Bartle Bull reveals in his magisterial history if one divides the 5 000 years of human civilization into ten periods of five centuries each during the first nine of these the world s leading city was in one of the three regions of current day Iraq or to use its Greek name Mesopotamia Inspired by extensive reporting from the region to spend a decade delving deep into its history Bull chronicles the story of Iraq from the exploits of Gilgamesh almost certainly an historical figure to the fall of the Iraqi monarchy in 1958 that ushered in its familiar modern era The land between the rivers has been the melting pot and battleground of countless outsiders from the Akkadians of Hammurabi and the Greeks of Alexander to the Ottomans of Suleiman the Magnificent Here by the waters of Babylon Judaism was born and the Sunni Shia schism took its bloody shape Central themes play out over the millennia humanity s need for freedom versus the co eternal urge of tyranny the ever present conflict and cross fertilization of East and West with Iraq so often the hinge We tend to view today s tensions in the Middle East through the prism of the last hundred years since the Treaty of Versailles imposed a controversial realignment of its borders Bartle Bull s remarkable sweeping achievement reminds us that the region defined by the land between the rivers has for five millennia played a uniquely central role on the global stage

Persian Mirrors Elaine Sciolino, 2000-10-03 No American reporter has more experience covering Iran or more access to the private corners of Iranian society than Elaine Sciolino As a correspondent for Newsweek and The New York Times she has reported on the key events of the past two decades She was aboard the airplane that brought Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to Tehran in 1979 she was there for the Iranian revolution the hostage crisis the Iran Iraq war the rise of President Mohammad Khatami and the riots of the summer of 1999 In Persian Mirrors Sciolino takes us into the public and private spaces of Iran the bazaars beauty salons aerobics studios courtrooms universities mosques and the presidential palace to capture the vitality of a society so often misunderstood by Americans She demystifies a country of endless complexity where on the streets women swathe themselves in black and behind high walls they adorn themselves with makeup and jewelry where the laws of Islam are the law of the land and yet the government advertises as tourist attractions the ruins of the pre Islamic imperial capital at Persepolis and the synagogue where Queen Esther is said to be buried and where even the most austere clerics recite sensual romantic poetry insisting that it refers to divine and not earthly love Iran is also a place with a dark side where unpredictable repression is carried out officially and unofficially by forces intent on maintaining power and influence Sciolino deftly uses her travels throughout Iran and her encounters with its people to portray the country as an exciting daring laboratory where experiments with two highly volatile chemicals Islam and democracy are being conducted Like the mirror mosaics found in Iran s royal palaces and religious shrines there is more to the whole of the country than the fragments revealed to outsiders Persian Mirrors captures this elusive Iran Sciolino paints in astonishing detail and rich color the surprising inner life of this country where a great battle is raging not for control over territory but for the soul of the nation
