European Court of Human Rights even though the outcome of the application seems to be somewhat different

Understanding Film Mike Wayne, 2005-05-20 Film remains one of the most dominant cultural forms in the world today Crossing classes and cultures it permeates many aspects of our consciousness In film perhaps more than any other medium we can read the politics of time and place past and present The history of Marxism has intersected with film in many ways and this book is a timely reminder of the fruits of that intersection in film theory and film practice Marxist film theory returns to film studies some of the key concepts which make possible a truly radical political understanding of the medium and its place both within capitalism and against it This book shows how questions of ideology technology and industry must be situated in relation to class a category which academia is distinctly uncomfortable with Exploring the work of some of the key theorists who have influenced our understanding of film such as Adorno Althusser Benjamin Brecht Gramsci Jameson and others It shows how films must be situated in their social and historical contexts whether Hollywood Russian Cuban Chinese or North Korean cinema The authors explore the political contradictions and tensions within dominant cinema and discuss how Marxist filmmakers have pushed the medium in new and exciting directions
