Financial Decision-Making in the Foodservice Industry Amit Sharma, 2019-12-20 The study of decision making in foodservice is still a relatively new area of scholarly interest. The application of cost-benefit analysis and behavioral finance and economics in the foodservice context is rare. This volume, Financial Decision-Making in the Foodservice Industry: Economic Costs and Benefits, fills that gap and focuses on cost-benefit analysis, decision making, behavioral finance, economic theories, and their application in foodservice and restaurant industry. The volume synthesizes these major themes by developing new theoretical foundations and presenting findings from the investigation of managerial practice. The authors cover an abundance of topical issues including ethical obligations in foodservice, sustainability issues in the foodservice restaurant industry, farm-to-school and local food expenditures in school foodservice settings, managerial traits and behavior in the foodservice industry, and more.

Communication and Health Charlene Elliott, Josh Greenberg, 2022-01-01 This book explores the unique contribution that critical communication studies can bring to our understanding of health. It covers several broad themes representing and mediating health, marketing and promoting health, co-producing health, and managing health crises and risks. Chapters speak to moral and social regulation through health communication technologies of health, healthism, and governmentality. They engage with historical and contemporary issues, offering readers theoretically grounded perspectives. At base, the book explores what a critical communication approach to health might look like, revealing in important and sometimes surprising ways how communication sits at the centre of understanding how health is constructed, contested, and made meaningful.
