Homeless At Home:

How to Get from Homeless to Home L. E. E. BANTA, 2009-10-31 It's true that anyone can become homeless. It is also true that anyone can lend a helping hand to someone who is already homeless. In this new and inspiring book, author/storyteller Lee E. Banta provides resources and ways that communities and individuals can use to reach out to others and help them find their way back home to a productive life filled with health and love.

Home John S. Allen, 2015-12-29 A leading anthropologist studies the science behind feeling at home to show us how home made us human. Home is where the heart is. Security, comfort, even love are all feelings that are centered on the humble abode. But what if there is more to the feeling of being at home? Neuroanthropologist John S. Allen believes that the human habitat is one of the most important products of human cognitive, technological, and cultural evolution over the past two million years. In Home, Allen argues that to feel at home is more than just an expression but reflects a deep-seated cognitive basis for the human desire to have, use, and enjoy a place of one's own. Allen addresses the very basic question: How did a place to sleep become a home? Within human evolution, he ranks house and home as a signature development of our species as it emerged alongside cooperative hunting, language, and other critical aspects of humanity. Many animals burrow, making permanent home bases, but primates, generally speaking, do not. Most wander, making nests at night wherever they might find themselves. This is often in home territory, but it isn't quite home. Our hominid ancestors were wanderers too, so how did we, over the past several million years, find our way home? To tell that story, Allen will take us through evolutionary anthropology, neuroscience, the study of emotion, and modern sociology. He examines the home from the inside of our heads out: homes are built with our brains as much as with our hands and tools. Allen argues that the thing that may have been most critical in our evolution is not the physical aspect of a home but developing a feeling of defining, creating, and being in a home, whatever its physical form. The result was an environment relatively secure against whatever horrors lurked outside that enabled the expensive but creative human mind to reach its full flowering. Today, with the threat of homelessness, child foster care, and foreclosure, this idea of having a home is more powerful than ever. In a clear and accessible writing style, Allen sheds light on the deep cognitive sources of the pleasures of having a home, the evolution of those behaviors, and why they matter. Home is the story about how humans evolved to create a space not only for shelter but also for nurturing creativity, innovation, and culture, and why feeling at home is a fundamental aspect of the human condition.

Homeless Hero Mike Tapscott, 2013-07 Homeless Hero: Understanding the Soul of Home considers the human mission to know the soul and navigate life experiences. When pain and emptiness show up in life, only those who undertake the hero's journey grow into a place of understanding where they can then flourish. Mike Tapscott was watching a movie at a resource center for homeless people when he developed the idea for this book. The movie workshop at Lodestar Day Resource Center in Phoenix, Arizona, teaches life's lessons through the magic of cinema. The lessons manifest through a series of dramatic events: hearing a call to adventure, refusing the call, crossing a threshold encountering tests allies and enemies being unable to turn back soul searching finding reward returning with the story and experiencing resurrection These events are what life is all about The hero's journey through homelessness just one symptom of the challenge of overcoming emotional pain is one way to help change individuals and then change tracks patterns and less than constructive behaviors Here is a compilation of experiences from Tapscott's 36 hour experimental journey into life on the streets his own volunteer work and through interviews with employees in the social service system other volunteers and homeless individuals Homeless Hero is a case study an experiment an adventure and a multi layered examination of American society that seeks to help you understand the moving picture of your own hero's journey

Finding Home: Policy Options for Addressing Homelessness in Canada, 2009 No Home in a Homeland Julia Christensen, 2017-02-15 The Dene a traditionally nomadic people have no word for homelessness a rare condition in the Canadian North prior to the 1990s In No Home in a Homeland Julia Christensen documents the rise of Indigenous homelessness and argues that this alarming trend will continue so long as policy makers continue to ignore northern perspectives and root causes which lie deep in the region's colonial past Christensen interweaves analysis of the region's unique history with the personal stories of people living homeless in two cities Yellowknife and Inuvik These individual and collective narratives tell a larger story of displacement and exclusion residential schools and family breakdown addiction and poor mental health poverty and unemployment and urbanization and institutionalization But they also tell a story of hope and renewal Understanding what it means to be homeless in the North and how Indigenous people think about home and homemaking is the first step Christensen argues on the path to decolonizing existing approaches and practices

Homelessness Neil Larry Shumsky, 2012-01-16 This book presents an unflinching investigation of homelessness in the United States a problem that has been with us since the arrival of the first English settlers nearly 400 years ago The terms historically used to describe them include bums hoboes migrants street people transients tramps and vagrants Just as varied as the words we have used to describe them are the reasons many people have found themselves living in the land of opportunity without permanent residence The book considers homelessness and its distinctive character in three periods of American history the era of tramps and hoboes in the late 1800s early 1900s the era of transients and migrants in the 1930s and the era of homeless and street people in the last 40 years It clarifies the multiple meanings of the word homeless today and demonstrates that homelessness is a symptom of more than one problem leading to confusion about the issue of homelessness and hampering attempts to reduce its occurrence Author Neil Larry Shumsky PhD also postulates that the treatment of homelessness in England before the colonization of North America laid the foundation of pervasive American attitudes and practices

Home: Here to Stay Mere Kepa, Marilyn McPherson, Linita Manu'atu, 2015-11-16 This is a collection of twelve academic essays that consider understandings of home and the impact of dominant societies on indigenous societies and their homes The book covers home and language preservation homelessness retention of land relationships in post industrial capitalist society In Youth Homelessness and Survival Sex Watson's insightful analysis of personal narratives reveals how young homeless women are exposed to situations in which survival can be impeded or assisted by playing out specific gender roles Indeed in identifying and contesting the dominant social discourses that young homeless women draw upon to frame their experiences of intimate affairs Watson challenges the reader to understand how gendered subjectivities are produced and performed through heteronormative relationships This enlightening book is vital in showing that homelessness is not a gender neutral phenomenon and that there are gender specific processes and practices involved in the navigation of poverty violence and social exclusion Youth Homelessness and Survival Sex will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as Homelessness Youth Studies Social Work and Gender Studies Youth Homelessness in Late Modernity David Farrugia, 2015-07-30

This book explores the identities embodied experiences and personal relationships of young people experiencing homelessness and analyses these in relation to the material and symbolic position that youth homelessness occupies in modern societies Drawing on empirical research conducted in both urban and rural areas the book situates young people's experiences of homelessness within a theoretical framework that connects embodied identities and relationships with processes of social change The book theorises a symbolic economy of youth homelessness that encompasses the subjective aesthetic and relational dimensions of homelessness This theory shows the personal interpersonal and affective suffering that is caused by the relations of power and privilege that produce contemporary youth homelessness The book is unique in the way in which it places youth homelessness within the wider contexts of inequality and social change Whilst contemporary discussions of youth homelessness understand the topic as a discrete social problem this book demonstrates the position that youth homelessness occupies within wider social processes inequalities and theoretical debates addressing theories of social change in late modernity and their relationship to the cultural construction of youth These theoretical debates are made concrete by means of an exploration of an important form of contemporary inequality youth homelessness Homeless

Lives in American Cities P. Webb, 2014-08-07 Homeless Lives in American Cities explores how the American discourse on homelessness arose from Victorian social and political anxieties about the impacts of immigration and urbanization on the middle class family It demonstrates how contemporary social work and policy emerge from Victorian cultural attitudes

Facing homelessness Stephan de Beer, Rehana Vally, 2022-02-10 In Facing homelessness Finding inclusionary collaborative solutions we face the other and in facing the other we face ourselves This book contributes to an emerging body of knowledge on street homelessness in the South African context It is meant for researchers and scholars who are committed to finding solutions for street homelessness It offers conceptual frameworks and practical guidelines for a liberating and transformative response to homelessness It brings together authors from a wide range of disciplines fusing the rigour of researchers the vision of activists and the lived experience of practitioners In this volume the causes of street homelessness in South Africa today and its different faces are traced It critiques singular solutions and interrogates the political institutional and moral failures that contribute to the systemic exclusion of homeless persons and other vulnerable populations from society It proposes rights based interventions as part of a radical re imagination of how street homelessness can be ended one person and one neighbourhood at a time The analysis by the authors steers the direction of new ways of doing and being that could demonstrate concrete viable and sustainable alternatives to the exclusionary realities faced by homeless persons It argues for solution based approaches aimed at radical forms of social inclusion and achieved through broad based and creative collaborations by all spheres of society In the face and presence of street homelessness as one expression of urban vulnerability and deep socio economic inequality society is confronted with a clear political institutional moral and personal obligation This volume calls for a reclamation of community in its most inclusionary life affirming and interdependent sense asserting that we truly are well because of others and we are unwell if others are It is a call to reclaim our common humanity in the context of inclusive communities where all are equally welcome and bestowed with dignity and honour

Family Homelessness Karleen Jackson, 2021-12-24 First published in 2000 This book examines the multiple factors which contribute to family homelessness and uses quantitative and qualitative analyses to identify those factors which represent the major supports and barriers to homeless exit and housing stability Results show that while family homelessness is not caused by a single issue but a combination of issues including alcohol substance abuse untreated mental illness domestic violence family configuration lack of community or social supports and or lack of affordable housing options community and social supports provide the single most significant impact on the ability of families to exit homelessness and maintain stable housing Quantitative data suggests that investing in community social supports for homeless families could facilitate their exit from homelessness and increase housing stability for families at risk while reducing those supports might increase homelessness Qualitative data indicates that supportive relationships are instrumental to understanding that while homelessness is a terrible experience those who experience homelessness are not terrible people Furthermore recognizing that a loss of housing does not necessarily mean the loss of one's symbolic representation of home could assist families in viewing homelessness as a transformational learning experience rather than a traumatic failure

Homelessness and Mobile Communication Justine Humphry, 2022-10-20 This book examines how mobile phones and the internet have become a vital part of the everyday lives of people experiencing homelessness But the access mobile phones provide is costly insecure and limited producing an experience of being precariously connected Drawing on findings of research conducted with over one hundred young people families and adults experiencing homelessness in Australia and the United States this book analyses homelessness as a mediated condition and explores the underpinning processes that shape digital disparities It contributes to scholarship on mobile communication and inequality highlighting the digital patterns issues and difficulties of a group disproportionately affected by service reform and developments in digital citizenship smart cities and algorithmic governance Homelessness S. P. K. Jena, 2020-05-10 This book provides insights into the experiences of homelessness while exploring its psychological and socio economic dimensions Hunger addiction and disability which often accompany homelessness are brought into focus and discussed within the frameworks of promoting social welfare and enabling human capability in this volume Based on the author's ethnographic and quantitative research on homeless families living on the streets of Delhi this book identifies some of the most acute problems associated with homelessness It analyzes the causes of homelessness and draws connections between social bonds and family socio economic status and psychopathology It also includes personal accounts of hardship and trauma which quantify the systematic discrimination and marginalization that people living on the streets face The volume offers policy recommendations to protect the right to self determination dignity and self efficacy of the homeless and help rehabilitate them It will be a useful guide for students and researchers of social sciences specializing in psychology sociology economics and development studies The book will also be of interest to mental health professionals and policy makers in designing effective strategies Narrating Childhood with Children and Young People Lisa Moran, Kathy Reilly, Bernadine Brady, 2020-10-29 This volume draws together scholarly contributions from diverse yet interlinking disciplinary fields with the aim of critically examining the value of narrative inquiry in understanding the everyday lives of children and young people in diverse spaces and places including the home recreational spaces communities and educational spaces Incorporating insights from sociology geography education child and youth studies social care and social work the collection emphasises how narrative research approaches present storytelling as a universally recognizable valuable and effective methodological approach with children and young people The chapters point to the diversity of spaces and places encountered by children and young people considers how young people tell tales about their lives and highlights the multidimensionality of narrative research in capturing their everyday lived experiences

Elements of Architecture Mikkel Bille, Tim Flohr Sorensen, 2016-02-26 Elements of Architecture explores new ways of engaging architecture in archaeology It conceives of architecture both as the physical evidence of past societies and as existing beyond the physical environment considering how people in the past have not just dwelled in buildings but have existed within them The book engages with the meeting point between these two perspectives For although archaeologists must deal with the presence and absence of physicality as a discipline which studies humans through things to understand humans they must also address the performances as well as temporal and affective impacts of these material remains The contributions in this volume investigate the way time performance and movement both physically and emotionally are central aspects of understanding architectural assemblages It is a book about the constellations of people places and things that emerge and dissolve as affective mobile performative and temporal engagements This volume juxtaposes archaeological research with perspectives from anthropology architecture cultural geography and philosophy in order to explore the kaleidoscopic intersections of elements coming together in architecture Documenting the ephemeral relational and emotional meeting points with a category of material objects that have defined much research into what it means to be human Elements of Architecture elucidates and expands upon a crucial body of evidence which allows us to explore the lives and interactions of past societies The A-Z of PSE Bernard Williams,1999 Grade level 9 10 11 12 i s t
