Learning Process in Psychoanalytic Supervision Paul A. Dewald, 1987      The New Handbook of Counseling

Supervision L. DiAnne Borders, Lori L. Brown, 2022-04-25 The classic edition of this groundbreaking book includes a new preface from the authors discussing developments in the field since the handbook's initial publication. Chapters provide an overview of best principles and best practices in counseling supervision process one that is firmly rooted in the recent explosion of empirical research in this field. Sponsored by the Association for Counselor Education and Supervision (ACES), the book is targeted primarily at master's level practitioners who want practical how-to applications of the research literature rather than a comprehensive review of the supervision literature. It's also a useful supplement for more academic texts used for doctoral level instruction in counseling supervision.

Critical Supervision for the Human Services Lou Johnston, Carolyn Noble, Mel Gray, 2016-04-21 Practitioners in the helping professions today operate in challenging settings where budgets have been cut dramatically and progression and success are too often defined primarily by key performance indicators and strategic outcomes. Tensions arise when such pressures conflict with helping professionals' core responsibilities to provide excellent care, advocate for patients or service users, and to seek social justice. This book introduces a critical model for supervision which addresses not only the human relationships and interactions involved in work but also the financial, political, and managerial environment in which the work is carried out. It identifies how reflective practice alone is not enough to bring about transformational change and outlines how practitioners can learn in and through supervision, drawing on ideas from critical pedagogy and organisational learning. Practice examples are included to demonstrate the use of this approach within contemporary human service environments. Providing a new approach for effective supervision, this book will be of interest to practitioners, managers, researchers, academics, and students working across the human services, including health care, social services, and criminal justice.

Winer, 2013-06-17 Volume 26/27 begins with publication of The Annual's first prize essay Samuel Abrams's "How Child and Adult Analysis Inform and Misinform One Another." This is followed by a series of papers originally prepared for a symposium honoring John E. Gedo. These papers span the clinical topics of obsessiveness, sublimation, dreams, and self-analysis and analyzability and also delve into applied psychoanalysis and art history with two studies of Vincent van Gogh and another of Alberto Giacometti. These papers not only convey the impressive range of Gedo's own interests but embody the high scholarly and clinical standards that Gedo has long held both for himself and for the field in general. Section III offers original contributions to clinical analysis in the form of the consideration of the role of affective engagement in the analyst's usability, thoughtful assessment of the perils of parental projection in child analytic work, and comparison of a failed and successful supervision in the same psychoanalytic case. Section IV examines psychoanalysis and the arts with two further studies of van

Gogh an analytic reading of Nabokov's Lolita and more general examinations of psychoanalysis in relation to dramatic art and film analysis The volume closes with two provocative scholarly essays bearing on the roots of psychoanalysis the correspondence between Mabel Dodge and her analysts Smith Ely Jelliffe and A A Brill as a vehicle for reviewing the issue of extra and postanalytic contact between analyst and patient and an examination of Freud Lacan and the uneasy relationships among literature psychoanalysis and the female subject Volume 26 27 offers readers a rich harvest of contemporary insights about psychoanalysis including its history and evolution its continuing clinical refinement and its scholarly applications outside the consulting room National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1987
