Handbook Of Research Methods A Guide For Practitioners And Students In The Social Sciences:

Handbook of Research Methods Natalie L. Sproull, 1988 Designed for researchers managers and administrators who make research based decisions as well as students of the social sciences and business The entire research process from variables to final report is covered step by step Handbook of Research Methods Natalie L. Sproull, 1995 Social Sciences Research Gail M. Staines, 2019-03-04 This is a complete revision with new material of the second edition of Social Sciences Research Research Writing and Presentation Strategies for Students Scarecrow Press 2008 There have been significant changes in the research process in the social sciences since the second edition of this text was published in 2008 a decade ago The plethora of new information technologies e g smart phones tablets apps etc the information overload not only on the Internet where anyone can publish but also with the explosion of social media e g Twitter Facebook Instagram etc as well as the far reaching changes in databases and other sources of electronic information that is available Complementing the manual are appendixes consisting of a list of possible research questions an example paper a complete set of worksheets and blank citation forms to be used to record references which provide further practice for students In this third edition the author has included more instruction on searches using electronic sources as well as new formatting guidelines that have been promulgated in the past several years The ideal resource for college students this manual addresses the finer points of research and writing that are not given enough instruction in the classroom Social Research Sotirios Sarantakos, 2017-09-16 From question development and research design to data collection and statistical analysis this text guides the reader through every aspect of social research Encouraging a critical approach in each chapter this 4th edition includes enhanced coverage of internet sampling mixed methods conversation analysis and feminist research A Phenomenological Inquiry of Women's Lived Experiences in Preparing for High-Level Leadership Positions Aldith A. Bell, 2010-08-05 The purpose of the qualitative hermeneutic phenomenological study was to explore the influence of leadership development or succession planning programs upon women's progression to high level positions and their continued success in the executive ranks A qualitative methodology provided a detailed and rich understanding of the experiences of women in high level leadership from the perspectives of women who have experienced leadership development or succession planning programs Twenty women in high level leadership positions employed in for profit organizations in the eastern United States were the focus of the study The results revealed that while some aspects of the programs were effective upon promotion to their high level positions most of the women leaders expressed a lack of preparation for their high level positions Key issues the women executives indicated were missing in existing leadership development and succession planning programs were a on the job training b lack of mentors and c job rotation

Methodology, Theory, and Knowledge in the Managerial and Organizational Sciences Eliezer Geisler, 1999-06-30 Geisler argues that the over reliance on co variation techniques and statistical methods instead of process approach and in depth analysis produces meaningless knowledge in the managerial and organizational sciences and indeed throughout all the social sciences He offers instead a new and different approach based on the notion of what he calls dynamic morphologies an architecture of slicing complex phenomena This way it is possible to explain many inconsistencies in research findings and to find a cohesive systematic outlook on research research design and knowledge creation Intellectually challenging and following in the footsteps of Kuhn Argyris and Popper Geisler s approach is frankly revolutionary in research design and contains its own notions terms and nomenclature A provocative discussion for academics and others well trained in the organizational managerial and social sciences Geisler s dynamic morphologies provide a means to research complex phenomena and gain knowledge about them They are composed of a chain of events combined logically and temporally and a method by which this process is studied Geisler also contends that knowledge in the organizational and managerial sciences is only viable when it describes and explains the complex higher order phenomena Therefore theory building and research in these fields must be linked to higher order constructs and the phenomena that they attempt to explain This is the central notion of amplitude that Geisler introduces and describes His book also criticizes the evolutionary epistemology view of knowledge creation and contends that knowledge in all of these fields of study in general is not evolutionary but instead cumulative and expansive

Police Intelligence Wayne L. Davis, Paul J. Leslie, Ashley B. Davis, 2023-03-30 Police Intelligence Totality of Circumstances is an essential resource and is designed for any individual who may encounter the field of criminal justice whether the person is a police chief who oversees the department s standard operating procedures a police officer who enforces the law a civilian who is expected to follow the law a lawyer who may challenge an action in court or a judge who will interpret the law This book in part applies math and logic to laws and policies to objectively assess them Laws and policies are written as English logical statements English logical statements can be converted into mathematical logical statements which can be objectively assessed via Boolean algebra Specifically truth tables Venn diagrams flowcharts logic gates and logic circuits can all be used to assess laws policies and proper police actions For example mathematically it is not a glass blue marble means almost the exact opposite of it is not glass not blue and not marble In addition one must consider existential and universal quantifiers conditional statements and subsets to correctly interpret laws and policies Thus it is important for individuals to understand how to mathematically assess English logical statements e g the law because if they do not opponents in court may do it for them This book is important because collecting and understanding information and effectively communicating are vital skills in law enforcement It discusses different reference points for assessing good behavior different lenses of truth limitations of information and assumptions Furthermore it examines a variety of ways to collect and assess information which include interrogation techniques interviewing techniques an interrogatory and a deposition ciphering and deciphering messages body language handwriting analysis job interview questions and crime scene search patterns The chapters present a methodological reasoning process that is sorely lacking among police agencies and one that is essential for developing critical thinking skills and carrying out orders within legal confines Police Intelligence Totality of Circumstances is an indispensable resource for helping students and officers to collect and assess information Whether it is verbal or nonverbal information ciphered messages or using different bases for numeric communication individuals in criminal justice should learn to think outside the box to collect and understand available information

Survey Research Methodology, 1990-1999 Graham R. Walden, 2002-09-30 Survey research is one of the most widely used research methodologies across the social and behavioral sciences Two trends that have had a major impact on the development of survey methods over the last decade are 1 the application of techniques and theories from cognitive psychology to the understanding and reduction of survey measurement error and 2 the application of new computer and telephony technologies to data collection and analysis These trends and other emerging issues from the 1990 s literature on survey research methods are captured here in 617 detailed annotations to monographs journals government documents dissertations and ERIC documents Annotations include examples from business criminology education health and medicine law library science mass media military science political science psychology sociology social work religion and women s studies The bibliographic entries provide every useful element including series names complete subtitles and overall text page numbers as well as chapter page numbers The extensive annotations are more complete and more detailed than is typical for annotated bibliographies The descriptions include highlights of the study data and sufficient detail to enable the reader to make an informed choice as to whether to seek the full text Appendices include journals cited and the major survey research organizations The annotations are easily accessed through author and subject indexes Inside Chinese

Organizations Kai-Alexander Schlevogt, 2000-02 An empirical study was undertaken a to examine the characteristics influencing factors and effectiveness of a distinctive Chinese management model adopted by the newly founded private enterprises in mainland China as well as b to test the fit notion in contingency theory The study was based on a random sample of 124 standardized personal interviews with CEOs of Chinese industrial and service companies in Beijing and Shanghai The standardized questionnaire mainly contained the Aston structure scales Pugh and Hickson 1976 and Khandwalla s 1977 management schedules Besides three case examples were studied including one state owned bank and two private enterprises Using AMOS structural equation modeling size mass technology and uncertainty as well as CEO need for achievement environmental constraints and selected Chinese characteristics were specified as influencing factors of bureaucracy and managerial practices which included strategic orientation leadership style decision making communication and subcontracting Another model analyzed the influence of various key success factors on organizational effectiveness The findings provided support for the re adoption of a distinctive Chinese management model in private companies characterized by autocratic leadership low formalization Chinese entrepreneurship and network based webs Private enterprises also tended to readopt and emphasize traditional Chinese family related values The distinctiveness of this model was ceteris

paribus due to this emphasis on familism which had a direct impact on organizational design and an indirect influence through its negative association with company size which in turn significantly covaried with organizational design This family based ownership model was positively associated with organizational effectiveness As regards contingency theory the traditional fit hypotheses could not be rejected In addition less effective companies were not necessarily in misfit Appropriate structure together with an optimizing planning style and firm age were positively associated with performance Managerial recommendations were codified in a CHINA c strategy framework for high effectiveness

The Experiences of Black and Minority Ethnic Academics Kalwant Bhopal, 2015-06-26 Recent research suggests that Black and minority ethnic BME academics remain underrepresented particularly at senior levels in higher education and tend to be concentrated in new post 1992 universities This book provides an original comparative study of BME academics in both the UK and the USA two different yet similar cultural and political climates considering issues of inequality difference and identity in the Academy Presenting a distinctive and engaging voice the book discusses the complexity of race gender and identity in the context of higher education an area that continues to appear to be dominated by white middle class values and perspectives Chapters offer an up to date commentary on the purpose failures and potential of research on race gender and identity and its place within contemporary education and sociology The book broadens the understanding of educational research considering both sociological and cultural discourse as well as examining racialized and gendered identities from a theoretical and analytical standpoint The book closes by offering suggestions for viable policy shifts in this area The Experiences of Black and Minority Ethnic Academics will be of key interest to researchers academics and postgraduate students in the field of education as well as sociologists wanting to learn more about black and minority academics in higher education

Service, Satisfaction and Climate John Walker, 2010 Service Satisfaction and Climate Perspectives on Management in English Language Teaching presents the results of research carried out in New Zealand to demonstrate the ways ELT can be conceptualized in terms of service and climate Although ESL is a major worldwide service industry employing large numbers of professionals and serving millions of clients it is an under researched field and one that is under represented in the management business literature This omission is particularly noticeable given that ELT has its own particular themes problems and issues For instance ELT is an educational service yet exists within a commercial context Its clients are from different cultural and linguistic backgrounds In many ELT contexts the cultural and linguistic backgrounds of the service providers are different from those of the clients Thus the service provision has a strong cross cultural dimension Yet the ELT sector is largely missing from the educational and the management literature This book seeks to fill the gap through discussion of ELT as a service issues surrounding ELT teachers as service providers the work of ELT managers client expectations and perceptions of ELT service comparison of staff estimates and client ratings of service quality and considerations of service milieu and climate in ELT centers
