Ishchu Cheloveka:

Ishchu cheloveka Aleksandra Zakhavi, 1976 Federal Register ,1997-12-17 Sergei Dovlatov and His Narrative
Masks Jekaterina Young, 2009-07-17 This book provides an introduction to Sergei Dovlatov 1941 1990 that is closely attentive to the details of his life and work their place in the history of Soviet society and literature and of migr culture during this turbulent period A journalist newspaper editor and prose writer Dovlatov is most highly regarded for his short stories which draw heavily on his experiences in Russia before 1979 when he was forced out of the country During compulsory military service before becoming a journalist he worked briefly as a prison camp guard an experience that gave him a unique perspective on the operations of the Soviet state After moving to New York Dovlatov published works in the New Yorker and elsewhere that earned him considerable renown in America and back in Russia Young s book presents a valuable critical overview of the prose of a late twentieth century master within the context of the prevailing Russian and larger literary culture Bicultural Education in the North Erich Kasten, 1998 Soviet Film ,1974 Australian Slavonic and East European Studies ,2001 A History of Women's Writing in Russia Adele Marie Barker, Jehanne M. Gheith, 2002-07-11 A History of Women s Writing in Russia offers a comprehensive account of the lives and works of Russia s women writers Based on original and archival research this volume forces a re examination of many of the traditionally held assumptions about Russian literature and women s role in the tradition In setting about the process of reintegrating women writers into the history of Russian literature contributors have addressed the often surprising contexts within which women s writing has been produced Chapters reveal a flourishing literary tradition where none was thought to exist They redraw the map defining Russia s literary periods they look at how Russia s women writers articulated their own experience and they reassess their relationship to the dominant male tradition The volume is supported by extensive reference features including a bibliography and guide to writers and their works "The" Modern Encyclopedia of Russian and Soviet Literatures Harry Butler Weber, George J. Gutsche, 1981 Free Voices in Russian Literature, 1950s-1980s Bosiljka Stevanovic, Vladimir Wertsman, 1987 Время и мы ,1986 USSR Facts & Figures Annual ,1978 Valentin Rasputin and Soviet Russian Village Prose David C. Gillespie, DAVID BROWN BOOK CO, 1986 Spirit of the Totem Irena Maryniak, 1995 The book presents an original interdisciplinary analysis of religious and mythological perspectives in fiction published in the Soviet Union between the mid 1960s and the mid 1980s In doing so it points to ways in which anthropological theory can be used as a framework for literary criticism It also shows how in the two decades before perestroika religion and mythology served as alternative models for the intellectual and political reorientation of Soviet society Selected works are explored with reference to a formative debate in anthropological studies on the nature and development of religion based on Edward B Tylor s theory of animism and Emile Durkheim s theory of totemism It is shown how the animist totemist dichotomy highlighted by the controversy is reflected in Russian religious thought before 1917 and particularly in the literature of the Soviet era Within the framework of this debate a selection of novels is discussed in the light of a range of mythological and religious systems Attention is drawn to the connection between Valentin Rasputin's religious vision and traditional Siberian beliefs particularly those of the Buryat The Georgian novel Data Tutashkia by Chabua Amiredzhibi is analysed with reference to Zoroastrian thought Daniil Granin's Kartina The Picture serves as an example of a work where in accordance with Tylor's theory notions of art and beauty take on an animist quality It is argued that early fiction by Chingiz Aitmatov reveals a tension between animist perceptions and the totemic understanding of religion and mirrors aspects of pre Islamic Central Asian religious tradition The writing of Vladimir Tendriakov offers an example of a vision divided between an awareness of Christian dilemmas and loyalty to Marxist Leninist sociological models The study also shows how Durkheim's theory of religion as an expression of a group's awareness of its identity can be related to ideas put forward by Russian nationalist writers Iurii Bondarev Sergei Alekseev and Vasilii Belov It suggests that examples of fiction by Petr Proskurin and later works by Chingiz Aitmatov and Vladimir Tendriakov indicate revived interest in the God building theory of Maksim Gor'kii and Anatolii Lunacharskii In conclusion the book argues that subtextual religious and mythological narratives in Soviet fiction published in the years between the fall of Khrushchev and the Millennium of Christianity in Rus provided a model for new literary discourse under perestroika and for subsequent political transformations
