The Reinforcement Sensitivity Theory of Personality Philip J. Corr, 2008-04-10 One of the major neuropsychological models of personality developed by world renowned psychologist Professor Jeffrey Gray is based upon individual differences in reactions to punishing and rewarding stimuli This biological theory of personality now widely known as Reinforcement Sensitivity Theory RST has had a major influence on motivation emotion and psychopathology research In 2000 RST was substantially revised by Jeffrey Gray together with Neil McNaughton and this revised theory proposed three principal motivation emotion systems the Fight Flight Freeze System FFFS the Behavioural Approach System BAS and the Behavioural Inhibition System BIS This is the first book to summarise the Reinforcement Sensitivity Theory of personality and bring together leading researchers in the field It summarizes all of the pre 2000 RST research findings explains and elaborates the implications of the 2000 theory for personality psychology and lays out the future research agenda for RST

Human Traits and Their Social Significance Irwin Edman, 1920 Deals with the processes of human nature from man's inborn impulses and needs to the most complete fulfillment of these Integrating the Individual and the Organization Chris Argyris, 2017-09-08 The emphasis on organizational change in the corporate life of recent years including job redesign autonomous groups high performance work systems and the redesign of control systems owes a great deal to the pioneering work of Chris Argyris This book examines how individuals in organizations can become more effective in turn making organizations more effective It explores the conventional pyramidal structure of organizations in which there is top down control by managers over workers and examines their negative consequences These include organizational injustice and eventually irrational decision making Argyris also discusses the characteristic learning system of the modern organization which he describes as single loop in character This system he argues is only adequate enough to permit the organization to implement existing policies It does not permit the more difficult and comprehensive task of questioning underlying goals and assumptions which he terms double loop learning In this kind of learning the organization is able to confront the more difficult problems that affect organizations in a time of transition In his new introduction Argyris reviews the strengths and limitations of the argument advanced in Integrating the Individual and the Organization He describes why the pyramidal structure endures and why creating a self learning organization is an even more challenging task than he has imagined The book will be of interest to professionals with a long standing interest in organizational development as well as those just entering the field managers confronting the challenge of organization change and researchers in organizational behavior and theory Frustration and Conflict. Enduring Problems in Psychology. Selected Readings. Edited by Aubrey J.

Yates Aubrey James YATES, 1965 Stereotypic Animal Behaviour Georgia Mason, Jeffrey Rushen, 2008-04-09 Abnormal behaviour patterns from the jumping and somersaulting of caged laboratory mice to the pacing of enclosed big cats are displayed by many millions of farm zoo research and companion animals Including new chapters and over 30 contributors this book focuses on the causation and treatment of these environment induced stereotypic behaviours and their implications for animal welfare and normalcy of brain functioning The book begins by taking an ethological perspective focusing on the constraints captivity places on animals normal behavioural repertoires and the effects these have on specific motivational systems It then addresses the role of dysfunction particularly the impact of chronic stress and impoverished environments on brain functioning The book then moves on to explore how stereotypic behaviours can be tackled once they have emerged using diverse techniques from environmental enrichment to pharmaceutical intervention It concludes by giving a new definition for stereotypic behaviour and a discussion of future research directions Frustration and Conflict [by] J.M.
