Economic Reform Democracy A Journal Of Democracy Bks:

Post-communist Regime Change Jørgen Møller, 2009-06-02 This book seeks to explain the advent of this post communist tripartition and elucidate and explain the political pathways of 24 post communist countries in the period 1990 2005

Cutting the Gordian Knot of Economic Reform Leonardo Baccini, Johannes Urpelainen, 2015 During the past two decades governments across the developing world have implemented many liberal economic reforms Cutting the Gordian Knot of Economic Reform shows that international institutions formal agreements that govern policy formation in member states made possible some of the most important reforms in developing countries It takes a comparative look at developing countries that have engaged in preferential trading agreements with the United States and European Union to develop a theory of when and how leaders enter into international institutions to effect economic reform Civil Society in

Democratization Peter Burnell, Peter Calvert, 2004-03 Featuring a broad range of perspectives on the democratic process this collection of essays explores the development of civil society and how civil societies manage democratic change around the world Present at the Transition Oleh Havrylyshyn, 2020-05-20 This primary source account of post communist regions examines how history leadership and foreign influence affected the process of economic transitions Civil Society Robert Fine, Shirin Rai, 2014-03-05 This volume examines the idea of civil society in its historical and contemporary dimensions It provides a comprehensive and critical mapping of the idea the burden of expectation that it has carried and the intellectual and political dimensions that surround it Power and Politics After Financial Crises J. Robertson, 2007-11-20 Foreign exploitation of economic crises in the developing world has been a central claim of neoliberal critics This important and recurring international theme is the subject of closer scrutiny in this new collection where contributors offer competing interpretations of the interaction between international and domestic forces after crises Advanced Introduction to Law and Development Mariana M. Prado, Michael J. Trebilcock, 2021-05-28 In this thoroughly revised and updated second edition Mariana Mota Prado and Michael J Trebilcock offer a succinct and readable introduction to the main concepts and debates in the field of law and development They examine the role of legal systems and institutions investigate perceptions around what laws and legal arrangements encourage and facilitate development and probe the issues arising in both private law and public law as well as in international economic relations Written with the insight of two top experts in the field this Advanced Introduction covers the most recent trends in law and development research and highlights areas that remain underexplored

Comparative Regionalism Etel Solingen, 2014-07-11 This book comprises key essays on comparative regionalism and more broadly on regional conflict and cooperation by Professor Etel Solingen The study of regionalism a subject pioneered by Solingen in the 1990s is now an established field of inquiry with a large community of scholars and practitioners around the world This book provides a window into an evolving conceptual framework for comparing regional arrangements with a special emphasis on non European regions Framed by a comprehensive previously unpublished introduction the chapters provide a broad spectrum of analysis on domestic political economy democracy regional institutions and global forces as they shape different regional outcomes and trajectories in economics and security Themes as different as the regional effects of democratization in the Middle East and East Asia the rise of China Euro Mediterranean relations and regional nuclear trajectories are traced back to a common analytical core The nature of domestic ruling coalitions serves as the pivotal analytical anchor explaining the effects of globalization and economic reform on different regional arrangements This collection provides a focal point that brings this work together in a new light and will be of much interest to students of regionalism international relations theory international and comparative political economy international history and grand strategy

The Politics of the Postcommunist World Stephen White, Daniel Nelson, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2001 This series brings together the most significant journal articles to appear in the field of comparative politics since the 1970s The aim is to render accessible to teachers researchers and students an extensive range of essays as a basis for understanding established terrain and new ground

Changing Course in Latin America Kenneth M. Roberts, 2015-01-12 This book explores the impact of economic crises and free market reforms on party systems and political representation in contemporary Latin America It explains why some patterns of market reform align and stabilize party systems whereas other patterns of reform leave party systems vulnerable to widespread social protest and electoral instability In contrast to other works on the topic this book accounts for both the institutionalization and the breakdown of party systems and it explains why Latin America turned to the Left politically in the aftermath of the market reform process Ultimately it explains why this left turn was more radical in some countries than others and why it had such varied effects on national party systems

The Origins of Liberty Paul W. Drake, Mathew D. McCubbins, 2021-03-09 Why would sovereigns ever grant political or economic liberty to their subjects Under what conditions would rational rulers who possess ultimate authority and who seek to maximize power and wealth ever give up any of that authority This book draws on a wide array of empirical and theoretical approaches to answer these questions investigating both why sovereign powers might liberalize and when The contributors to this volume argue that liberalization or democratization will only occur when those in power calculate that the expected benefits to them will exceed the costs More specifically rulers take five main concerns into account in their cost benefit analysis as they decide to reinforce or relax controls personal welfare personal power internal order external order and control over policy particularly economic policy The book shows that repression is a tempting first option for rulers seeking to maximize their benefits but that liberalization becomes more attractive as a means of minimizing losses when it becomes increasingly certain that the alternatives are chaos deposition or even death Chapters cover topics as diverse as the politics of seventeenth century England and of twentieth century Chile why so many countries have liberalized in recent decades and why even democratic governments see a need to reduce state power The book makes use of formal modeling statistical analysis and traditional historical analysis The contributors are Paul Drake Stephen Haggard William Heller Robert Kaufman

Phil Keefer Brian Loveman Mathew McCubbins Douglass North Ronald Rogowski and Barry Weingast Political Institutions and Development Natalia E. Dinello, Vladimir Popov, 2007-01-01 Political Institutions and Development challenges the cliché that good institutions are essential for sustainable socio economic development by focusing on the need to adapt potential solutions to local conditions Reassessing the Paradigm of Economics Valeria Mosini, 2011-07-28 When President Reagan and Prime Minister Thatcher adopted the neoliberal doctrine as the paradigm of economics there was no evidence that the move would have been successful but thirty years on the recurrent crises that culminated in 2008 suggest a serious mismatch between expectations and outcomes a re examination of the paradigm is in order This book focuses on Milton Friedman's formulation of the neoliberal doctrine and analyses two aspects that were essential to turning it into a fully fledged paradigm the attribution of scientific status to positive economics which led to informing public policies on the requirements of the market and the characterisation of economic freedom as capable of promoting political freedom which led to identifying free market with democracy The book exposes Friedman's methodological argument for attributing positive economics scientific status as a failure and his characterisation of economic freedom as a delusion it identifies in the emergence as the mainstream in economics of the neoclassical synthesis which borrowed from Walras the mathematical treatment of equilibrium but not the ethical and social framework in which it was inscribed a development that facilitated the transition from the Keynesian to the neoliberal paradigm Dr Mosini shows that the gigantic bail outs carried out courtesy of the public purse which institutionalised the practice of collectivising losses while keeping profits private were no accident but the consequence of the rethinking of the function of lender of last resort according to Friedman's conception of rationality in relation to risk combined with his interpretation of the 1930s recession The book concludes that the neoliberal paradigm has served the interests of the economically powerful social strata it was designed to benefit extremely well but that the deep and deepening injustice it has brought about calls for a complete rethinking of the paradigm of economics according to ethical principles respectful of human values This book should be of interest to students and researchers of Political Economy Economic Methodology History of Economic Thought and Philosophy Retiring the State Raúl L. Madrid, 2003 In the 1990s numerous Latin American nations privatized their public pension systems These reforms dramatically transformed the way these countries provide retirement income and they provoked widespread protests from workers and pensioners alike Retiring the State represents the first book length study of the origins of this surprising trend Drawing on original field research including interviews with key policymakers Madrid argues that the recent reforms were driven not by social policy but by macroeconomic concerns Countries facing growing financial pressures chose to privatize their pension systems largely to boost their domestic savings rates and reduce public pension spending in the long run The author explores his arguments through detailed case studies of pension reform in Argentina Brazil and Mexico a survey of social security privatization efforts in East Europe and Latin America as a whole and a quantitative analysis of pension privatization worldwide Asia-Pacific Economies Iyanatul Islam, Anis Chowdhury, 1997 First Published in 1997 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Democratizing or Reconfiguring Predatory Autocracy? Myths and Realities in Africa Today Tatah Mentan, 2009 The celebrations that heralded democratic change in the 1990s in Africa have gradually faded into muffled cries of anger and attendant violence of despair Almost everywhere on the continent so called democratic leaders are openly subverting the people's will and disregarding national constitutions Ordinary people find themselves removed from the centres of power marginalized and reduced to helpless and hopeless onlookers as political leaders their friends and families noisily enjoy the spoils of impunity From Nigeria to Zimbabwe Kenya to the Ivory Coast and Uganda to Cameroon the writing is on the wall The experiment with democracy has blatantly taken a dangerous nosedive There is a crisis of honest committed and democratic leadership in spite of the advancements in education and intellectualism of the populace and despite the influences of globalization and new understandings of governance In this brief volume Tatah Mentan makes an incisive diagnosis of how the security forces brutally crush protests against bids to stay in power through corrupt electoral practices as well as how opposition voices have been hunted down and crushed or intimidated into graveyard silence This is a clarion call for Africans to embrace the values of People Power in synch with the dictates of the current global imperatives There is no place for visionless leadership Africans need to raise their voices to recapture their freedom State, 1993 Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions John James Quinn, 2015-12-30 Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions When Elephants Fight describes the emergence and nature of the prevailing African political and economic institutions in two periods In the first most countries adopted political and economic institutions that funneled significant levels of political and economic power to the political elites usually through one or no party military political systems inward oriented development policies and or state led and often state owned industrialization In the second period most countries adopted institutions that diluted the overarching political and economic power of ruling elites through the adoption of de jure multiparty electoral systems more outward oriented trade policies and the privatization of many state owned or controlled sectors though significant political and economic power remains in their hands The choices made in each period were consistent with prevailing ideas on governance and development the self interests of political elites and the perceived availability of support or autonomy vis vis domestic regional and international sources of power at the time This book illustrates how these two region wide shifts in prevailing political and economic institutions and practices of Africa can be linked to two prior global geopolitical realignments the end of WWII with the ensuing American and Soviet led bipolar system and the end of the Cold War with American primacy Each period featured changed or newly empowered international and regional leaders with competing national priorities within new intellectual and geopolitical climates altering the opportunities and constraints for African leaders in instituting or maintaining particular political and economic institutions or practices The economic and political institutions of Africa that emerged did so as a result of a complex mix of contending domestic regional and international forces material and intellectual all which were themselves greatly transformed in the wake of these two global geopolitical realignments

People Power in an Era of Global Crisis Barry K. Gills, Kevin Gray, 2013-10-31 A quarter of a century has now passed since the historic popular uprising that led to the overthrow of the Ferdinand Marcos dictatorship in the Philippines The mass movement known as the People Power Revolution was not only pivotal to the democratic transition within the Philippines but it also became an inspiration for subsequent mass movements leading to further democratic transitions throughout the Third World and in the former Communist bloc in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union However the neoliberal economic policies subsequently pursued by newly democratic governments throughout the Third World led all but the most celebratory observers to note the constrained and limited nature of these formal political transitions This volume poses the question of the extent to which people power has been able to play an active role resisting neoliberalism and deepen substantive democracy and social justice Through a series of case studies of the regions and individual countries of Asia Africa Latin America and Eastern Europe the contributions in the volume provide a new set of original and in depth critical assessments of the nature of the longer term impact of the democratic transitions commencing in the 1980s and continuing until the present and questioning their impact and potential influence on human dignity freedom justice and self determination and thus opening new avenues of enquiry into the future of democracy This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

Egypt's Political Economy Nadia Ramsis Farah, 2009-03-01 This new study deals with the unfolding of the great political and economic transformations of the modern Egyptian state from the appointment of Muhammad Ali as governor of Egypt in 1805 to the era of President Mubarak with a special focus on the period 1990 2005 which witnessed a rigorous implementation of structural adjustment policies the acceleration of economic privatization and liberalization the emergence of a group of neoliberals within the ruling National Democratic Party and the consolidation of business interests and representation in parliament and government The author asserts that the modernization process in Egypt over the last two centuries has been determined by power relations and their articulation and so she investigates in depth the impact of power relations on development strategies on political liberalization on politicized Islam as a hegemonic ideology adopted by the state since the beginning of the 1970s and on gender relations in development
