Home Thoughts:

Home thoughts, and public utterances, on entertaining and practical subjects William Baldwin Affleck, 1866 Home thoughts, a monthly magazine of literature, science, and domestic economy, 1853 The Gentle Philosopher; Or, Home Thoughts for Home Thinkers, 1866 Letters from Home - Thoughts to Carry with You Upon Leaving the Nest David C. Deavours, 2006-11 Encouraging advice and a few anecdotes arranged in an A Z format Home thoughts for mothers and mothers' meetings [by J.E. Hopkins]. Jane Ellice Hopkins, 1869 Work among the lost. By the author of 'Home thoughts for mothers and mothers' meetings'. Jane Ellice Hopkins, 1874 Children's Literature K.

Lesnik-Oberstein, 2004-08-31 Children's Literature New Approaches is a guide for graduate and upper level undergraduate students of children's literature. It is structured through critics reading individual texts to bring out wider issues that are current in the field. Includes chronology of key events and publications, a selective guide to further reading, and a list of Web-based resources.

Picking Up the Traces Lawrence Jones, 2003 The story of the generation of New Zealand writers who came of age in the 1930s and who deliberately and decisively changed the course of literature is told in this book, shedding important new light on the key participants including Allen Curnow, Denis Glover, and Robin Hyde. The movement is traced through small circulation magazines and small press publications from 1932 to 1941. The repudiations and loyalties by which the movement defined itself are explored, including its opposition to the literary establishment and to late Georgian verse, its naming of its precursors and allies from the 1920s, and its choice of overseas models such as the British Moderns and the new American short story writers. For the creation of a new literature, oppose the cultural myths supported by the literary establishment and the writers' responses to the world-wide social upheavals of the period: the Depression, the international crises of 1935 to 1939, and World War II.

William Henry Jackson's Lens Tim McNeese, 2023-06-15 William Henry Jackson was an explorer, photographer, and artist. He is also one of those most often overlooked figures of the American West. His larger claim to fame involves his repeated forays into the western lands of nineteenth-century America as a photographer. Jackson's life spanned multiple incarnations of the American West. In a sense, he played a singular role in revealing the West to eastern Americans. While others opened the frontier with the axe and the rifle, Jackson did so with his collection of cameras. He dispelled the geological myths through a lens; no one could deny or match. His wet plate collodion prints not only helped to reframe the nation's image of the West but they also enticed businessmen, investors, scientists, and even tourists to venture into the western regions of the United States. Prior to Jackson's widely circulated photographs, the American West was little understood and unmapped, mysterious lands that required a camera and a cameraman to reveal their secrets and ultimately provide the first photographic record of such exotic destinations as Yellowstone, Mesa Verde, and the Rocky Mountains. Jackson's story was long and his life full as he lived to the enviable age of 99. This biography presents the good, bad, and ugly of Jackson's life, both personal and professional, through the use of primary source materials, including Jackson's autobiographies letters and government reports on the Hayden Surveys Poetry, Pictures, and Popular Publishing
