Leaving Fishers:

Leaving Fishers Margaret Peterson Haddix, 2011-08-30 Dorry is unbearably lonely at her new high school until she meets Angela and her circle of friends. She soon discovers they all belong to a religious group the Fishers of Men. At first as Dorry becomes involved with the Fishers she is eager to fit in and flattered by her new friends' attention. But the Fishers make harsh demands of their members and Dorry must make greater and greater sacrifices. In demonstrating her devotion Dorry finds herself compromising her grades, her job, and even her family's love. How much is too much? And where will the cult's demands end? Leaving Fishers ,

Polycentric Governance and Development Michael Dean McGinnis, 1999 How communities transcend the tragedy of the commons Chiloé Anton Daughters, Ana Pitchon, 2018-07-04 This volume focuses on the ethnobiology of southern Chile's Archipelago of Chilo. Chilo presents a unique perspective on the intersection of society and biology owing to its vast natural resources, historic culture of cooperation, geographic isolation, and external resource exploitation. Contributions to this volume cover knowledge bases in both marine and terrestrial systems and how specific local knowledge types contributed to a variety of strategies including subsistence, social, ecological, resilience, resource conservation, cultural heritage preservation, economic systems, and mitigating uncertainty. This book addresses the specificities of human-environment interaction on a resource-rich island and how historic knowledge and practices can help configure adaptation to a changing social-ecological landscape Elinor Ostrom and the Bloomington School of Political Economy Daniel H. Cole, Michael D. McGinnis, 2015-09-04 In addition to winning the 2009 Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences for her path-breaking research on economic governance, especially the commons, Elinor Lin Ostrom also made important contributions to other fields of political economy and public policy. This four-volume compendium of papers written by Lin, often with coauthors, most notably her husband Vincent, along with papers by others expanding on her work, brings together the strands of her entire empirical, analytical, theoretical, and methodological research program. Together with Vincent's important theoretical contributions, they defined a distinctive Bloomington School of political-economic thought. Volume 2 examines Lin's work on the commons in which she demonstrated that in many cases local resource users can solve collective action problems through common property management regimes. It comprises papers including some that are not well known, related to and building on the findings of Governing the Commons (1990). Part I focuses on key attributes of biophysical resources and the institutions human communities have designed to govern them. Part II shows how in various social and ecological circumstances different sets of institutions facilitate or impede the long-run sustainability of resources. Part III highlights Ostrom's first major research project on water resources in Southern California. It was a topic she and her students returned to with the specific intention of gathering data more than 50 years' worth for longitudinal analyses of combined institutional and ecological change. In sum, this volume contextualizes what is at present thought to be Lin's greatest legacy to social science: the conditions under which resources can be sustainably managed over very long periods of time by the collective action of ordinary people beyond markets and states

A snapshot of the status and way forward for transforming agrifood systems in the Pacific Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2023-04-24 Snapshot of the status and way forward for transforming agrifood systems in the Pacific Identifying entry points and analysing trade offs for policymakers describes the impact of climate change on the agrifood systems of Pacific Island countries The changing temperature precipitation and sea level patterns have a significant impact on food production and trade leading to food insecurity malnutrition and non communicable diseases particularly in vulnerable groups like women and youth The report provides an overview of entry points for sustainable food system transformation such as traditional Pacific farming practices crop diversification agroforestry and community managed marine protection zones The report also emphasizes the need for socioeconomic health and environmental impact assessments to manage these trade offs and to understand the potential revenue generation from taxes on unhealthy commodities which could be used to subsidize local food production and transport

The Vanished Mage Penelope Hill, J.A. Mortimore, 2022-09-23 A vanished mage A missing diamond The game is afoot From Broderick Prince of Asconar Earl of Carlshore and Thorn Duke of Wicksborough Baron of Highbury and Warden of Dershanmoor to My Lady Parisan King s Investigator greetings It has been brought to my attention that a certain Reinwald Master Historian noted Archmagus and tutor to our court in this city of Nemithia has this day failed to report to the duties awaiting him I do ask you as my father s most loyal servant to seek the cause of this laxity and bring word of the mage to me so that my concerns as to his safety be allayed The herald delivered the message word perfect to The Lady Parisan Baroness of Orandy Knight of the Diamond Circle and Sworn Paladin to Our Lady of the Sighs Parisan s companion Foorourow Miar Raar Ramoura Prince of Ilsfacar Foo to his friends thought it a rather mundane assignment but nevertheless together they ventured to the Archmagus imposing home to seek him It turned out to be the start of an adventure to solve a mystery wrapped in an enigma bound by a conundrum and secured by a puzzle All because of a missing diamond with a solar system at its core Authors Penelope Hill and J A Mortimore have effortlessly melded a Holmesian investigative duo a richly detailed city where they encounter both nobility and seedier denizens swashbuckling action and magic that is palpable and at times awesome Cover art Penelope Hill

Crisis in the World's Fisheries James R. McGoodwin,1995-02-01 For over twenty years an alarming trend has emerged in the world s fisheries there are too many fishers chasing too few fish This book provides a broad overview and fundamental reassessment of fisheries management policies around the world Nordic fisheries in transition: Jeppe Høst,Jens Christiansen,2018-10-04 In the last decades Nordic countries have been implementing quota markets and similar instruments to manage mainly the economic performance of their fisheries Coming from a historical situation dominated by owner operated fishing units closely connected to their supporting communities market based fisheries management plays a role in promoting company organised fishing units non fisher owner ship and new social relations Introducing market mechanisms to distribute the limited marine resources is therefore not just a change in the technical regulation It is an active engagement in social change The publication reviews the Nordic experiences with market based fisheries management and discusses the implications for managers and future recruitment Escape from Memory Margaret Peterson Haddix,2012-11-13 Allowing herself to be hypnotized fifteen year old Kira reveals memories of another time and place that may eventually cost her and her mother their lives Public Utilities Reports Henry Clifford Spurr,Ellsworth Nichols,1920

Making Climate Compatible Development

Happen Fiona Nunan,2017-03-27 Making Climate Compatible Development Happen introduces readers to the concept of climate compatible development CCD through exploring what it might look like how it could be achieved in practice and identifying challenges and dilemmas raised by CCD The book brings together research that explores the assumptions underlying CCD and applies the concept in a range of geographic and sectoral settings The volume makes a significant contribution to the theorisation and evidence base for how development efforts can be made more climate resilient and with lower greenhouse gas emissions than a business as usual approach It provides critical reflections on the vision and conceptualisation of CCD exploring how to encourage it and what trade offs and challenges may be encountered The contributions discuss the feasibility of achieving CCD mechanisms that may support progress towards it challenges that may be experienced and the roles of and impacts on different stakeholder groups Following a critical reflection on the concept of

CCD the potential nature of and barriers to CCD it is examined in relation to agriculture renewable energy forestry pastoralism coastal areas and fisheries with case studies taken from countries including Ghana India Kenya Mongolia Mozambique and Peru The book provides a valuable cross sectoral and international critical reflection on the theory and practice of CCD and will be a resource for postgraduates established scholars and undergraduates from any social science discipline policymakers and practitioners studying or working on areas related to the interface between environment climate change and international development
