New Dramaturgy Katalin Trencsényi, Bernadette Cochrane, 2014-04-24 Recent shifts in the theatrical landscape have had corresponding implications for dramaturgy The way we think about theatre and performance today has changed our approaches to theatre making and composition Emerging new aesthetics and new areas of dramaturgical work such as live art devised and physical theatre experimental performance and dance demand new approaches and sensibilities New Dramaturgy International Perspectives on Theory and Practice is the first book to explore new dramaturgy in depth and considers how our thinking about dramaturgy and the role of the dramaturg has been transformed Edited by Katalin Trencsényi and Bernadette Cochrane New Dramaturgy International Perspectives on Theory and Practice provides an unrivalled resource for practitioners scholars and students The Trial of Katterfelto Michael Redhill, 2025-09-02 I will grant here at the outset that the Doctor was not who he seemed but this shall turn out to be of little import in the tale to come He is as am I but a charge in a wire We were conductors for another force vassals to a vessel This vessel I cannot speak of for some pages however central it will become but I gallop ahead of myself I believe it is important that you see how I came to meet the good Doctor and for you to meet us for who we were Perhaps you will marvel as have I at how chance encounters can be charged with the power to alter the course of one's life or even history In the late eighteenth century the conjurer and amateur scientist Gustavus Katterfelto has made a name for himself travelling across the English countryside with a bag of tricks For audiences his astonishing stunts are pure magic For Katterfelto each one is carefully engineered and executed with the help of his colleague confidante and amanuensis and our narrator Roger Gossage Yet one day in their travels the two men come across a mystifying object beyond their ken a metal horn that emits a disembodied woman's voice She calls herself Siri of Toronto and claims to speak from a place plagued by climate catastrophe and social unrest As they begin to use the horn in their magic shows Gossage and Katterfelto must work to understand the origin and intent of Siri's call a quest that will put them up against the limits of reason and test Roger's allegiance to the man he calls his friend Endlessly inventive richly imagined and entirely its own The Trial of Katterfelto is a consciousness expanding novel that writes directly into the most urgent questions we face as a species who we are what we have done and what we might do from here Bellevue Square Michael Redhill, 2017-09-19 Winner of the 2017 Scotiabank Giller Prize A darkly comic literary thriller about a woman who fears for her sanity and then her life when she learns that her doppelganger has appeared in a local park Jean Mason has a doppelganger She's never seen her but others swear they have Apparently her identical twin hangs out in Kensington Market where she sometimes buys churros and drags an empty shopping cart down the streets like she's looking for something to put in it Jean's a grown woman with a husband and two kids as well as a thriving bookstore in downtown Toronto and she doesn't rattle easily not like she used to But after two customers insist they've seen her double Jean decides to investigate

She begins at the crossroads of Kensington Market a city park called Bellevue Square Although she sees no one who looks like her it only takes a few visits to the park for her to become obsessed with the possibility of encountering her twin in the flesh With the aid of a small army of locals who hang around in the park she expands her surveillance making it known she'll pay for information or sightings A peculiar collection of drug addicts scam artists philanthropists philosophers and vagrants the regulars of Bellevue Square are eager to contribute to Jean's investigation But when some of them start disappearing she fears her alleged double has a sinister agenda Unless Jean stops her she and everyone she cares about will face a fate much stranger than death National Magazine ... ,1900 Fidelity Michael Redhill,2010-05-07 From acclaimed poet and Giller nominated novelist Michael Redhill comes Fidelity a subtle but searing collection of short fiction By turns brooding strange and funny Fidelity probes the blandishments of temptation the swooning submission to concupiscence the illusory redemption of desire the ambivalence at the heart of the most intimate trust and most importantly the irony that when we betray we betray ourselves first His characters are not monsters or really even sinners Their vulnerabilities are our own a business trip affair leaves a man changed in ways he cannot anticipate a young girl's sexuality inflicts unexpected wounds on her family the young amanuensis of a 156 year old Civil War veteran tries to defend his hero from accusations of desertion a father of four pressured by his wife to undergo a vasectomy gradually learns that he is capable of infidelity when he contemplates the intolerable loss of his virility Spell binding and crackling with an unflinching attention to emotional detail Fidelity looks boldly at the transgressions of desire that seduce and sometimes break body and soul Undiscovered Country Kelly O'Connor McNees,2018-03-06 In 1932 New York City top reporter Lorena Hick Hickok starts each day with a front page byline and finishes it swigging bourbon and planning her next big scoop But an assignment to cover FDR's campaign and write a feature on his wife Eleanor turns Hick's hard won independent life on its ear Soon her work and the secret entanglement with the new first lady will take her from New York and Washington to Scotts Run West Virginia where impoverished coal miners families wait in fear that the New Deal's promised hope will pass them by Together Eleanor and Hick imagine how the new town of Arthurdale could change the fate of hundreds of lives But doing what is right does not come cheap and Hick will pay in ways she never could have imagined Consolation Michael Redhill,2009-02-24 There is a vast part of this city with mouths buried in it Mouths capable of speaking to us But we stop them up with concrete and build over them and whatever it is they wanted to say gets whispered down empty alleys and turns into wind These are among the last words of Professor David Hollis before he throws himself off a ferry into the frigid waters of Lake Ontario A renowned professor of forensic geology David leaves in his wake both a historical mystery and an academic scandal He postulated that on the site where a sports arena is about to be built lie the ruins of a Victorian boat containing an extraordinary treasure a strongbox full of hundreds of never seen photographs of early Toronto a priceless record of a lost city His colleagues however are convinced that he faked his research materials Determined to vindicate him his widow Marianne sets up camp in a hotel overlooking the construction site watching and waiting for the boat to be unearthed The only person to share her vigil is John Lewis fianc to her daughter Bridget An orphan who had come to love David as his own father John finds himself caught in a struggle between mother and daughter all the while keeping a dark secret from both women Interwoven into the contemporary story is another narrative set in 1850s the tale of Jem Hallam a young apothecary struggling to make a living in the harsh new city so he can bring his wife and daughters from England Crushed by ruthless competitors he develops an unlikely friendship with two other down on their luck Torontonians Samuel Ennis a brilliant but dissolute Irishman and Claudia Rowe a destitute widow Together they establish a photography business and set out to create images of a fledgling city where wooden sidewalks are put together with penny nails where Indians spear salmon at the river mouth and the occasional bear ambles down King Street where department stores display international wares and fine mansions sit cheek by jowl with shantytowns Consolation moves back and forth between David Hollis s legacy and Jem Hallam s struggle to survive ultimately revealing a mysterious connection between the two narratives Exquisitely crafted and masterfully written Michael Redhill s superlative book reveals how history is often transformed into a species of fantasy and how time alters the contours of even the things we hold most certain As complex and layered as the city whose story it tells Consolation evokes the mysteries of love and memory and what suffering the absence of the beloved truly means month long canoe trip in the Northwest Territories from the town of Rae to Hottah Lake They are following the Idaa trail a trade route that the Dogrib people have traveled for hundreds of years Etseh and Etsi traveled the Idaa trail when they were children and as they paddle north with their grandchildren they pass along their knowledge of special sites along the way and explain how their people survived in the old days building birch bark canoes fishing with willow lines and muskrat tooth hooks and ambushing herds of caribou This remarkable work based on ten years of archaeological research documents the past and present of one of the most intact tribal cultures of North America The Ecology of River Systems Bryan R. Davies, Keith F. Walker, 2013-03-09 Our understanding of the ecology of running waters has come a long way during the past few years From being a largely descriptive subject with a few under tones concerned with such things as fisheries pollution or control of blackflies it has evolved into a discipline with hypotheses such as the River Continuum Concept Vannote et al 1980 and even a book suggesting that it offers opportunity for the testing of ecological theory Barnes Minshall 1983 However perusal of the literature reveals that although some of the very early studies were concerned with large rivers references in Hynes 1970 the great mass of the work that has been done on running water has been on streams and small rivers and information on larger rivers is either on such limited topics as fisheries or plankton scattered among the journals or not available to the general limnologist The only exceptions are a few books in this series of publications such as those on the Nile Rz6ska 1976 the Volga Morduckai Boltovskoi 1979 and the Amazon Sioli 1984 and the recent compendium by Whitton 1984 on European rivers among which there are a few that rate as large
