What People Want when They Buy a House Edward Thurber Paxton, United States. Housing and Home Finance Agency, 1955

A Christian Peace Experiment Ian M. Randall, 2018-03-14 This book examines part of the development of the Bruderhof community which emerged in Germany in 1920. Community members sought to model their life on the New Testament. This included sharing goods. The community became part of the Hutterite movement with its origins in sixteenth century Anabaptism. After the rise to power of the Nazi regime the Bruderhof became a target and the community was forcibly dissolved. Members who escaped from Germany and travelled to England were welcomed as refugees from persecution and a community was established in the Cotswolds. In the period 1933 to 1942 when the Bruderhof's witness was advancing in Britain its members were in touch with many individuals and movements. This book covers the Bruderhof's connections with among others the Fellowship of Reconciliation, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, the Peace Pledge Union, the social work of Muriel and Doris Lester in East London, Jewish refugee groups and artistic pioneers like Eric Gill. As significant numbers of British people joined the Bruderhof its farming, publishing and arts and crafts activities extended considerably. But with the outbreak of the Second World War German members came to be regarded with suspicion and British members became unpopular locally because they were pacifists. Although the Bruderhof was defended in Parliament notably by Lady Astor it seemed that German members would be interned as enemy aliens. The consequence was that by 1942 over 300 community members had left England. With Mennonite assistance they began to forge a new life in South America. This book traces a remarkable Christian peace experiment being undertaken in a time of great political upheaval.

Grey Literature in Library and Information Studies Dominic Farace, Joachim Schöpfel, 2010-09-27 The further rise of electronic publishing has come to change the scale and diversity of grey literature facing librarians and other information practitioners. This compiled work brings together research and authorship over the past decade dealing with both the supply and demand sides of grey literature. While this book is written with students and instructors of Colleges and Schools of Library and Information Science in mind it likewise serves as a reader for information professionals working in any and all like knowledge based communities.

State Officers' Reports for ... Vermont, 1894

Policing at the top Bryn Cales, 2011-09-07 Chief police officers are often shadowy enigmas even to members of their own forces yet they make far reaching strategic command decisions about policing armed responses, operations against criminals and allocation of resources. What is their background? Where do they come from? How are chief officers selected? What do they think of those who hold them to account? Where do they stand on direct entry at different levels and what do they think of a National Police Force Bryn Caless has had privileged access to this occupational elite and presents their frank and sometimes controversial views in this ground breaking social study which will fascinate serving officers students of the police academic commentators journalists and social scientists as well as concerned citizens who want to understand those who command our police forces
