

The book cover features a detailed illustration of two large, fluffy, downy birds, possibly emus or ostriches, standing on a rocky, uneven ground. The bird on the left has vibrant orange and yellow down, while the one on the right has dark green and black down. In the background, there are dark, jagged rock formations under a deep blue, twilight sky. The title 'LEGENDS OF THE DREAMTIME' is printed in a large, white, serif font across the upper portion of the cover.

Australia's Jindyworobak Composers David Symons,2020-11-29 Australia s Jindyworobak Composers examines the music of a historically and artistically significant group of Australian composers active during the later post colonial period 1930s c 1960 These composers sought to establish a uniquely Australian identity through the evocation of the country s landscape and environment including notably the use of Aboriginal elements or imagery in their music texts dramatic scenarios or programmes Nevertheless it must be observed that this word was originally adopted as a manifesto for an Australian literary movement and was for the most part only retrospectively applied by commentators rather than the composers themselves to art music that was seen to share similar aesthetic aims Chapter One demonstrates to what extent a meaningful relationship may or may not be discernible between the artistic tenets of Jindyworobak writers and apparently likeminded composers In doing so it establishes the context for a full exploration of the music of Australian composers to whom Jindyworobak has come to be popularly applied The following chapters explore the music of composers writing within the Jindyworobak period itself and finally the later twentieth century afterlife of Jindyworobakism This will be of particular interest to scholars and researchers of Ethnomusicology Australian Music and Music History
