Disserted Dunia Zongwe, 2023-09-30 Disserted is a groundbreaking comprehensive book that guides LL B students on how to craft a first class dissertation It tackles head on the triple crisis faced by law students in developing nations a crisis of doubting thinking and writing This crisis manifests itself in the form of poorly written dissertations This is the first book to show how to practically assemble a dissertation from the perspective of decoloniality This makes Disserted uniquely suited to students from the Global South considering that decoloniality empowers them to overcome the triple crisis. Indeed its originality in presenting practical advice and decolonial theory sets this book apart from the handful of guides on LL B dissertations. Existing resources and manuals are filled with generalities and lack in practicality. Written in student friendly prose its 23 chapters cover a wide range of topics including research proposals topic selection purpose and problem statements literature reviews digital tools and models powered by artificial intelligence AI the basics of legal prompt engineering plagiarism grammar and research methods. Each chapter offers secrets and deep insights drawing from the author's extensive experience in supervising LL B dissertations and research papers notably in Southern Africa and India. Though primarily targeting LL B students Disserted also serves as an essential companion and indispensable resource for supervisors law professors jurists and anyone interested in unraveling the complexities of writing dissertations. Overall Disserted underscores the importance of structured dissertation writing coupled with a decolonized research approach that subverts dominant perspectives exposes the role of AI and technology in entrenching the coloniality of knowledge and fosters a broader understanding of law.

Trade Agreements and Women Amrita Bahri, 2025-01-10. With more and more countries including provisions on women's concerns in their trade agreements Trade Agreements and Women: Transcending Barriers explores how women's empowerment and trade liberalization interact overlap and converge. Tapping into examples from across the globe and taking into consideration the diverse political economic social and legal contexts of different countries Amrita Bari poses and answers some key questions: What role can trade agreements play with regard to women's empowerment and what limitations do they have? Have previous efforts to include women through trade agreements been genuinely responsive to the needs of women or have they been merely symbolic? What ultimately makes a trade agreement responsive to the needs of women and how can countries achieve this in their own trade agreements? In answering these questions Bahri carves out a roadmap with concrete recommendations for the future of women related trade provisions and offers much needed guidance for legal scholars trade negotiators and policymakers involved in preparing revising and inclusively negotiating trade regulations.

Legal Knowledge and Information Systems Enrico Francesconi, Giovanni Sartor, Daniela Tiscornia, 2008. From its very beginning legal informatics was mostly limited to the study of legal databases but very early on the Institute of Legal Information Theory and Techniques ITTIG started being involved with the specific topic of the Jurix conference namely knowledge based systems. This book includes programmatic papers with precise accounts of applications and prototypes. In many domains the focus has changed. For instance research in retrieval has moved from classical Boolean systems into the management of documents in the Web. It addresses in particular standards and methods for embedding machine readable information into such documents and search methods that deal with heterogeneous information. Similarly with regard to legal concepts the focus has moved from thesauri to ontologies or to techniques for the automatic extraction of concepts from natural language texts. In the domain of legal reasoning merely deductive inferences have been expanded with models of legal argumentation dialogue and mediation The conference Logica informatica e diritto 1981 and Jurix 2008 share the connection between theoretical models and the development of applications and prototypes However while in 1981 one could mostly see a juxtaposition of papers in legal theory and papers in computer applications in 2008 we can see how discussions of issues in legal theory are embedded within contributions to legal informatics This shows how research in legal informatics is increasingly becoming an autonomous domain of scientific inquiry by creatively incorporating and developing knowledge and methods from the two disciplines from which it originates legal theory and computer science while preserving links with them
