A Hundred Osamas Sherifa Zuhur, 2005 If America's pursuit of a Global War on Terror is strategically and politically well grounded then why are Islamist insurgencies and extremist movements continuing to operate generating parallel cells that terrify the world with violent attacks from Iraq to London While analysts debate the intensity and longevity of the latest round of terrorist attacks we would do well to consider whether U.S. long term goals in the war on terror namely diminishing their presence and denying terrorists the ability to operate while also altering conditions that terrorists exploit are being met If we are not pursuing the proper strategy or its implementation is not decreasing support for terrorists then we should adapt accordingly This monograph addresses these questions and examines the efficacy of proposed or operative strategies in light of the evolution of Islamist jihadist leaders' ideas and foot soldier Jihadist strategy has emerged in a polymorphous pattern over the last 30 years but many Americans only became aware of the intensity of this problem post September 11 2001 9/11 and through observation of the 2003/05 insurgency in Iraq The author proposes that extremist jihadist Islamist groups are not identical to any other terrorist group Islamist discourse and extremist discourse within it must be clearly understood Given the fiscal challenges of the Global War on Terror the fact that its coordination may be at odds with great power competition and certainly contests the interests of smaller states like Iran why are we aiming at eradication rather than containment and is eradication possible Differentiating the true Islam from the false and destructive aims of such groups is an important response Each region based administration has so crafted its anti terrorist rhetoric and Muslims in general are not willing to view their religion as a destructive anachronistic entity so this

unfortunately difficult task of ideological differentiation is an acceptable theme But it is insufficient as a strategy because Islamist insurgencies have arisen in the context of a much broader polychromatic religious and political Islamic awakening that shows no signs of receding That broader movement informs Muslims sentiment today from Indonesia to Mauritania and Nigeria to London Official statements will not diminish recruitment deeds not words are needed Finally eradication may be impossible but containment is philosophically unattractive A combination of eradication denial and co optation as we have seen in the Muslim world thus far probably makes sense Certain assumptions that underlie U S strategies of denying and diminishing the terrorism of Islamist extremists therefore need to be reconsidered

An Enchanted Modern Lara Deeb, 2011-06-27 Based on two years of ethnographic research in the southern suburbs of Beirut An Enchanted Modern demonstrates that Islam and modernity are not merely compatible but actually go hand in hand This eloquent ethnographic portrayal of an Islamic community articulates how an alternative modernity and specifically an enchanted modernity may be constructed by Shi I Muslims who consider themselves simultaneously deeply modern cosmopolitan and pious In this depiction of a Shi I Muslim community in Beirut Deeb examines the ways that individual and collective expressions and understandings of piety have been debated contested and reformulated Women take center stage in this process a result of their visibility both within the community and in relation to Western ideas that link the status of women to modernity By emphasizing the ways notions of modernity and piety are lived debated and shaped by everyday Islamists this book underscores the inseparability of piety and politics in the lives of pious Muslims

Knowing the Enemy Mary Habeck,2019-06-18 In considerable detail and with admirable clarity Habeck contributes one of the most valuable books on the ongoing Middle East and world crisis Booklist starred review After September 11 Americans agonized over why nineteen men hated the United States enough to kill three thousand civilians in an unprovoked assault Analysts have offered a wide variety of explanations for the attack but the one voice missing is that of the terrorists themselves This penetrating book is the first to present the inner logic of al Qaeda and like minded extremist groups by which they justify September 11 and other terrorist attacks Mary Habeck explains that these extremist groups belong to a new movement known as jihadism with a specific ideology based on the thought of Muhammad ibn Abd al Wahhab Hasan al Banna and Sayyid Qutb Jihadist ideology contains new definitions of the unity of God and of jihad which allow members to call for the destruction of democracy and the United States and to murder innocent men women and children Habeck also suggests how the United States might defeat the jihadis using their own ideology against them Concise and sober Quite simply the best single volume currently available on this topic Los Angeles Times Knowing the Enemy is vital in the struggle of ideas Theo Hartman Centre for Research on Geopolitics A level headed intelligent thorough and accessible survey of modern Islamic militant thinking The Guardian An important and necessary new book It demonstrates an insight and forthrightness rare among Western pundits The New York Sun A succinct and useful guide The Wall Street Journal

The Making of Islamic Economic Thought Sami Al-Daghistani,2022-01-06 Interrogating the development and conceptual framework of economic thought in the Islamic tradition pertaining to ethical philosophical and theological ideas this book provides a critique of modern Islamic economics as a hybrid economic system From the outset Sami Al Daghistani is concerned with the polyvalent methodology of studying the phenomenon of Islamic economic thought as a human science in that it nurtures a complex plentitude of meanings and interpretations associated with the moral self By studying legal scholars theologians and Sufis in the classical period Al Daghistani looks at economic thought in the context of Shar a s moral law Alongside critiquing modern developments of Islamic economics he puts forward an idea for a plural epistemology of Islam s moral economy which advocates for a multifaceted hermeneutical reading of the subject in light of a moral law embedded in a particular cosmology of human relationality metaphysical intelligibility and economic subjectivity

Beyond the Secular Andrea Cassatella,2023-09-01 Through an in depth critical analysis of Jacques Derrida s later writings Beyond the Secular examines the contemporary nexus between religion and politics Reconnecting these writings to his early works Andrea Cassatella explores distinctive topics that are thematically linked by the theological political problematic and theoretically informed by Derrida's relational approach to language, time, religion, and politics. The result is a critical investigation into under-examined assumptions of modern secular discourse that questions its binary logics and illuminates such discourse's exclusionary character by tracing its roots in racialized understandings about language, epistemology, politics, and religion that travel worldwide through global processes of assimilatory translation. By exposing the discriminatory hierarchies that the Western Christian sexualized and racialized presuppositions of secular discourse keep producing and maintaining, Cassatella ultimately sheds light on the deep entanglements of secularism with the legacy of race and colonialism.

Cyber Sufis Robert Rozeznal, 2019-08-01 In America today, online spaces serve as critical alternatives for tech-savvy Muslims seeking a place to root their faith, forge religious identity, and build communities. With a particular focus on the Inayati Order, a branch of the oldest Sufi community in the West, Robert Rozeznal explores the online revolution in internal communication, spiritual pedagogy, and public outreach, and looks ahead to the future of digital Islam in the age of Web 3.0.

Political Theology on Edge Clayton Crockett, Catherine Keller, 2021-12-07 In Political Theology on Edge, the discourse of political theology is seen as situated on an edge that is on the edge of a world that is grappling with global warming, a brutal form of neoliberal capitalism, protests against racism and police brutality, and the COVID-19 pandemic. This edge is also a form of eschatology that forces us to imagine new ways of being religious and political in our cohabitation of a fragile and shared planet. Each of the essays in this volume attends to how climate change and our ecological crises intersect and interact with more traditional themes of political theology. While the tradition of political theology is often associated with philosophical responses to the work of Carl Schmitt and the critical attempts to disengage religion from his rightwing politics, the contributors to this volume are informed by Schmitt but not limited to his perspectives. They engage and transform political theology from the standpoint of climate change, the politics of race, and non-Christian political theologies including Islam and Sikhism. Important themes include the Anthropocene, ecology, capitalism, sovereignty, Black Lives Matter, affect theory, continental philosophy, destruction, and suicide. This book features world-renowned scholars and emerging voices that together open up the tradition of political theology to new ideas and new ways of thinking. Contributors: Gil Anidjar, Balbinder Singh Bhogal, J. Kameron Carter, William E. Connolly, Kelly Brown Douglas, Seth Gaiters, Lisa Gasson Gardner, Winfred Goodwin, Lawrence Hillis, Mehmet Karabela, Michael Northcott, Austin Roberts, Noelle Vahanian, Larry L. Welborn.

A Hundred Osamas: Islamist Threats and the Future of Counterinsurgency, 2005 The future of the Global War on Terror is now, and may continue indefinitely to be a key concern for the U.S. military and policy makers. Islamist terror has not arisen from a vacuum but has evolved over decades and requires more calibrated coordination and a different type of strategic planning than other types of conflicts. The author of this monograph, Dr. Sherifa Zuhur, examines the intensity and diversification of extremist efforts and outlines their new jihad and its relationship to the regeneration of extremist leadership. She reviews lessons learned with regard to Islamist extremist tactics, recruitment, and their relationship to a broader Islamic awakening that must be factored into the U S desire for democratization of the Middle East and the broader Islamic world The Strategic Studies Institute is pleased to offer this monograph as a contribution to the national security debate on this important topic
