Homeland Lost:

Homelands Nadav G. Shelef, 2020-07-15 Why are some territorial partitions accepted as the appropriate borders of a nation's homeland whereas in other places conflict continues despite or even because of division of territory In Homelands Nadav G. Shelef develops a theory of what homelands are that acknowledges both their importance in domestic and international politics and their change over time These changes he argues driven by domestic political competition and help explain the variation in whether partitions resolve conflict Homelands also provides systematic comparable data about the homeland status of lost territory over time that allow it to bridge the persistent gap between constructivist theories of nationalism and positivist empirical analyses of international relations The Newfoundland Diaspora Jennifer Bowering Delisle, 2013-06-01 Out migration driven by high unemployment and a floundering economy has been a defining aspect of Newfoundland society for well over a century and it reached new heights with the cod moratorium in 1992 This Newfoundland diaspora has had a profound impact on the province's literature Many writers and scholars have referred to Newfoundland out migration as a diaspora but few have examined the theoretical implications of applying this contested term to a predominantly inter provincial movement of mainly white economically motivated migrants The Newfoundland Diaspora argues that diaspora helpfully references the painful displacement of a group whose members continue to identify with each other and with the homeland It examines important literary works of the Newfoundland diaspora including the poetry of E J Pratt the drama of David French the fiction of Donna Morrissey and Wayne Johnston and the memoirs of David Macfarlane These works are the sites of a broad inquiry into the theoretical flashpoints of affect diasporic authenticity nationalism race and ethnicity The literature of the Newfoundland diaspora both contributes to and responds to critical movements in Canadian literature and culture querying the place of regional national and ethnic affiliations in a literature drawn along the borders of the nation state This diaspora plays a part in defining Canada even as it looks beyond the borders of Canada as a literary community Desert Notebooks Ben Ehrenreich, 2021-07-06 Layering climate science mythologies nature writing and personal experiences this New York Times Notable Book presents a stunning reckoning with our current moment and with the literal and figurative end of time Desert Notebooks examines how the unprecedented pace of destruction to our environment and an increasingly unstable geopolitical landscape have led us to the brink of a calamity greater than any humankind has confronted before As inhabitants of the Anthropocene what might some of our own histories tell us about how to confront apocalypse And how might the geologies and ecologies of desert spaces inform how we see and act toward time the pasts we have erased and paved over this anxious present the future we have no choice but to build Ehrenreich draws on the stark grandeur of the desert to ask how we might reckon with the uncertainty that surrounds us and fight off the crises that have already begun In the canyons and oases of the Mojave and in Las Vegas's neon apocalypse Ehrenreich finds beauty and even hope surging up in the most unlikely places from the most barren rocks and the apparent emptiness of the sky Desert Notebooks is a vital and necessary chronicle of our past and our present unflinching urgent yet timeless and profound

The Bosniaks Jasmin Mujanovic, 2024-01-01 For the first time in nearly two centuries one ethnic group now constitutes an absolute majority of Bosnia and Herzegovina s population the Bosniaks It is an unlikely development given that scarcely thirty years ago they were targeted for extermination and expulsion by Serbia s Slobodan Milosevic Even as the Bosniak community fought to survive these atrocities it simultaneously came under attack from militants led by Croatian president Franjo Tu man who attempted to partition Bosnia and Herzegovina between Zagreb and Belgrade Improbably the Bosniaks and the Bosnian state survived these campaigns But the country s fractious sectarian post war order has produced the world s most convoluted constitutional regime always teetering on the brink of collapse Jasmin Mujanovic illuminates the sources of contemporary Bosniak political identity tracing the evolution of a religious community into a secular nation and shedding light on the future of a nation at a crossroads He explores the idea of Bosnia and Herzegovina as a national homeland considers how narratives of genocide influence self identity and probes how demographic changes are putting pressure on the country s political framework The fate of Bosnia and Herzegovina s peace and democracy rests on the Bosniaks shoulders and with it the stability of all Southeastern Europe

History, Memory and Nostalgia in Literature and Culture Regina Rudaitytė, 2018-07-27 The advent of the new age has alerted us to the conflicted nature of historical memory which defined the 20th century while simultaneously assaulting us with new historical upheavals that demand responsibility and critical consideration As the historical text bears traces of the writing subject the element of deception is remarkable meaning historical memory easily lends itself to forgery and false and subjective projections As such how do we think about the past about history about memory and how does memory function Is history an objective account a collection of dry reliable facts Is it an imaginative narrative tinged with nostalgia a projection of our wishful thinking the workings of our subjective perceptions and attitudes our states of mind The essays in this volume focus on the relevance of the past to the present and future in terms of the shifting attitudes to personal and collective experiences that have shaped dominant Western critical discourses about history memory and nostalgia The contributors here take issue with the epistemological hermeneutic ethical and aesthetic dimensions of the representational practices through which we revisit and revise the meaning of the past

Postcolonial Settings in the Fiction of James Clarence Mangan, Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu and Bram Stoker Richard Jorge, 2023-10-09 This book explores how three Anglo-Irish writers J C Mangan J S Le Fanu and Bram Stoker use settings in their short fictions to recreate depict and confront Ireland's colonial situation in the nineteenth century. This study provides an innovative approach by targeting a genre the short story which has not been explored in its entirety certainly not within nineteenth century Ireland much less using a postcolonial approach to the short story. Added to this is the fact that it analyses how these writers used settings as an anticolonial tool. To do so the book is divided into two major sections an analysis of Irish settings and non Irish ones. It works on the premise that all three writers used the idea of displacement to target colonialism and its effects on Irish society. In short this book addresses a gap in scholarship as the Irish Gothic short story as a decolonizing tool has not been sufficiently and globally studied.
