First Generation An Autobiography:

Multicultural Autobiography James Robert Payne, 1992 Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time General questions of the literary as e g the relation between literature and reality truth and fiction the dependency of author narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs diaries self portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre this three volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition special emphasis is placed on the modes of self representation in non Western cultures and on inter and transcultural perspectives of the genre The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross references The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies students as well as non academic readers First Generation Mary Tamm, 2009 American Autobiography Paul John Eakin, 1991 The first four essays review the major historical periods of American autobiography placing the classic texts of American autobiographical literature from Captain John Smith to Malcolm X in the illuminating context of lesser known contemporary narratives Daniel B Shea writes on colonial America Lawrence Buell on the American Renaissance Susanna Egan on the years after the Civil War and Albert E Stone on the twentieth century The second part of American Autobiography shows the diversity of voices forms audiences and modes of identity in the literature of American autobiography Provocative essays by William Boelhower and Sau Ling Cynthia Wong on immigrant autobiography discuss the changes in the sense of self that occur when strangers come to a strange land Arnold Krupat writes about how American Indians conceptualize the self and about the relationship between oral and written discourse William L Andrews evaluates the strong body of critical theory that has grown up around African American autobiography showing how both the genre and its criticism have responded to contemporary historical pressures Carol Holly explores the model of personal identity that underlies nineteenth century women s autobiographies and Blanche Gelfant examines the narrative and political strategies of Emma Goldman s autobiography especially her use of popular romance and melodrama The last essay offers a more personal perspective on contemporary autobiography a dialogue between Robert and Jane Coles about how they developed their method of eliciting first person oral narratives for their famous Children of Crisis and Women of Crisis series These essays raise theoretical issues that are examined in Paul John Eakin s incisive introduction How do we define a literary genre of protean shape and perplexing cultural multiplicity How do we approach the special problems created by documents that are both historical and literary texts ones that pose difficult questions about truth and representation Most important how is the canon of American autobiography to be constructed and how is its history to be written Tracing that critical history Eakin explains how changing ideas about the mainstream and the marginal have revitalized our retrospective view of American autobiography and opened up new and exciting prospects for today's reader Memoir of Gen'l William Wallace Grout and Autobiography of Josiah Grout, 1919

Translation of Autobiography Susan XU Yun, 2017-11-15 This book presents an interdisciplinary study that straddles four academic fields namely autobiography stylistics narratology and translation studies It shows that foregrounding is manifested in the language of autobiography alerting readers to an authorial tone with certain ideological affiliations In refuting the presumed conflation between the author narrator and character in autobiography the study emphasizes readers role in constructing an implied author The issues of implied translator assumed translation and rewriting are explored through a comparative analysis of the English and Chinese autobiographies by Singapore's founding father Lee Kuan Yew The analysis identifies different foregrounding practices and attributes these differences to an implied translator Further evidence derived from narrative communicative situations in the two autobiographies underscores divergent personae of the implied authors The study aims to establish a deeper understanding of how translation and rewriting have a far reaching impact on the self and world making functions of autobiography This book will be of special interest to scholars and students of linguistics literature translation and political science Graphic Subjects Michael A. Chaney, 2011-03-01 Some of the most noteworthy graphic novels and comic books of recent years have been entirely autobiographical In Graphic Subjects Michael A Chaney brings together a lively mix of scholars to examine the use of autobiography within graphic novels including such critically acclaimed examples as Art Spiegelman's Maus David Beauchard's Epileptic Marjane Satrapi's Persepolis Alan Moore's Watchmen and Gene Yang's American Born Chinese These essays accompanied by visual examples illuminate the new horizons that illustrated autobiographical narrative creates The volume insightfully highlights the ways that graphic novelists and literary cartoonists have incorporated history experience and life stories into their work The result is a challenging and innovative collection that reveals the combined power of autobiography and the graphic novel

Women, Autobiography, Theory Sidonie Smith, Julia Watson, 1998 The first comprehensive guide to the burgeoning field of women's autobiography Essays from 39 prominent critics and writers explore narratives across the centuries and from around the globe A list of more than 200 women's autobiographies and a comprehensive bibliography provide invaluable information for scholars teachers and readers Native American Autobiography Arnold Krupat, 1994 Publisher description Native American Autobiography is the first collection to bring together the major autobiographical narratives by Native American people from the earliest documents that exist to the present _ The thirty narratives included here cover a range of tribes and cultural areas over a span of more than 200 years From the earliest known written memoir a 1768 narrative by the Reverend Samson Occom a Mohegan reproduced as a chapter here to recent reminiscences by such prominent writers as N Scott Momaday and Gerald Vizenor the book covers a broad range of Native American experience Editor Arnold Krupat provides a general introduction a historical introduction to each of the seven sections extensive headnotes for each selection and suggestions for further reading making this an ideal resource for courses in American literature history anthropology and Native American studies General readers too will find a wealth of fascinating material in the life stories of these Native American men and women

Women and Autobiography Martine Watson Brownley, Allison B. Kimmich, 1999 An overview of women's autobiography providing historical background and contemporary criticism along with selections from a range of autobiographies by women It seeks to provide a broad introduction to the major questions dominating autobiographical scholarship today

Autobiography as Indigenous Intellectual Tradition Deanna Reder, 2022-05-03 Autobiography as Indigenous Intellectual Tradition critiques ways of approaching Indigenous texts that are informed by the Western academic tradition and offers instead a new way of theorizing Indigenous literature based on the Indigenous practice of life writing Since the 1970s non Indigenous scholars have perpetrated the notion that Indigenous people were disinclined to talk about their lives and underscored the assumption that autobiography is a European invention Deanna Reder challenges such long held assumptions by calling attention to longstanding autobiographical practices that are engrained in Cree and M'tis or n hiyawak culture and examining a series of examples of Indigenous life writing Blended with family stories and drawing on original historical research Reder examines censored and suppressed writing by n hiyawak intellectuals such as Maria Campbell Edward Ahenakew and James Brady Grounded in n hiyawak ontologies and epistemologies that consider life stories to be an intergenerational conduit to pass on knowledge about a shared world this study encourages a widespread re evaluation of past and present engagement with Indigenous storytelling forms across scholarly disciplines

Girls, Autobiography, Media Emma Maguire, 2018-04-05 This book investigates how girls automedial selves are constituted and consumed as literary or media products in a digital landscape dominated by intimate though quite public modes of self disclosure and pervaded by broader practices of self branding In thinking about how girlhood as a potentially vulnerable subject position circulates as a commodity Girls Autobiography Media argues that by using digital technologies to write themselves into culture girls and young women are staking a claim on public space and asserting the right to create and distribute their own representations of girlhood Their texts in the form of blogs vlogs photo sharing platforms online diaries and fangirl identities show how they navigate the sometimes hostile conditions of online spaces in order to become narrators of their own lives and stories By examining case studies across different digital forms of self presentation by girls and young women this book considers how mediation and autobiographical practices are deeply interlinked and it highlights the significant contribution girls and young women have made to contemporary digital forms of life narrative

Form and Transformation in Asian American Literature Xiaojing Zhou, Samina Najmi, 2011-07-01 This critical anthology draws on

current theoretical movements to examine the breadth of Asian American literature from the earliest to the most recent writers Covering fiction essays poetry short stories ethnography and autobiography Form and Transformation in Asian American Literature advances the development of a theoretically informed historically and culturally specific methodology for studying this increasingly complex field The essays in this anthology probe into hotly debated issues as well as understudied topics including the relations between Asian American and other minority American writings The Highest Reality | A Treatise on Religion, Truth, Morality and The Purpose of Life Paritosh M. Chakrabarti, 2024-04-23 How does one's upbringing determine one's ethical and religious views Are humans unique in this universe Is God dead as Nietzsche declared Is there any truth beyond scientific facts How different religions relate to one another What are the truths and falsehoods in various religions Are communism and nihilism more in sync with reality than religion How should we prioritise between self interest and sacrifice What should be our individual role to seek global peace Is there a higher purpose in life than just living The author a scientist scholar innovator entrepreneur and philanthropist discusses these questions in a well argued treatise sprinkled with memorable episodes and anecdotes Autobiography of an Archive Nicholas B. Dirks, 2015-02-10 The decades between 1970 and the end of the twentieth century saw the disciplines of history and anthropology draw closer together with historians paying more attention to social and cultural factors and the significance of everyday experience in the study of the past The people rather than elite actors became the focus of their inquiry and anthropological insights into agriculture kinship ritual and folk customs enabled historians to develop richer and more representative narratives The intersection of these two disciplines also helped scholars reframe the legacies of empire and the roots of colonial knowledge In this collection of essays and lectures history's turn from high politics and formal intellectual history toward ordinary lives and cultural rhythms is vividly reflected in a scholar's intellectual journey to India Nicholas B Dirks recounts his early study of kingship in India the rise of the caste system the emergence of English imperial interest in controlling markets and India's political regimes and the development of a crisis in sovereignty that led to an extraordinary nationalist struggle He shares his personal encounters with archives that provided the sources and boundaries for research on these subjects ultimately revealing the limits of colonial knowledge and single disciplinary perspectives Drawing parallels to the way American universities balance the liberal arts and specialized research today Dirks who has occupied senior administrative positions and now leads the University of California at Berkeley encourages scholars to continue to apply multiple approaches to their research and build a more global and ethical archive Postmodern Indian English Literature Bijay Kumar Das, 2003 Postmodernism In Indian English Literature Refers To The Works Of Literature After 1980 If Raja Rao S Kanthapura 1938 Marks Modernism Salman Rushdie S Midnight S Children 1981 And Nissim Ezekiel S Latter Day Psalms 1982 Mark Postmodernism In Indian English Literature In This Book Dr Bijay Kumar Das Has Analysed Postmodern Indian English Literature Genre Wise Poetry Novel Short Story Drama And Autobiography This Is A

Wergland,2017-07-05 In the late eighteenth century a small Shaker community travelled to America under the leadership of Mother Ann Lee The American communities they founded were based on ideals of pacifism celibacy and gender equality The texts included in this edition come from first hand accounts of life in the Shaker communities during the nineteenth century Dalit Autobiography: A Critical Study Dipak Giri,2025-03-01 Dalit Autobiography is a distinctive literary form in the sense that it shifts from personal I to communal we This shifting from individual to communal differentiates such autobiographies from mainstream autobiographies where the autobiography mainly centers round personal experiences of the autobiographer concerned On the other hand Dalit Autobiographies deal not only with the individual writer but also with the community he or she belongs to Transformation of individualistic I into communal we makes such autobiographies completely distinctive literary form Such autobiography reflects not only Dalit life and suffering but also their voice of protest and resistance In this sense Dalit autobiographers are activists and writers as well Among Dalit autobiographers irrespective of gender there are innumerable autobiographies written by male and female Dalit writers The present book is my little endeavour to articulate the voice of Dalit autobiographers which is often neglected by the mainstream socio cultural life
