Leningrad St Petersburg Map:

The Legacy of the Siege of Leningrad, 1941-1995 Lisa A. Kirschenbaum, 2009-10-19 The siege of Leningrad constituted one of the most dramatic episodes of World War II one that individuals and the state began to commemorate almost immediately Official representations of heroic Leningrad omitted and distorted a great deal Nonetheless survivors struggling to cope with painful memories often internalized even if they did not completely accept the state's myths and they often found their own uses for the state's monuments Tracing the overlap and interplay of individual memories and fifty years of Soviet mythmaking this book contributes to understandings of both the power of Soviet identities and the delegitimizing potential of the Soviet Union's chief legitimizing myths Because besieged Leningrad blurred the boundaries between the largely male battlefield and the predominantly female home front it offers a unique vantage point for a study of the gendered dimensions of the war experience urban space individual memory and public commemoration Dictionary Catalog of the Map Division New York Public Library. Map Division, 1971 The World Map Directory 1992-1993 Aaron Maizlish, William Tefft, 1992 Maps of Medieval Thought Naomi Reed Kline, 2003 Mappa mundi texts and images present a panorama of the medieval world view c 1300 the Hereford map studied in close detail Filled with information and lore mappae mundi present an encyclopaedic panorama of the conceptual landscape of the middle ages Previously objects of study for cartographers and geographers the value of medieval maps to scholars in other fields is now recognised and this book written from an art historical perspective illuminates the medieval view of the world represented in a group of maps of c 1300 Naomi Kline's detailed examination of the literary visual oral and textual evidence of the Hereford mappa mundi and others like it such as the Psalter Maps the Sawley Map and the Ebstorf Map places them within the larger context of medieval art and intellectual history The mappa mundi in Hereford cathedral is at the heart of this study it has more than one thousand texts and images of geographical subjects monuments animals plants peoples biblical sites and incidents legendary material historical information and much more distinctions between real and fantastic are fluid time and space are telescoped presenting past present and future Naomi Kline provides for the first time a full and detailed analysis of the images and texts of the Hereford map which thus deciphered allow comparison with related mappae mundi as well as with other texts and images NAOMI REED KLINE is Professor of Art History at Plymouth State College A History of the Second World War in 100 Maps Jeremy Black, 2020-11-18 The First World War was marked by an exceptional expansion in the use and production of military cartography But World War II took things even further employing maps charts reconnaissance and the systematic recording and processing of geographical and topographical information on an unprecedented scale As Jeremy Black one of the world's leading military and cartographic historians convincingly shows in this lavish full color book it is impossible to understand the events and outcomes of the Second World War without deep reference to mapping at all levels In World War II maps themselves became the weapons A History of the Second World War in 100 Maps traces how military cartography developed from simply recording and reflecting history to having a decisive impact on events of a global scale Drawing on one hundred key maps from the unparalleled collections of the British Library and other sources many of which have never been published in book form before Jeremy Black takes us from the prewar mapping programs undertaken by both Germany and the United Kingdom in the mid 1930s through the conflict s end a decade later Black shows how the development of maps led directly to the planning of the complex and fluid maneuvers that defined the European theater in World War II for example aerial reconnaissance photography allowed for the charting of beach gradients and ocean depths in the runup to the D Day landings and the subsequent troop movements at Normandy would have been impossible without the help of situation maps and photos In the course of the conflict both in Europe and the Pacific the realities of climate terrain and logistics recorded on maps overcame the Axis powers Maps also became propaganda tools as the pages of Time outlined the directions of the campaigns and the Allies dropped maps from their aircraft In this thrilling and unique book Jeremy Black blends his singular cartographic and military expertise into a captivating overview of World War II from the air sea and sky making clear how fundamental maps were to every aspect of this unforgettable global conflict Maps and Politics Jeremy Black,2000-12 Do maps accurately and objectively present the information we expect them to portray or are they instead colored by the political purposes of their makers In this lively and well illustrated book Jeremy Black investigates this dangerous territory arguing persuasively that the supposed objectivity of the map making and map using process cannot be divorced from aspects of the politics of representation Reconstruction and Restoration of Architectural Heritage 2021 Sergey Sementsov,Alexander Leontyev,Huerta Santiago,2021-07-27 Reconstruction and Restoration of Architectural Heritage 2021 presents contributions on various aspects of the study protection and restoration of architectural monuments and on the reconstruction of major historical urban development sites Moreover various complex and problematic aspects of engineering reconstruction of monuments are discussed A wide range of issues is considered in the process of preserving historical heritage including the historical formation of buildings construction and territories the conservation reconstruction and restoration of buildings and constructions the transformation of historical spaces and areas parallels and features in the development of urban planning architecture and construction art in Russia and Spain the fate and work of Augustine Augustinovich Betancourt This collection of papers combines contributions about the history and restoration of many of the largest nature reserves estates cities and monuments It is intended for academics and professionals involved in the history and restoration of nature reserves estates cities and monuments A Cartographic Analysis of Soviet Military City Plans Martin Davis,2021-09-29 The collapse of the Soviet Union has seen the emergence of its unprecedentedly comprehensive global secret military mapping project and the commercial availability of a vast number of detailed topographic maps and city plans at several scales This thesis provides an in depth examination of the series of over 2 000 large scale city plans produced in secret by the Military Topographic Directorate of the General Staff between the end of the Second World War and the collapse of the USSR in 1991 After positioning the series in its historical context the nature and content of the plans are examined in detail A poststructuralist perspective introduces possibilities to utilise and apply the maps in new contexts which this thesis facilitates by providing a systematic empirical analysis of the Soviet map symbology at 1 10 000 and 1 25 000 using new translations of production manuals and a sample of the city plans A comparative analysis with the current OpenStreetMap symbology indicates scope for Soviet mapping to be used as a valuable supplementary topographic resource in a variety of existing and future global mapping initiatives including humanitarian crisis mapping This leads to a conclusion that the relevance and value of Soviet military maps endure in modern applications both as a source of data and as a means of overcoming contemporary cartographic challenges relating to symbology design and the handling of large datasets

Geochemical Atlas of Eastern Barents Region R. Salminen,V. Chekushin,M. Tenhola,I. Bogatyrev,V. Gregorauskiene,E. Fedotova,G. Kashulina,H. Niskavaara,S.P. Glavatskikh,A. Polischuk,O. Tomilina,Kari Rissanen,L. Zhdanova,2005-02-09 From 1999 to 2003 a multipurpose regional geochemical mapping project was carried out in Finland and the NW part of Russia An important aim of the project is to define the anthropogenic impact in relation to the natural variations in regional geochemical baselines of heavy metals and other elements over a large area containing several of the largest industrial emitters in Europe but also some of its most pristine areas Terrestrial moss the organic layer stream waters and the C horizon soil samples were collected from 1085 sites in Russia and 288 sites in Finland giving an average density of one site per 1000 km² Both total and aqua regia extractable element concentrations were determined from Maps showing the distribution of 48 elements and other parameters are included in this atlas The anomaly patterns of minerogenic C horizon data are strongly controlled by element distributions in the bedrock Stream water data are mainly controlled by geological formations and structures both for major and trace elements but in some cases the influence of anthropogenic activities could be detected as elevated heavy metal concentrations. Anomaly patterns from moss data reflect mainly anthropogenic activities but in areas such as mountains and tundra the geogenic dust also has a strong influence. It was not possible to detect any long distance airborne transport of heavy metals from industrialized areas to clean arctic regions.
