The Merger of Customs & Excise and the Inland Revenue Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Treasury Committee, 2004 The Government has announced its intention to merge the Inland Revenue and HM Customs and Excise departments into a single department to be called HM Revenue and Customs in line with the recommendations of the O'Donnell report Financing Britain's future review of the Revenue departments Cm 6163 ISBN 0101616325 published in March 2004 The Committee's report examines the case for merger expected costs and benefits risks legislation confidentiality and powers of the new department tax policy making and ministerial accountability The Committee supports the decision in principle and looks forward to a detailed analysis of expected costs and benefits being carried out as soon as practicable and also supports the introduction of new accountability arrangements However the fact that the Executive Chairman will report to three Treasury Ministers on various aspects of the new department's work appears unnecessarily cumbersome and recommends that this should be reviewed in light of practice once the new department has been created

Trade Infrastructure and Economic Development David Olusanya Ajakaiye, T. Ademola Oyejide, 2012-03-12 There is growing consensus in the literature that trade and trade policy matter for a pro poor growth and development strategy Therefore policies that are consistent with this strategy feature increasingly in many African countries where poverty is endemic and rapid and where sustainable economic growth is viewed as the major vehicle for poverty reduction Key elements of these policies include measures that promote the expansion and diversification of production and trade in Africa This book is aimed at articulating appropriate structural and policy measures for eliminating the constraints that African countries face and thus ensuring that they can derive maximum benefits from all available market access opportunities There is evidence that most African countries face external market access barriers in their major export destinations which are generally less constraining than those confronting countries in other developing country regions Yet they have generally not been able to take full advantage of the special preferential market access opportunities available to them This suggests that improved external market access whether reciprocal or preferential would not by itself be sufficient for strengthening African export performance In this collection export supply response capacity takes external beyond the border factors as given and concentrates primarily on the internal behind the border factors that influence production and distribution costs and thus competitiveness The central working hypothesis of this book is that the inability of domestic producers and exporters in Africa to respond quickly effectively and efficiently to external market access opportunities is caused by various limitations of their internal supply capacity and that this in turn is largely responsible for the lacklustre export performance of many African countries This comprehensive study should be of interest to students and researchers of international trade and development economics as well as African studies

Regional Rules in the Global Trading System Antoni Esteve, Ørjan Eide, Kari Suominen, Robert Teh, Robert R. Teh, 2009-06-18 This book describes the rules governing regional trade agreements providing new insights into the interplay between regional and multilateral trade rules

Restructuring Trade Agreements Juscelino F. Colares, Mustafa T. Durmuş, 2021-07-27 To avoid trade bargain erosion countries involved in large scale bilateral or regional trade arrangements must reconcile preserving close economic ties and supply chains with the need to dynamically adjust to new opportunities with other partners Using the growing deterioration of the European Union Turkey Customs Union as an illustration to a new model of trade agreement restructuring this well researched and deeply insightful book outlines and demonstrates how this trade arrangement can be successfully renegotiated thus providing expert practical guidance in a crucial area of trade law and policy that rarely receives the attention it deserves The book's novel framework features a clearly articulated legal foundation a transactional deployment strategy and a sequential negotiating approach applicable to bilateral and regional trade arrangements whose original terms

no longer reflect the changed capabilities and interests of at least one of its parties The authors respond in detail to questions such as When should a country pursue bargain rebalancing How should trade diplomats pursue renegotiation and or new partnerships legally and transactionally Given that free trade agreements keep each country s trade sovereignty mostly intact under which circumstances should a country ever consider entering a customs union How may free trade agreements help countries address trade imbalances while enhancing supply chain resilience What are the limits to WTO litigation as an effective market barrier opening tool How should trade agreement restructuring be deployed as a path to further trade liberalization In depth attention is paid to identifying and investigating trade arrangements that are ripe for renegotiation and assessing sources of domestic and external support for or against renegotiating such bargains This book s model of international trade agreement restructuring fits well with emerging thinking on greater trade diversification and supply chain resilience The authors provide a clear actionable approach for considering and conducting the renegotiation of trade deals For these reasons this book will be welcomed by trade lawyers supply chain executives economists government officials and academics who are grappling with rising economic frictions in the fault lines of national sovereignty economic interdependence and the limits of current trade arrangements The Interpreter's Resource Mary Phelan,2001-06-12 The Interpreter s Resource provides a comprehensive overview of interpreting at the start of the twenty first century As well as explaining the different types of interpreting and their uses it contains a number of Codes of Ethics information on Community Interpreting around the world and detailed coverage of international organisations which employ interpreters

China's Social Development and Policy Litao Zhao,2013-07-18 In China social development has fallen far behind economic development This book looks at why this is the case and poses the question of whether the conditions structures and institutions that have locked China into unbalanced development are changing to pave the way for the next stage of development Based on an empirical examination of ideological structural and institutional transformations that have shaped China s development experiences the book analyses China s reform and development in the social domain including pension healthcare public housing ethnic policy and public expenditure on social programs The book moves beyond descriptive analyses to understand the role of broader changes in shaping and redefining the pattern of development in China World Customs, Trade Profiles and Regulations Handbook Volume 1 Basic Profiles and Regulations by Country IBP USA,
