Leaving Welfare Pb 2004:

Forced to Care Evelyn Nakano Glenn, 2012-03-05 The United States faces a growing crisis in care The number of people needing care is growing while the ranks of traditional caregivers have shrunk The status of care workers is a critical concern Evelyn Nakano Glenn offers an innovative interpretation of care labor in the United States by tracing the roots of inequity along two interconnected strands unpaid caring within the family and slavery indenture and other forms of coerced labor By bringing both into the same analytic framework she provides a convincing explanation of the devaluation of care work and the exclusion of both unpaid and paid care workers from critical rights such as minimum wage retirement benefits and workers compensation Glenn reveals how assumptions about gender family home civilization and citizenship have shaped the development of care labor and been incorporated into law and social policies She exposes the underlying systems of control that have resulted in women especially immigrants and women of color performing a disproportionate share of caring labor Finally she examines strategies for improving the situation of unpaid family caregivers and paid home healthcare workers This important and timely book illuminates the source of contradictions between American beliefs about the value and importance of caring in a good society and the exploitation and devalued status of those who actually do the caring

Bringing the Jobless into Work? Werner Eichhorst, Otto Kaufmann, Regina Konle-Seidl, 2008-09-09 Over the last decade many industrialized countries shifted from passive unemployment and welfare benefit regimes and traditional active labor market and social policies to activation strategies by making benefit receipt conditional upon accepting job offers or participation in active labor market schemes But countries differ with regard to the design of activation instruments and their implementation the definition of target groups and the effects of activation in the national labor market setting This volume provides an up to date overview of activation strategies in unemployment benefit systems and social assistance in selected European countries and the US A particular focus lies on the development of activation schemes governance and implementation as well as on the outcomes of activation in terms of labor market and social integration The volume is the first to address these issues both from a socio economic and a legal perspective
