

Corrente.

Allegro. (2 = ms)

The musical score is for a piece titled "Corrente." in Allegro tempo, with a metronome marking of 2 = ms. It is written for piano and bass. The score consists of five systems of staves. The first system is marked with a treble clef and a key signature of one flat. The second system has a double bar line. The third system has a key signature change to two flats. The fourth system has a key signature change to one flat. The fifth system has a key signature change to two flats and ends with a double bar line. Various musical markings are present, including "s" (sustained), "dim" (diminuendo), "p" (piano), "ten." (tenuto), and "cresc." (crescendo).

*The short horizontal line... placed over a note signifies that it is to be sustained to its full duration; yet without being slurred on to the next note. The duration of a sound on the Piano depends less on the holding down of the finger after striking than on the mode of striking, or preparation therefor (the raising of the finger beforehand). A note marked with the horizontal line should, therefore, be played somewhat "marcato"; not so much so, however as one marked ♩ , or, still more emphatically, ♩ .

Handel's Oratorios and Eighteenth-Century Thought Ruth Smith, 1995-05-04. In this wide-ranging and challenging book, Ruth Smith claims that the words to Handel's oratorios reflect the events and ideas of their time and have far greater meaning than has hitherto been realised. She explores eighteenth-century literature, music, aesthetics, politics, and religion to reveal Handel's texts as conduits for the thought and sensibility of their time. The book thus enriches our understanding of Handel, his times, and the close relationship between music and its intellectual contexts. Christianity: First 2000 Years baroque dramma per musica, this book is divided into three parts. Part I introduces the principal characters: Handel's musical works in different genres and diverse aspects of his musical style and creative practices. Part II develops complications to the plot: there is new information about the authenticity and chronology of works and analysis of musical literary and documentary sources. Part III brings all of these scholarly strands together and leads to a set of outcomes: a fresh examination of the broader context of Handel's music in relation to his contemporaries and collaborators sits alongside reception studies. This collection will be essential reading for baroque music admirers, performers, experts, and students. David Vickers is Lecturer in Academic Studies at Royal Northern College of Music, Manchester, and Council Member of the Handel Institute. The Strand Geoff Browell, Eileen Chanin, 2025-02-25. The first history of one of London's most extraordinary streets. Running along the Thames's northern shore and spanning three quarters of a mile from Trafalgar Square to Temple Bar, the Strand has been a witness to London's growth and change from the earliest years of the city's existence. In The Strand: A Biography, Geoff Browell and Eileen Chanin uncover the deep history of this remarkable street. Tracing its origins in the Roman era, they reveal how it grew in importance as authority shifted from church to aristocracy, then to commerce, media, and law. Over time, everything that mattered converged on the Strand: tradition and ceremony clashed with rebellion and destitution. By 1910, the street was known as the centre of the world. Drawing on remarkable archival discoveries, Browell and Chanin present the most complete and compelling history of the Strand ever written. Filled with surprising, untold stories, The Strand: A Biography is a must-read for lovers of one of the world's greatest cities. Handel's Israelite Oratorio Libretti
