their own right Whereas Düsseldorf School initially was used as a handy term for a group of artists with the same university's background it quickly turned into a powerful brand name both in critical and commercial contexts Despite its welcomed impact on the art scene the members of the School felt rather ambiguous about their perception as a group which turned them into stars but simultaneously risked levelling individual profiles and differences What exactly connects and distinguishes them aesthetically is for the first time thoroughly explored in Maren Polte's pioneering study The Artwork Caught by the Tail George Baker, 2010-09-03 A new theory of the readymade via a new reading of Picabia and a new writing of Dada The artist Francis Picabia notorious dandy bon vivant painter poet filmmaker and polemicist has emerged as the Dadaist with postmodern appeal and one of the most enigmatic forces behind the enigma that was Dada In this first book in English to focus on Picabia's work in Paris during the Dada years art historian and critic George Baker reimagines Dada through Picabia's eyes Such reimagining involves a new account of the readymade Marcel Duchamp's anti-art invention which opened fine art to mass culture and the commodity But in Picabia's hands Baker argues the Dada readymade aimed to reinvent art rather than destroy it Picabia's readymade opened art not just to the commodity but to the larger world from which the commodity stems the fluid sea of capital and money that transforms all objects and experiences in its wake The book thus tells the story of a set of newly transformed artistic practices claiming them for art history and naming them for the first time Dada Drawing Dada Painting Dada Photography Dada Abstraction Dada Cinema Dada Montage Along the way Baker describes a series of nearly forgotten objects and events from the almost lunatic range of the Paris Dada manifestations to Picabia's polemical writings from a lost work by Picabia in the form of a hole called suggestively The Young Girl to his painting Cacodylic Eye covered in autographs by luminaries ranging from Ezra Pound to Fatty Arbuckle Baker ends with readymades in prose a vast interweaving of citations and quotations that converge to create a heated conversation among Picabia André Breton Tristan Tzara James Joyce Friedrich Nietzsche Jacques Derrida Gilles Deleuze and others Art history has never looked like this before But then again Dada has never looked like art history The Absence of Work Rachel Haidu, 2010 A provocative investigation of Marcel Broodthaers's work as a reflection on the uses and abuses of language Realism after Modernism Devin Fore, 2015-01-30 The paradox at the heart of the return to realism in the interwar years as seen in work by Moholy Nagy Brecht and others The human figure made a spectacular return in visual art and literature in the 1920s Following modernism's withdrawal nonobjective painting gave way to realistic depictions of the body and experimental literary techniques were abandoned for novels with powerfully individuated characters But the celebrated return of the human in the interwar years was not as straightforward as it may seem In Realism after Modernism Devin Fore challenges the widely accepted view that this period represented a return to traditional realist representation and its humanist postulates Interwar realism he argues did not reinstate its nineteenth century predecessor but invoked realism as a strategy of mimicry that anticipates postmodernist pastiche Through close readings of a series of works by German artists and writers of the period Fore investigates five artistic devices that were central to interwar realism He analyzes Bauhaus polymath L szl Moholy Nagy s use of linear perspective three industrial novels riven by the conflict between the temporality of capital and that of labor Brecht s socialist realist plays which explore new dramaturgical principles for depicting a collective subject a memoir by Carl Einstein that oscillates between recollection and self erasure and the idiom of physiognomy in the photomontages of John Heartfield Fore s readings reveal that each of these rehumanized works in fact calls into question the very categories of the human upon which realist figuration is based Paradoxically even as the human seemed to make a triumphal return in the culture of the interwar period the definition of the human and the integrity of the body were becoming more tenuous than ever before Interwar realism did not hearken back to earlier artistic modes but posited new and unfamiliar syntaxes of aesthetic encounter revealing the emergence of a human subject quite unlike anything that had come before Looking for Bruce Conner Kevin

Out of Earshot Asma Naeem, 2020-01-07 Out of Earshot offers a reconfiguration of three of the nineteenth century's most prolific painters Winslow Homer 1836 1910 Thomas Eakins 1844 1916 and Thomas Dewing 1851 1939 Asma Naeem considers how these painters turned in ways significant for their individual artistic ventures to themes of sound and listening throughout their careers She shows how the aural dimension of these artists' pictures was an ideological product of period class gender cultural racial and technological discourses Equally important by looking at such materials as the artists' papers scientific illustrations and technological brochures Naeem argues that the work of these painters has complex and previously unconsidered connections to developments in sound and listening during a period when unprecedented innovation in the United States led to such inventions as the telegraph and phonograph and forged a technological narrative that continues to have force in the twenty-first century Naeem's unusual approach to the work of these three well-known American artists offers a transformative account of artistic response during their own era and beyond

Angeles Underlying every great city is a rich and vibrant culture that shapes the texture of life within In The Speculative City Susanna Phillips Newbury teases out how art and Los Angeles shaped one another's evolution She compellingly articulates how together they transformed the Southland establishing the foundation for its contemporary art infrastructure and explains how artists came to influence Los Angeles's burgeoning definition as the global city of the twenty first century Pairing particular works of art with specific innovations in real estate development The Speculative City reveals the connections between real estate and contemporary art as they constructed Los Angeles's present day cityscape From banal parking lots to Frank Gehry's designs for artists studios and museums Newbury examines pivotal interventions by artists and architects city officials and cultural philanthropists concluding with an examination of how in the wake of the 2008 global credit crisis contemporary art emerged as a financial asset to fuel private wealth and urban gentrification Both a history of the transformation of the Southland and a forensic examination of works of art The Speculative City is a rich complement to the California chronicles by such writers as Rebecca Solnit and Mike Davis

Book Presence in a Digital Age Kiene Brillenburg Wurth, Kári Driscoll, Jessica Pressman, 2018-06-28 Contrary to the apocalyptic pronouncements of paper media's imminent demise in the digital age there has been a veritable surge of creative reimaginings of books as bearers of the literary From typographic experiments Mark Z Danielewski's House of Leaves Steven Hall's The Raw Shark Texts to accordion books Anne Carson's Nox from cut ups Jonathan Safran Foer's Tree of Codes to collages Graham Rawle's Woman's World from erasures Mary Ruefle's A Little White Shadow to mixups Simon Morris's The Interpretations of Dreams print literature has gone through anything but a slow inevitable death In fact it has re-invented itself materially Starting from this idea of media plurality Book Presence in a Digital Age explores the resilience of print literatures book art and zines in the late age of print from a contemporary perspective while incorporating longer term views on media archeology and media change Even as it focuses on the materiality of books and literary writing in the present Book Presence also takes into consideration earlier 20th century moments of media transition developing the concepts of presence and materiality as analytical tools to perform literary criticism in a digital age Bringing together leading scholars artists and publishers Book Presence in a Digital Age offers a variety of perspectives on the past present and future of the book as medium the complex relationship of materiality to virtuality and of the analog to the digital

Photography and Collaboration Daniel Palmer, 2020-09-14 Photography and Collaboration offers a fresh perspective on existing debates in art photography and on the act of photography in general Unlike conventional accounts that celebrate individual photographers and their personal visions this book investigates the idea that authorship in photography is often more complex and multiple than we imagine involving not only various forms of partnership between photographers but also an astonishing array of relationships with photographed subjects and viewers Thematic chapters explore the increasing prevalence of collaborative approaches to photography among a broad range of international artists from conceptual practices in the 1960s to the most recent digital manifestations Positioning contemporary work in a broader historical and theoretical context the book reveals that collaboration is an overlooked but essential dimension of the medium's development and potential Out of Sight William Hackman, 2015-04-14 A social and cultural history of Los Angeles and its emerging art scene in the 1950s 60s and 70s The history of modern art typically begins in Paris and ends in New York Los Angeles was out of sight and out of mind viewed as the apotheosis of popular culture not a center for serious art Out of Sight chronicles the rapid rise fall and rebirth of L A's art scene from the emergence of a small bohemian community in the 1950s to the founding of the Museum of Contemporary Art in 1980 Included are some of the most influential artists of our time painters Edward Ruscha and Vija Celmins sculptors Ed Kienholz and Ken Price and many others A book about the city as much as it is about the art Out of Sight is a social and cultural history that illuminates the ways mid century Los Angeles shaped its emerging art scene and how that art scene helped remake the city Decoys and Disruptions Martha Rosler, 2006-02-17 The first comprehensive collection of writings by Martha Rosler considers the intersection of art and politics the operation of art systems feminist art practices and the media Decoys and Disruptions is the first comprehensive collection of writings by American artist and critic Martha Rosler Best known for her videos and photography Rosler has also been an original and influential cultural critic and theorist for over twenty five years The writings collected here address such key topics as documentary photography feminist art video government patronage of the arts censorship and the future of digitally based photographic media Taken together these thirteen essays not only show Rosler's importance as a critic but also offer an essential resource for readers interested in the issues confronting contemporary art The essays in this collection illustrate Rosler's ongoing investigation into means of exposing truth and provoking change providing a retrospective of characteristic issues in her work Mixing analysis and wit Rosler challenges many of the fundamental precepts of contemporary art practice Her influential essay In around and afterthoughts on documentary photography almost single handedly dismantled the myth of liberal documentary photography when it appeared Many of the essays in this volume have had a similarly wide ranging influence others are published here for the first time Illustrating the essays are 81 images by Rosler and other artists and photographers Formulations Andrew Witt, 2022-01-11 An investigation of mathematics as it was drawn encoded imagined and interpreted by architects on the eve of digitization in the mid twentieth century In Formulations Andrew Witt examines the visual methodological and cultural intersections between architecture and mathematics The linkages Witt explores involve not the mystic transcendence of numbers invoked throughout architectural history but rather architecture's encounters with a range of calculational systems techniques that architects inventively retooled for design Witt offers a catalog of mid twentieth century practices of mathematical drawing and calculation in design that preceded and anticipated digitization as well as an account of the formal compendia that became a cultural currency shared between modern mathematicians and modern architects Witt presents a series of extensively illustrated biographies of method episodes that chart the myriad ways in which mathematics particularly the mathematical notion of modeling and drawing was spliced into the creative practice of design. These include early drawing machines that mechanized curvature, the incorporation of geometric maquettes, theorems made flesh into the toolbox of design, the virtualization of buildings and landscapes through surveyed triangulation and photogrammetry, formal and functional topology, stereoscopic drawing, the economic implications of cubic matrices, and a strange synthesis of the technological, mineral, and biological. Crystallographic design. Trained in both architecture and mathematics, Witt uses mathematics as a lens through which to understand the relationship between architecture and a much broader set of sciences and visual techniques. Through an intercultural exchange with other disciplines, he argues, architecture adapted not only the shapes and surfaces of mathematics but also its values and epistemic ideals.
