Objects and Persons Trenton Merricks,2003 There are no statues Or rocks Or chairs Or stars But there are microscopic objects arranged statuewise and rockwise and chairwise and starwise Moreover there are in addition to microscopic objects arranged humanwise composite human beings Or so Trenton Merricks argues The ontology of Objects and Persons is motivated in large part by causal considerations One of the central ideas is that physical objects are causally non redundant physical objects cause things that are not wholly overdetermined by their proper parts Merricks eliminates statues and other inanimate composite macrophysical objects on the grounds that they would if they existed be at best completely causally redundant Merricks defends our existence by arguing from certain facts about mental causation that we human beings cause things that are not overdetermined by our proper parts A second strand of argument for Merricks s overall ontology involves a variety of philosophical puzzles puzzles that are dealt with in illuminating and often novel ways Many other issues are addressed along the way including free will the reduction of a composite object to its parts and the ways in which identity over time can for practical purposes be a matter of convention Anyone working in metaphysics will enjoy this lucid and provocative book

Black Grief and Healing Yansie Rolston, Patrick Vernon, 2024-09-19

When Black people mourn it is not only for the passing of loved ones. As a community Black people will also be mourning the systemic inequalities, racial prejudices and oppressions we experience daily. The stories and poems in this anthology illuminate the unique ways loss affects the Black community and the effects of the widespread lack of understanding of traditional rituals and beliefs. They show us how experiences of collective loss during the pandemic, the aftermath of the Grenfell Tower fire and ongoing systemic health inequalities are experienced not just as individuals but also as part of a global community. Contributors from a range of backgrounds, professions and identities discuss the challenges of grieving under the shadow of continuing adversity, including threats of deportation. Sources of strength and healing are also explored from personal and spiritual responses to community initiatives and activism. Poignant and inspiring, these are stories we all need to read and provide us with insights into lives and losses which are all too often misunderstood and sidelined.
