Learn to Weave with Anne Field Anne Field, 2014-03-15 Master the basics of weaving with internationally acclaimed weaver and spinner Anne Field Taking a project based approach and with a well founded understanding of the complexities of her craft Anne Field deftly guides learners through the essential weaving techniques Basic information on types of looms and what each is best suited for how to thread or warp the loom and getting underway is followed by step by step instructions for 11 projects including practical table runners mats and cushion covers wearable wraps scarves and a reversible jacket through to a decorative wall hanging Photographs and specially commissioned drawings throughout illustrate the loom and its working parts as well as each step in the weaving process providing valuable additional guidance There is also advice on yarn types and using computer generated weaving drafts

Learning to Weave, &c Newport Factory, 1810 Learning to Weave with Debbie Redding Debbie Redding, 1984-01-01 Learn to Weave with Anne Field Anne Field, 2014 Internationally acclaimed masterweaver Anne Field always found that people learn best when they can start making things right away So this book takes a project based approach where beginners learn techniques through actually doing a weaving project Each project is described in detail with photographs showing every step in the process as well as the finished work Learn to Weave with Anne Field focuses on shaft looms only with most projects woven on four shaft looms plus one or two eight shaft projects Table looms are also covered The first part of the book looks at choosing your loom and setting it up then the second part gets straight into the projects which include scarfs wraps table runners table mats weaving fabric for a jacket cushions wall hangings and rugs As well as traditional yarns such as wool and cotton Anne also explores the latest yarns such as Tencel and bamboo and discusses the use of computers in weaving Made in Mexico W. Warner Wood, 2008 The story behind the international trade in Oaxacan textiles Weaving Identities Carol Hendrickson, 2010-01-01 Traje the brightly colored traditional dress of the highland Maya is the principal visual expression of indigenous identity in Guatemala today Whether worn in beauty pageants made for religious celebrations or sold in tourist markets traje is more than mere cloth it plays an active role in the construction and expression of ethnicity gender education politics wealth and nationality for Maya and non Maya alike Carol Hendrickson presents an ethnography of clothing focused on the traje particularly women s traje of Tecp n Guatemala a bi ethnic community in the central highlands She covers the period from 1980 when the recent round of violence began to the early 1990s when Maya revitalization efforts emerged Using a symbolic analysis informed by political concerns Hendrickson seeks to increase the value accorded to a subject like weaving which is sometimes disparaged as craft or women s work She examines traje in three dimensions as part of the enduring images of the Indian as an indicator of change in the human life cycle and cloth production and as a medium for innovation and creative expression From this study emerges a picture of highland life in which traje and the people who wear it are bound to tradition and place yet are also actively changing and reflecting the wider world The book will be important reading for all those interested in the contemporary Maya the cultural analysis of material culture and the role of women in culture preservation and change

The Anthropology of Learning in Childhood David F. Lancy, John Bock, Suzanne Gaskins, 2010-01-15 The Anthropology of Learning in Childhood offers a large mural like portrait of childhood across time culture species and environment Even a casual reading of the literature on childhood will persuade one that learning is a very important topic that commands the attention of tens of thousands of scholars and practitioners Yet anthropological research on children has exerted relatively little influence on this community This book will change that The book demonstrates that anthropologists studying childhood can offer a description and theoretically sophisticated account of children's learning and its role in their development socialization and enculturation Further it demonstrates the particular contribution that children's learning makes to the construction of society and culture as well as the role that culture acquiring children play in human evolution Chapters have been contributed in archaeology primatology biological and cultural anthropology and cross cultural psychology
