Education and the City Gerald Grace,2013-06-17 City schools especially those attended by working class and ethnic minority pupils are the catalysts of many significant issues in educational debate and policy making They bring into sharp focus questions to do with class gender and race relations in education concepts of equality of opportunity and of social justice and controversies about the wider political economic and social context of mass schooling America Western Europe and Australia have all taken a keen interest in the problems of urban schooling The contributors to this collection of original essays all share a concern about these problems although they approach them from a wide range of theoretical and ideological positions Gerald Grace and his contributors criticise the current limitations of urban education as a field of study and they present a foundation for a more historically located and critically informed inquiry into problems conflicts and contradictions in urban schooling Part I presents contributions on theories of the urban Part II focuses upon the history of urban education both in Britain and the USA Part III discusses contemporary policy and practice with essays relating to education in inner city London and in New York City This book was first published in 1984 New Approaches to Economic Challenges Systemic Thinking for Policy Making The Potential of Systems Analysis for Addressing Global Policy Challenges in the 21st Century OECD,International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis,2020-02-27 In Systemic Thinking for Policy

Making world experts from the OECD and International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis IIASA pool their expertise and experience to propose new approaches to analysing the interconnected trends and issues shaping today's and tomorrow's world AERA, 1926 Connections Jean Hillier, Jonathan Metzger, 2017-05-15 The professional practice as well as the academic discipline of planning has been fundamentally re-invented all over the world in recent decades. In this astonishing transition, the thinking and scholarship of Patsy Healey appears as a constantly recurring influence and inspiration around the globe. The purpose of this book is to present, discuss and celebrate Healey's seminal contributions to the development of the theory and practice of spatial planning. The volume contains a selection of 13 less readily available but nevertheless key texts by Healey which have been selected to represent the trajectory of Patsy's work across the several decades of her research career. 12 original chapters by a wide range of invited contributors take the ideas in the reprinted papers as points of departure for their own work, tracing out their continuing relevance for contemporary and future directions in planning scholarship. In doing so, these chapters tease out the themes and interests in Healey's work which are still highly relevant to the planning project. The title Connections symbolises relationality, possibly the most outstanding element linking Patsy's ideas. The book showcases the wide international influence of Patsy's work and celebrates the whole trajectory of work to show how many of her ideas, for instance the role of theory in planning processes of change, networking as a mode of governance, how ideas spread and ways of thinking, planning democratically, were ahead of their time and are still of importance.
