Frost, 2017-03-02 Lawyers law

students and their teachers all too frequently overlook the most comprehensive adaptable and practical analysis of legal discourse ever devised the classical art of rhetoric Classical analysis of legal reasoning methods and strategy is the foundation and source for most modern theories on the topic Beginning with Aristotle's Rhetoric and culminating with Cicero s De Oratore and Quintilian s Institutio Oratoria Greek and Roman rhetoricians created a clear experience based theoretical framework for analyzing legal discourse This book is the first to systematically examine the connections between classical rhetoric and modern legal discourse It traces the history of legal rhetoric from the classical period to the present day and shows how modern theorists have unknowingly benefited from the classical works It also applies classical rhetorical principles to modern appellate briefs and judicial opinions to demonstrate how a greater familiarity with the classical sources can deepen our understanding of legal reasoning Teaching Legal Research Barbara Bintliff, Duncan Alford, 2013-09-13 Legal research is a fundamental skill for all law students and attorneys Regardless of practice area or work venue knowledge of the sources and processes of legal research underpins the legal professional s work Academic law librarians as research experts are uniquely qualified to teach legal research Whether participating in the mandatory first year law school curriculum or offering advanced or specialized legal research instruction law librarians have the up to date knowledge the broad view of the field and the expertise to provide the best legal research instruction possible This collection offers both theoretical and practical guidance on legal research education from the perspectives of the law librarian Containing well reasoned analytical articles on the topic the volume explains and supports the law librarian s role in legal research instruction The contributors to this book all experts in teaching legal research challenge academic law librarians to seize their instructional role in the legal academy This book was based on a special issue of Legal Reference Services Quarterly

Guide to Legal Research and Writing from the Transnational Perspective Francis A. Gabor, 2008 The twenty first century global world order creates fundamental challenges for the American model of legal education This professional model cannot focus only on one domestic legal system isolated from the rest of the world American law students need a realistic exposure to a transnational legal perspective in the contemporary global legal environment This objective can be achieved in three stages The first step requires a first year introductory course setting the foundation in public and private international law with the fundamental understanding of the comparative law methodology to grasp legal problems and institutions transcending through national boundaries In the second stage the transnational perspective should be emphasized in every domestic course in the expanded coverage of public and private international law and in the comparative law curriculum Finally in the third stage law students should have the opportunity to apply their transnational learning experience by selecting an intellectually and professionally stimulating topic for academic research Through this research the student should focus not only on developing a thesis and writing a research quality seminar paper but also on the potential for publication of the paper in law reviews and other legal journals This concise Guide to Legal Research and Writing from the Transnational Perspective can be used as a practical tool in the critical third stage of the transnational legal education process Concise practical tips will assist students in the research and writing process Samples of articles written by the author will provide a model for scholarly writing Professor Francis A Gabor is a Professor of Law at the University of Memphis Cecil C Humphreys School of Law and a regular visiting professor at the Central European University in Budapest Hungary He has been teaching in the area of public and private international law and comparative and immigration law Professor Gabor's research interest is focused on current issues of international trade and investments in Central Eastern Europe His treatise on Foreign Investment in Hungary was published by Parker School of Foreign and Comparative Law at Columbia University of New York The SAGE Guide to Writing in Criminal Justice Research Methods Jennifer M.
