Armed Forces in Law Enforcement Operations? - The German and European Perspective Kim Eduard Lioe, 2010-11-25 At the center of this study lies the allocation of responsibilities and the division of labor between the armed forces and the mission of the police as well as other security forces in Europe The mission of these forces defines the demarcation line between the spheres of internal and external security by assigning the former to the police and the latter to the armed forces The focal idea is the evaluation of the feasibility of a strict separation as maintained in Germany in a European context practical difficulties in its application and potential ways to overcome such difficulties This comprises in particular a comparison of the German Way with other European states and the corresponding methods chosen against the background of joint operations abroad

Peacekeeping and Stability Issues Keith D. Gerbick, Marjorie Ann Browne, Nina M. Serafino, Martin A. Weiss, 2007 As the international political climate grows increasingly volatile peacekeeping operations have become a mainstay in troubled regions The alternative to military occupation is either to train indigenous police forces or to hire security corporations Policy makers are worried that these forces are not capable of maintaining peace In addition moral and legal issues are factors for policy makers that are debating the extent to which peacekeeping forces should be allowed to infiltrate societies in turmoil Other issues of concern that this book examines are the United States relationship with the U N and the World Bank as all three pursue their different responsibilities in peacekeeping

You, the People Simon Chesterman, 2005 The governance of post conflict territories embodies a central contradiction how does one help a population prepare for democratic governance and the rule of law by imposing a form of benevolent autocracy Transitional administrations represent the most complex operations attempted by the United Nations The operations in East Timor and Kosovo are commonly seen as unique in the history of the UN perhaps never to be repeated But they may also be seen as the latest in a series of operations that have involved the United Nations in state building activities where it has attempted to develop the institutions of government by assuming some or all of those sovereign powers on a temporary basis The circumstances that have demanded such interventions certainly will be repeated Seen in the context of earlier UN operations such as those in Namibia Cambodia and Eastern Slavonia the view that these exceptional circumstances may not recur is somewhat disingenuous Moreover the need for such policy research has been brought into sharp focus by the weighty but ambiguous role assigned to the UN in Afghanistan and the possibility of a comparable role in Iraq This book fills that gap Aimed at policy makers diplomats and a wide academic audience including international relations political science international law and war studies the book provides a concise history of UN state building operations and a treatment of the five key issues confronting such an operation on the ground peace and security the role of the UN as government judicial reconstruction economic reconstruction and exit strategies Peacekeeping and Related Stability Operations Nina M. Serafino, 2005 One of the most crucial and difficult tasks in peacekeeping and related stability operations is creating a secure and stable environment both for the foreign peacekeepers and for the indigenous population During the past decade the United States and the international community have tried various approaches to providing that security Most of these approaches have included the use of United Nations International Civilian Police UNCIVPOL whose forces are contributed on a case by case basis by UN member states While other countries usually contribute police personnel from their own national forces the United States contracts those it contributes through a private corporation In a few cases such as Afghanistan and Iraq at this time coalition and US military forces and not the United Nation train and work with indigenous police forces to provide security This book presents an up to date evaluation of current issues in peacekeeping Local Legitimacy in Peacebuilding Birte Julia Gippert, 2017-08-15 This book analyses the role of legitimacy in explaining local actors compliance with international peacebuilding operations The book provides a comparative micro level study of local actors reasons for compliance with or resistance to international peacebuilding Specifically it analyses three pathways to compliance legitimacy coercion and reward seeking to explore local police officers compliance with the reforms stipulated by the EU Police Mission in Bosnia and the EU Rule of Law Mission in Kosovo The work constructs a holistic framework of the mechanisms connecting each pathway to compliance and measures legitimacy using micro level indicators This study not only shines light on the question why local actors comply a crucial factor in mission effectiveness but it also illuminates exactly how compliance works The book contributes nuanced evidence about the often heralded importance of legitimacy in peacebuilding showing exactly in which situations local legitimacy matters and in which it does not It is also highly relevant for policy makers as it unpacks and explains the mechanisms behind local legitimacy assisting in understanding this usually nebulous concept This book demonstrates the need for micro level analysis by revealing the relevant processes of legitimation usually hidden behind commonly perceived social fault lines such as the Serb Albanian divide in Kosovo This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding war and conflict studies Balkans politics security studies and International Relations The New International Policing B. Greener, 2009-03-12 Police personnel have increasingly been deployed outside their own domestic jurisdictions to uphold law and order and to help rebuild states This book explores the phenomenon of a new international policing and outlines the range of challenges and opportunities it presents to both practitioners and theorists Developing Iraq's Security Sector Andrew Rathmell, Olga Oliker, Terrence K. Kelly, David Brannan, Keith Crane, 2006-01-05 From May 2003 to June 28 2004 when it handed over authority to the Iraqi Interim Government the Coalition Provisional Authority CPA worked to field Iraqi security forces and to develop security sector institutions This book all of whose authors were advisors to the CPA breaks out the various elements of Iraq's security sector including the defense interior and justice sectors and assesses the CPA's successes and failures

United Nations Peacekeeping Challenge Anna Powles, Negar Partow, 2016-03-09 Drawing from a diverse range of military policing academic and policymakers experiences this book seeks to provide solutions of how national militaries and police can work together to better support future United Nations peacekeeping operations It addresses the growing tension between increasing non combat related responsibilities being placed on land forces and the ability of UN peacekeeping forces to fulfil the demands of government and development tasks in fragile and conflict affected environments An original contribution to the debate on UN peacekeeping reforms that includes constructing an enhanced partnership for peacekeeping building on renewed commitment to share the burden and for regional cooperation providing peacekeepers with the necessary capabilities to protect civilians and supporting nations in transition from conflict to stabilisation This book offers the very latest in informed analysis and decision making on UN peacekeeping reform     Peace Operations Paul F. Diehl, Alexandru Balas, 2014-06-05 As peace operations become the primary mechanism of conflict management used by the UN and regional organizations understanding their problems and potential is essential for a more secure world In this revised and updated second edition Paul Diehl and Alexandru Balas provide a cutting edge analysis of the central issues surrounding the development operation and effectiveness of peace operations Among many features the book Traces the historical development of peace operations from their origins in the early 20th century through the development of modern peacebuilding missions and multiple simultaneous peace operations Tracks changes over time in the size mission and organization of peace operations Analyses different organizational financial and troop provisions for peace operations as well as assessing alternatives Lays out criteria for evaluating peace operations and details the conditions under which such operations are successful Drawing on a wide range of examples from those between Israel and her neighbours to more recent operations in Bosnia Somalia Darfur East Timor and the Congo this new edition brings together the body of scholarly research on peace operations to address those concerns It will be an indispensable guide for students practitioners and general readers wanting to broaden their knowledge of the possibilities and limits of peace operations today     Forging New Conventional Wisdom Beyond International Policing Bryn Hughes, Charles T. Hunt, Jodie Curth-Bibb, 2013-01-09 Forging New Conventional Wisdom Beyond International Policing Learning from Complex Political Realities provides an innovative perspective in the field by conceptualizing international policing as part of a much broader system of peace and capacity development initiatives Authors Bryn Hughes Charles T Hunt and Jodie Curth Bibb provide a thorough analysis of the current problems in the field and subsequently offer a convincing argument for a new post Weberian approach     Routledge Handbook of International Statebuilding David Chandler, Timothy D. International Governance of War-Torn Territories Richard Caplan, 2005-01-27 Since the mid 1990s the United Nations and other multilateral organizations have been entrusted with exceptional authority for the administration of war torn and strife ridden territories In Bosnia and Herzegovina Eastern Slavonia Kosovo and East Timor these organizations have assumed responsibility for governance to a degree unprecedented in recent history These initiatives represent some of the boldest experiments in the management and settlement of intra state conflict ever attempted by third parties This book is a study of recent experiences in the international administration of war torn territories It examines the nature of these operations their mandates structures and powers and distinguishes them from kindred historical and contemporary experiences of peacekeeping trusteeship and military occupation It analyses and assesses the effectiveness of international administrations and discusses in thematic fashion the key operational and political challenges that arise in the context of these experiences It also reflects on the policy implications of these experiences recommending reforms or new approaches to the challenge posed by localized anarchy in a global context It argues that despite many of the problems arising from both the design and implementation of international administrations international administration has generally made a positive contribution to the mitigation of conflict in the territories where they have been established thus removing or reducing a threat to peace and helping to improve the lives of the vast majority of the territories inhabitants This major new work from a leading scholar provides the first comprehensive treatment of recent attempts at international governance of war torn territories and will be essential reading for anyone interested in peace keeping operations and international administration
