Leading with Integrity Clarence G. Oliver Jr., Ed.D., 2015-12-01 Need for Ethics in School Districts Few U S school districts employ an ethics officer and its unclear how many have formal ethics codes Its not that wrongdoing is on the upswing But in this era of budget cutting and high stakes accountability when critics may raise suspicion about whats really happening with the money a school district that leads with clarity about ethics can bolster community trust As a bonus it also can strengthen employee morale and motivation Joan McRobbie senior research associate WestEd San Francisco California author Contagious Effects of a Districts Ethics Code School Administrator AASA Inexperienced Leaders Dr Oliver traces the problem of unethical behavior among some school leaders in part to the lack of experience he sees in those being hired today by school boards to fill superintendencies Educators who entered the field a few decades ago and rose through the ranks to become superintendents are retiring in waves The vacancies they create are not drawing the quantity and quality of experienced administrators eager to assume the top berth and may not have the training experience or strength to stand up to the pressures being forced on them Dr Oliver contends that those entering without much experience in key decision making roles are more likely to fall into the trap of what appears to be an innocent proposal without considering the underlying ethical issues more inclined to go with the first decision that comes to mind and less likely to look at the consequences of unethical behavior Priscilla Pardini Shorewood Wisconsin author Ethics in the Superintendency School Administrator AASA Ethical and Legal Issues in Student Affairs and Higher Education Anne M. Hornak, 2019-10-29 The goal of this book is to help the reader gain knowledge on ethical and legal issues in the field of student affairs and develop competency to follow the profession s principles and standards of conduct The significance of the book is due to its focus on the practical value of ethics and legal issues and its aim to address the knowledge skills and dispositions required of student affairs educators to develop and maintain integrity in their life and work as described by the ACPA NASPA The text offers readers a number of major unique features It offers multiple ethical decision making models to guide student affairs educators in their ethical decision making process It proposes that ethics is not an individual but an organizational responsibility It offers that ethical decision making is a professional skill that can be practiced and applied in student affairs educators day to day practice It presents the reader with the most current legal issues in student affairs and higher education Finally it reflects three themes integration of ACPA NASPA competency areas development of professional identity and application of knowledge and theory to practice The book is critical and timely A book that focuses on ethical and legal issues in student affairs is needed for faculty in preparation programs new professionals navigating their identity as student affairs educators and a resource for mid and senior level professionals facilitating ongoing professional development The book begins to address what it means to have a professional identity which is ground in the shared ethical and legal values espoused within the profession and academia Each chapter uniquely contributes to the complexity embedded in the study of ethics and how that is applied to practice Additionally the volume is a balance of procedural knowledge case illustrations and guided practice exercises to facilitate the reader s ability to translate the theory and research discussed into professional decision making and application

Handbook of Education, Training, and Supervision of School Psychologists in School and Community, Volume II Cynthia A. Riccio, Judith Kaufman, Tammy L. Hughes, 2009 Published with the sponsorship of the Trainers of School Psychologists this two volume handbook examines the essential tenets of the school psychology profession critically reviews training and practice issues and evaluates how traditional and changing skills and issues translate into meeting the needs of children and the systems that serve them Volume II extends the discussion of the training of school psychologists from Volume I to an examination of issues critical to the practice of school psychology focusing on the roles of the supervisor as trainer in different contexts Each chapter raises issues for university training in a manner that facilitates the dialogue between university and field trainers This volume also considers issues of professional development credentialing and developing a professional identity topics that predominate in practice settings yet are typically not addressed in any school psychology text It concludes by offering recommendations on how the collaboration between university and field based education can be further improved in the future to anticipate and meet the needs of the next generation of professionals and the children in their care
