There's a poem in this place a poem stronger than a steel cup a poem that races through your mind faster than a modern car

a poem so calm it feels like you're sailing on the sea

a poem so wild

it sounds like a rock band

a poem that restarts but never ends

Lectures on the Philosophy of Art Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel, 2014 Hegel gave lecture series on aesthetics or the philosophy of art in various university terms but never published a book of his own on this topic His student H G Hotho compiled auditors transcripts from these separate lecture series and produced from them the three volumes on aesthetics in the standard edition of Hegel's collected works Annemarie Gethmann Siefert has now published one of these transcripts the Hotho transcript of the 1823 lecture series and accompanied it with a very extensive introductory essay treating many issues pertinent to a proper understanding of Hegel's views on art She persuasively argues that the evidence shows Hegel never finalized his views on the philosophy of art but modified them in significant ways from one lecture series to the next In addition she makes the case that Hotho's compilation not only concealed this circumstance by the harmony he created out of diverse source materials but also imposed some of his own views on aesthetics views that differ from Hegel's and that the ongoing interpretation of the aesthetics part of Hegel's philosophy has unfortunately taken to be Hegel's own This translation of the German volume which contains the first publication of the Hotho transcript and Gethmann Siefert's essay makes these important materials accessible to the English reader materials that should put the English speaking world's future understanding and interpretation of Hegel's philosophy of art on a sounder footing      Poetry as a Fine Art Charles Ebenezer Moyse, 1883      The Art of Poetry William Paton Ker, 1920      Lectures On Art, and Poems Richard Henry Dana, Washington Allston, 2018-10-26 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public To ensure a quality reading experience this work has been proofread and republished using a format that seamlessly blends the original graphical elements with text in an easy to read typeface We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant      Lectures on Poetry Joseph Trapp, 2019-12-06 In Lectures on Poetry Joseph Trapp embarks on an illuminating exploration of poetic form and composition reflecting the intricate relationship between language emotion and intellectual thought Written in the early 18th century Trapp's lectures delve into the aesthetics of verse employing a didactic style that balances scholarly rigor with accessible prose He examines various poetic techniques drawing upon classical models while also addressing contemporary works establishing a vital context for understanding the evolution of poetic expression in his era Joseph Trapp was an influential figure in the literary landscape of his time serving as a professor of poetry at the
