Economic Theory and Exhaustible Resources P. S. Dasgupta, G. M. Heal, 1979 A book on the economics of exhaustible resources requires no justification A long book does The purist will find disquieting our two asset constant population model with which we analyse growth possibilities in an economy with exhaustible resources      Economic Theory and Exhaustible Resources G. Economic Theory and Exhaustible Resources Partha S. Dasgupta, Geoffrey M. Heal, 1988      Economic Theories of Exhaustible Resources T. J. C. Robinson, 2017-10-18 Originally published in 1989 Professor Robinson begins by examining natural resource classification and the nature of return in mining giving particular emphasis to different sources of long run price changes in mining and their relevance for user cost and the economic treatment for exhaustible resources He then traces the development of the economic theory of exhaustible resources from the last quarter of the eighteenth century to the first quarter of the twentieth documenting the differing views of various authors about the future availability of mineral resources and the extent of user cost involved in their exploitation He identifies a link between the perceived availability of exhaustible resources and the nature of the economic theory used to explain their exploitation This book should be of interest to students and researchers of Economic Theory and Policy      Economic Theory and Exhaustible Resources Partha Sarathi Dasgupta, Geoffrey Martin Heal, 1981      The Economic Theory of Exhaustible Resources: Some Extensions Ronald G. Cummings, 1968      Economic Theory and International Trade in Natural Exhaustible Resources Cees Withagen, 2012-12-06 This study is concerned with the economic theory of exhaustible resources My interest in exhaustible resources dates back several years when prof dr J Cramer and prof dr C von Weizsacker stimulated me to direct my research at the Faculty of Actuarial Science and Econometrics of the University of Amsterdam to the exploitation of Dutch natural gas This issue raised many theoretical problems in which I got gradually more and more involved I was lucky to find in prof dr H Weddepohl a person prepared to listen patiently and to read and criticize my numerous attempts to solve these problems The actual work on the present monograph started in 1982 at the Faculty of Philosophy and Social Sciences of the Eindhoven University of Technology in the context of the program Equilibrium and Disequilibrium of the voorwaardelijke financiering university financing system I wish to thank here my supervisors prof dr P Ruys and prof dr H Weddepohl for their comments on earlier drafts of this monograph When looking back I realize that their remarks and our discussions have led to notable improvements Also the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis Laxenburg Austria has made a valuable contribution by offering me the opportunity to spend three months in its serene academic environment in the summer of 1983 Thanks also to the energy group of I I A S A and the I I A S A foundation Netherlands      Economic Theory and Exhaustible Resources P. The Global Environment, Natural Resources, and Economic Growth Alfred Greiner, Will Semmler, 2008-07-25 Recently the public attention has turned toward the intricate interrelation between economic growth and global warming This book focuses on this nexus but broadens the framework to study the issue Growth is seen as global growth which affects the global environment and climate change Global growth in particular high economic growth rates imply a fast depletion of renewable and non renewable resources Thus this book deals with the impact of the environment and the effect of the exhaustive use of natural resources on economic growth and welfare of market economies as well as the reverse linkage It is arranged in three parts Part I of the book discusses the environment and growth There Greiner and Semmler incorporate the role of environmental pollution into modern endogenous growth models and use recently developed dynamic methods and techniques to derive appropriate abatement activities that policymakers can institute Part II looks at global climate change using these same growth models Here too the authors provide direct and transparent policy implications More specifically the authors favour tax measures such as a carbon tax over emission trading as instruments of mitigation policies Part III evaluates the use and overuse of renewable and non renewable resources in the context of a variety of dynamic models They in particular consider the cases when resources interact as an ecological system and analyze issues of ownership of resources as well as policy measures to avoid the overuse of resources In addition not only intertemporal resource allocation but also the eminent issues relating to intertemporal inequities as well as policy measures to overcome them are discussed in each part of the book
