and climate change While the work of French philosopher Jacques Derrida 1930 2004 with its relentless interrogation of the anthropocentric metaphysics of presence has already proven highly influential in posthumanism and animal studies the present volume drawing on published and unpublished work by Derrida and others builds on these insights to address the most pressing environmental issues of our time The volume brings together fifteen prominent scholars from a wide variety of related fields including eco phenomenology eco hermeneutics new materialism posthumanism animal studies vegetal philosophy science and technology studies environmental humanities eco criticism earth art and aesthetics and analytic environmental ethics Overall eco deconstruction offers an account of differential relationality explored in a non totalizable ecological context that addresses our times in both an ontological and a normative register The book is divided into four sections Diagnosing the Present suggests that our times are marked by a facile flattened out understanding of time and thus in need of deconstructive dispositions Ecologies mobilizes the spectral ontology of deconstruction to argue for an originary environmentality the constitutive ecological embeddedness of mortal life Nuclear and Other Biodegradabilities examines remains including such by products and disintegrations of human culture as nuclear waste environmental destruction and species extinctions Environmental Ethics seeks to uncover a demand for justice including human responsibility for suffering beings that emerges precisely as a response to original differentiation and the mortality and unmasterable alterity it installs in living beings As such the book will resonate with readers not only of philosophy but across the humanities and the social and natural sciences A Child of the Sea; and life among the Mormons Elizabeth Whitney Williams, 2018-04-05

Poetry and Islands Rajeev S. Patke, 2018-03-01 In all cultures and times the poetic imagination has fed on the natural attributes of islands An island is either a destination or a home or a place of exile and imprisonment or simply a place to sojourn It is an ideal vehicle for journeys treated as allegories or for acts of finding that turn into acts of losing or the reverse transformation An island is not a continent yet it can be an archipelago An island is both a place in itself and a pretext for imaginings that need a local habitation and a name It can give relief and pleasure or it can frustrate isolate and negate Above all it both invites and resists or contains or constrains the imagination Poetry and Islands explores how islands become repositories of human longings and desires a locus for some of our deepest fears and fantasies It balances historical and geographical reference with a selective approach to poems and poets in English and in translations into English The study of particular poems in which islands figure in exemplary ways is balanced by a more detailed discussion of the poets who have played a major role in shaping human responses to islands on a global scale
