War and Public Health and terrorism and Public Health both dealt with specific issues of social injustice as they relate to public health. The current book addresses a broader set of issues in a more comprehensive manner. This book defines social injustice as the denial or violation of economic, sociocultural, political, civil or human rights of specific populations or groups in society. These groups are socially defined in terms of racial or ethnic status, language, country of origin, socioeconomic status, age, gender, sexual orientation or other perceived group characteristics. Social injustice manifests in many ways ranging from various forms of overt discrimination to the wide gaps between the haves and the have nots within a country or between richer and poorer countries. It increases the prevalence of risk factors and hazardous exposures which in turn lead to higher rates of disease, injury, disability and premature death. Public health professionals as well as students need to have a clear understanding of social injustice in order to address these problems but few books address such a wide range of issues. This book will enable readers to understand social injustice and will prepare them to recognize, document, investigate and prevent social injustice and its effects on health. This book is organized so that health professionals, students in the health professions and others will find it of practical value in public health and medical care, research, education, policy development and advocacy.

Nurse Executive Linda Thompson Adams, Edward H. O'Neil, 2008-03-10. This book takes insights drawn from the Executive Nurse Fellows program established by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to promote the idea of leadership development as an empowering force among nurses at ALL levels. It is intended as both a guide for professional leaders in schools of nursing, hospitals and other health care delivery systems, ambulatory care, long term care, public and occupational health and public policy and as a text in leadership courses for students at master's level and beyond. It presents the core competencies developed by the RWJ Nurse Fellows program: i.e. interpersonal and communication effectiveness, risk taking and creativity, self knowledge, inspiring and leading change and strategic vision as the keys to nursing leadership. The book is organized around the program's leadership compass, a method used in leadership skill development. The four points of that compass are: Purpose, the vision to lead; People, the passion to work with others; Process, the skills to manage change; Personal, the self knowledge to thrive. For each of these four points, the contributors, all graduates of the RWJ program, explore related competencies in each of three sections of the book: issues in public health, education and service. The chapters reflect real world experiences and are built around case studies that highlight one or two of the competencies.
