Windows on a Hidden World Jane Maycock, 2012-10-18 As a priest married to a vicar with four young children Jane Maycock is all too familiar with the struggle not to be engulfed by busyness in the run up to Christmas As a result the reflections she has written for this lovely book are engagingly infused with real life happenings even as they invite us to stop and consider what Advent itself really means The author draws on the insights of the biblical authors poets such as Robert Southwell and contemporary hymn writers including Timothy Dudley Smith to present a series of windows through which we can explore the main ideas surrounding the season We are taken through the themes of wilderness and of God's choice and examine the place of conflict and confrontation in Christian faith We look more deeply at the familiar nativity scene and at the idea of the second coming Underpinning Windows on a Hidden World is the conviction that we are bound up in an intimate relationship with a God of love and these daily readings offer much encouragement to respond to the wonder of God's tender nearness with hope and joy The Jester's Bells Carol E. Abraham, 2000-08 Events jolting and stirring historic and whimsical come to life thick and fast in The Jester's Bells Filled with irony satire and caricature it is the story of Carol Enid Abraham a Depression Baby growing up in Brooklyn during the lean war torn 1940s and the A bomb scare of the 1950s It reflects the pendulous swing of morals and ethics gender and racial advances radical religious thinking inspired silliness and
