Handbook of Perception Edward Calvin Carterette, Morton Philbert Friedman, 1978      Handbook of Perception Volume 6A Edward C. Carterette, 2012-12-02 Handbook of Perception Volume VIA Tasting and Smelling focuses on the psychophysics of tasting and smelling and covers topics ranging from food technology and the neurophysiology of taste to the chemistry of odor the neural code the olfactory process and chemical signals in the environment This volume is organized into five sections encompassing 10 chapters and begins with a historical overview of taste research followed by a discussion on the biophysics and chemistry of taste and its phylogenetic basis in vertebrates The focus then shifts to the nature of taste qualities the psychophysical methods of studying them and the influence on taste sensation of factors such as intensity duration and area of stimulation The important phenomenon of adaptation is well covered with attention to the role of water The book methodically introduces the reader to the pleasantness or unpleasantness of a food the physicochemical basis of olfaction information processing in the olfactory nerve pathway and the relationship between molecular structure and odor A chapter on the extraneous stimulation caused by industrial processes the psychophysical foundation for applications of olfactory research and real and potential applications in the realm of odor abatement concludes the volume This book will serve as a basic source and reference work for psychologists and natural scientists as well as for those who are interested in human perception      Feeling and Hurting Edward C. Carterette, Morton P. Friedman, 2013-10-22 Handbook of Perception Volume VIB Feeling and Hurting deals with the perceptual aspects of feeling and pain The book opens with a discussion of the history of research on feeling This is followed by separate chapters on the biophysics and psychophysics of feeling phylogenetic development of feeling and role of different cerebral structures in somesthetic perception Subsequent chapters deal with concepts in pain research the neural mechanisms of pain perceptual aspects of pain and human pathological pain      Handbook of Perception: Perceptual Processing v. 9 SWAINE, 2014-06-28 Handbook of Perception Perceptual Processing v 9      Handbook of Perception Edward C. Carterette, Morton P. Friedman, 1973      Pain and Touch Lawrence Kruger, 1996-09-30 An explosion of advances in the area of tactile perception and pain led to the development of this comprehensive state of the art text on basic research and clinical practice Equal parts psychology and neuroscience Pain and Touch covers peripheral cutaneous tactile information processing sensory mapping tactile exploratory behavior neurophysiology of nociception and nociceptors in pain research clinical scaling methods for psychophysics of pain and paincontrol pathology and therapeutics      Aging and Human Motivation Ernest Furchtgott, 2013-03-14 I first met Ernest Furchtgott twenty five years ago after joining the faculty of the College of Social Work at the University of South Carolina At that time Ernie chaired the Department of Psychology In the following three years we collaborated with an Academic Committee on Gerontology in conceptualizing and shaping the University s Certificate of Graduate Study in Gerontology Program guiding it to final approval by the South Carolina Commission on Higher Education For twenty years we team taught our graduate level course Psychosocial Approaches to Gerontology involving colleagues from related disciplines Over the years we examined and jointly graded hundreds of research posters prepared by our graduate students in gerontology as their final course requirement Several years ago Ernie formally retired from the university He instantly agreed to my request that he continue teaching the psychology of aging portion of our interdisciplinary course On campus nearly every day since retirement Ernie frequently telephoned to discuss a recent article in The Gerontologist or a paper presentation that had excited him at the Gerontological Society's annual scientific meeting He maintained a clear presence in the academic community

Foundations of Sensory Science H. Autrum, L.M. Beidler, H. Davis, H. Engström, G.A. Fry, R. Granit, W.D. Keidel, D.R. Kenshalo, O. Lowenstein, C. Pfaffmann, L.A. Riggs, D. Schneider, T. Tomita, W.D. Wright, J.J. Zwislocki, 2012-12-06 When seen from an outsider's vantage point the development of knowledge in the sensory sciences must appear massive and the result of some carefully followed master plan In reality it is the result of numerous relatively independent human endeavors shaped by application of the scientific method The comprehensive construction of quantitative theories of sense organ function has occurred only recently but at an explosive rate prefaced by centuries of expansion in the physical sciences Predicated on this growth the twentieth century may become known as the age of the biological sciences With the exception of a modest number of intellectual giants there were few contributors to the foundations of the sensory sciences before the dawn of this century At least 90% of existing knowledge has been produced by scientists working in laboratories founded since 1920 If any single scientist and his laboratory may be identified with the growth in the sensory sciences it is EDGAR DOUGLAS ADRIAN First Baron of Cambridge and leader of the Physiological Laboratory at Cambridge University England Lord ADRIAN'S influence upon the sensory sciences was great not only in terms of his contribution to knowledge itself but also through the influence which he exerted upon numerous young scientists who spent weeks or years at the Cambridge laboratory and who later returned to their homelands and colleagues with the seeds of vigorous research and quantitative inquiry firmly implanted

Assistive Technology: Principles and Applications for Communication Disorders and Special Education Oliver Wendt, 2012-11-02 This book provides readers with vast knowledge of practical applications theoretical models services and evidence based solutions in the areas of assistive technology AT and augmentative and alternative communication AAC It aims to equip practicing clinicians educators and students with the necessary background to use AT and AAC with their clients This book also sheds light on the many different roles and functions of AT and AAC for a large variety of clinical populations and suggests solutions the reader can implement immediately Although a particular focus is set on communication disorders described applications and resources also apply to individuals with developmental disabilities and sensory impairments In addition to outlining most recent low and high technology this book makes a particularly strong effort to teach general principles and guidelines for successful AT and AAC interventions regardless of what particular technology is used This resource is a crucial addition to the bookshelf of any professional dealing with AT and or AAC including speech language pathologists special educators occupational therapists physical therapists early intervention specialists students in professional programs users of AT or AAC their families and applied researchers This is a must read for novices and seasoned professional alike     Functions of the Right Cerebral Hemisphere Andrew Young,2012-12-02 Functions of the Right Cerebral Hemisphere discusses the studies of the different functions served by the right hemisphere in light of knowledge as well as normal and clinical studies on the subject The book covers topics such as the visuospatial abilities of the right hemisphere the analysis of basic perceptual properties its creation and operation on representations studies on the function of the right hemisphere in relation to music and the language capabilities of the right hemisphere Also covered in the book are the methods for studying cerebral hemispheric function the development of right hemispheric abilities and the relation of the right hemisphere to reading disorders The text is recommended for neurologists who would like to know more or make a study on the right hemisphere and its functions     Animal Pain Ralph L Kitchell,Howard H Erickson,2013-05-27 Pain is a complex physiological phenomenon it is hard to define satisfactorily in human beings and it is extremely difficult to recognize and interpret in animals Scientific knowledge concerning pain perception in animals must be obtained by drawing analogies based on comparative anatomy physiology and pathology and by inference based on subjective responses to pain experienced by humans Debate continues about whether animals of different species perceive pain similarly and whether any species perceives pain the same way humans do The use of animals in research in education and in testing products to minimize adverse effects requires more knowledge about pain perception in animals Increasing public concern about animal welfare has added urgency to this need Our knowledge of the scientific basis of the mechanisms of pain has advanced substantially in the last two decades Nociceptors or pain receptors are widespread in the skin and tissues of animals chemical mediation of nociceptor excitation may provide a key to understanding the peripheral phenomena related to pain The expression of pain in animals involves multiple ascending and descending branches as well as specialized pain signaling mechanisms in the spinal cord The importance of these different pathways varies with species and circumstances Endogenous neural systems in the brain stem and forebrain including both opioid and nonopioid mechanisms may modulate the central transmission of nociceptive signals in animals     Animal Stress Gary P Moberg,2013-05-27 Based on a recent symposium that brought together experts in behavior nutrition physiology immunology and human and animal medicine this volume presents an up to date discussion of the problems and methods of studying animal stress today Section one reviews the evolutionary and ontogenetic determinants of animal suffering and the assessment of well being The second section examines biological responses to stress and methods of monitoring stress in animals Section three shows how stress can threaten animal health disrupt normal reproduction and influence growth and metabolism The final section relates the importance of animal stress to developing guidelines on the use of animals in scientific research This is an invaluable reference for exploring these complex responses     Perceptual Coding Edward C. Carterette,Morton P.

Friedman,2014-05-10 Handbook of Perception Volume VIII Perceptual Coding covers perceptual coding of space time and objects including sensory memory systems and the relations between verbal and perceptual codes This volume contains contributions that focus on such subjects as the compound eye the problems of the perceptual constancies and of intersensory coordination in perceptual development the visual perception of objects in space and perception of motion Topics on the perception of color the representation of temporal auditory and haptic perception and the relationship between verbal and perceptual codes are discussed in detail as well This book will be of use to psychologists biologists and those interested in the study of perceptual codes      Perceptual Ecology Edward C. Carterette,Morton P. Friedman,2013-09-24 Handbook of Perception Volume X Perceptual Ecology deals with perceptual aspects of the study of interaction of persons with their environment The book is organized into six parts Part I examines an ecological approach to the perceptual systems and cultural differences in perception Part II is devoted to impaired perception and action It includes studies on perception by the deaf and blind and outlines the intellectual principles necessary for understanding sensory aids Part III on aesthetics covers central problem of aesthetic theories and the generation and measurement of aesthetic forms Part IV on architecture music art and cinema discusses the perceptual aspects of architecture the psychology of music and the perception of art and motion pictures Part V deals with the role of olfactory hedonics in perfumery and the assessment and abatement of noxious odors and food habits gastronomy and analysis of flavors and foods Part VI focuses on parapsychology It reviews experimental evidence on telepathy clairvoyance precognition and psychokinesis in order to assess the status of parapsychology and show why it is paradox outside of accepted opinion after some 100 years of psychic research

Human Foundations of Advanced Computing Technology Bernard O. Williams,1985      A Lexicon of Psychology, Psychiatry and Psychoanalysis Jessica Kuper,2015-07-30 Originally published in 1988 this volume provides a broad and eclectic view of psychological theory methods and practice covering not only the main branches of academic psychology but also psychiatry psychoanalysis and other psychotherapies Although some research and practices will inevitably have moved on it will still be an ideal companion for students and a useful work of reference for mental health professionals and indeed for anyone interested in contemporary scientific thinking about the human brain mind and personality      Assets 2000 ,2000

Hemispheric Asymmetries in Visible Persistence as a Function of Perceptual and Task Characteristics Stephen Douglas Christman,1988      Basic Oral Physiology Robert Martin Bradley,1981      Hearing Edward Carterette,2012-12-02 Handbook of Perception Volume IV Hearing reviews the literature on the physical physiological and psychological aspects of hearing The book covers a wide array of topics relevant to hearing including the measurement and biophysics of the cochlea binaural and spatial hearing and the effects of hearing impairment on the auditory system The psychological sociological and physiological effects of noise are also addressed This volume is organized into six sections encompassing 16 chapters and begins with a historical overview of the history of research on hearing from the antiquity of acoustics to the physical and mathematical developments that gave rise to auditory facts and theories Auditory perception physiology and theory are followed up to about 1940 whereas the work on analysis synthesis and perception of speech is traced up to about 1960 The chapters that follow focus on measurement the biophysics of the cochlea and neural coding The underlying mechanisms of the processing of acoustic information are given consideration The book methodically introduces the reader to the mechanisms of frequency intensity time and periodicity along with stress trauma and pathology A chapter on the transient physiological effects of noise and their relation to neuroendocrine stress theory concludes the treatise This book is intended for psychologists biologists and natural scientists as well as for those who are interested in the physical physiological and psychological aspects of hearing
