

HOW TO PREPARE FOR A HOME INSPECTION?

Discover our home selling checklist below, and make preparing for home inspection a breeze!

CLEAN UP

Home inspectors will thoroughly comb through your entire home, even the nooks and crannies you may not be thinking of. To improve the quality of your home overall and all the areas your inspector will assess, it's best to keep your home organized and clean without any clutter sitting around.

MAKE REPAIRS

From lights to plumbing to roofing, there are all sorts of elements of your house that may require some fixing. Be sure to thoroughly assess what your home requires ahead of your inspection so you can effectively address these issues.

TRIM YOUR LANDSCAPING

Your landscaping serves as a welcome to your home. Maintaining this landscaping not only gives a good impression but also can keep your home in the best condition as well. These exterior tasks can be just as important as the interior ones to ensure that your home is up to par.

ENSURE ACCESS TO NECESSARY AREAS

For the inspection, you will need to provide your inspector with access to many different areas of your home. Things such as the water heater, attic, basement, crawl space, fuse box, and any other access points to important fixtures in your home should be easy to access. If you need to provide any keys, be sure to do that as well.

TURN ON THE PILOT LIGHTS

Pilot lights are small flames that light the gas on any gas-fired appliances. They are commonly found on water heaters and furnaces. If your home has these appliances, you should turn the pilot light on in advance because inspectors are not legally allowed to do so themselves for liability reasons.

CHECK YOUR PLUMBING

Plumbing issues are very common, but they can be detrimental to a home. Many of the small ones, however, are simple to fix. Running toilets, leaky faucets, slow drains, and other minor leaks are typically found in many homes, but they can be easily fixed without any professional help.

KEEP YOUR PETS OUT OF THE WAY

Your furry friends shouldn't be present for your inspection. Not only can it be stressful for them if they're present, but it can also create a mess or prevent the inspector from completing parts of their inspection.
