Learning To Sit In The Silence A Journal Of Caretaking:

Learning to Sit in the Silence Elaine Marcus Starkman, 1993 Learning to Sit In The Silence A Journal of Caretaking is the compelling story of one family's efforts to provide love and support to an aging parent. It does not offer simple answers but is instead a catalyst for personal reflection and family discussions on the issues of aging family and self definition.

Provided by publisher Caring for Elderly Parents Deborah M. Merrill, 1997-05-30 Based on open ended interviews with adult children and children in law this book documents how plain folk from the working and middle classes manage to provide care for their frail elderly parents while simultaneously meeting the obligations of their jobs and their own immediate families. Adult children who care for elderly parents are pressured daily trying to juggle the responsibilities of work, family and caregiving. Deborah Merrill shows how plain folk as one caregiver termed herself from the working and lower middle classes manage to provide care for their frail elderly parents while simultaneously meeting the obligations of their jobs and their own immediate families. The evidence is drawn from open ended in depth interviews with adult children and children in law all of whom have worked outside of the home at some point during caregiving. Merrill examines the strategies that caregivers use to combine work and caregiving and the accommodations they make in their jobs. She also points to the pathways that lead family members to caregiving roles and how those pathways vary according to family history, gender and in law status. By focusing on class differences in caregiving and pointing to policy implications, Merrill has provided an invaluable resource for students, researchers and policymakers in social work, gerontology, family studies and social issues.

The Library Journal, 1993-10 Includes beginning Sept 15 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept May a special section. School library journal ISSN 0000 0035 called Junior libraries 1954 May 1961 Also issued separately I Can't Remember Esther Strauss Smoller, 2010-06-21 I Can't Remember is an intimate photo essay of four families and their process of coping with Alzheimer's disease, a process of coming to terms with the practical and emotional consequences of a disease that changes the entire family dynamic. Family members tell their stories of first denying that their loved one could be suffering from Alzheimer's, then dealing with the changing relationships among family members and the intensifying emotions as old family troubles are stirred up and new feelings of despair and love appear. Photographs and personal narratives are woven together to show both the unpleasant and the beautiful sides of the struggle for connection between spouses and across generations. Smoller has a gift for capturing people as they interact, whether it's arguing around the kitchen table or dancing cheek to cheek. Each family's story is different but all four families share common pain and frustration. A highway patrolman who has early onset Alzheimer's describes what it is like to have Alzheimer's. His wife tells a parallel story of life together after hearing the diagnosis. A daughter gives the following account of her mother: I thought that it would be helpful if mother spent time in my home in Colorado. Before this visit I was in denial, convinced that she suffered from depression and not Alzheimer's disease. On the plane trip to Colorado I was brought into the stark cold reality that Mom had Alzheimer's. She did not know where she was or where she was going Upon arrival she did not recognize my home although she had visited me numerous times in the past She tried sleeping in the bathtub the first night Another daughter relates that she was unaware of the onset of Alzheimer s in her mother because her mother was such a wonderful actress Eventually the memory problems were no longer confined to where things belonged in the kitchen but extended into driving off at random driving in circles in a parking lot in the middle of the night or as much as 75 miles away from home I Can t Remember gives an intimate glimpse into the hearts and minds of caregivers and patients Supportive social networks are essential for healthy life This book provides the impetus caregivers need to develop contacts that can provide support Smoller offers a glimpse of the frustration and losses faced by those who deal with Alzheimer s as well as the potential to transcend those losses even is only for a time through love and hope

Voice of Her Own Marlene A. Schiwy,1996-05-27 As writers such as Virginia Woolf Audre Lorde and Anais Nin recognized keeping a journal is a powerful tool of creative expression and self healing In A Voice of Her Own a companion for both new and longtime diarists Marlene Schiwy shows that journal writing is the ideal way to find one s individual voice an opportunity for women to explore feelings intuitions perceptions and ideas often suppressed in our society and to record the truths of their own experience Schiwy invites readers to share the journeys other women have made toward selfhood and encourages them to begin a journey of their own She weaves together passages from published and unpublished journals from works of literature psychology and women s studies with her personal insights A Voice of Her Own is a treasure chest of inspiration for every woman seeking deeper self awareness and new outlets for creativity

My Mother's Hip Luise Margolies,2004 Some 400 000 hip fractures occur every year the vast majority among the elderly all too often these fractures are associated with death or severe disability After her mother s double hip fracture Luisa Margolies immersed herself in identifying and coordinating the services and professionals needed to provide critical care for an elderly person She soon realized that the American medical system is ill prepared to deal with the long term care needs of our graying society The heart of My Mother's Hip is taken up with the author s day to day observations as her mother s condition worsened then improved only to worsen again while her father became increasingly anxious and disoriented As both a devoted daughter and a skilled anthropologist Margolies vividly renders her interactions with physicians nurses hospital workers nursing home administrators the Medicare bureaucracy home care providers and her parents In the Lessons chapter that follows each episode she discusses in a broader context the weighty decisions that adult children must make on their parents behalf and the emotional toll their responsibility takes Here she addresses the complex practical issues that commonly arise in such situations understanding the consequences of hip fracture and its treatment preparing health care proxies and advanced directives enabling elders to remain at home and the heartbreaking dilemma of prolonging life Like many adult children Margolies learned her lessons about eldercare in the midst of crises This book is intended to ease the information gathering and decision making processes for others involved in eldercare
