The Valley Farmer ,1860 Home and Homeland Linda L. Layne,2019-01-15 In this provocative examination of collective identity in Jordan Linda Layne challenges long held Western assumptions that Arabs belong to easily recognizable corporate social groups Who is a true Jordanian Who is a true Bedouin These questions according to Layne are examples of a kind of pigeonholing that has distorted the reality of Jordanian national politics In developing an alternate approach she shows that the fluid social identities of Jordan emerge from an ongoing dialogue among tribespeople members of the intelligentsia Hashemite rulers and Western social scientists Many commentators on social identity in the Middle East limit their studies to the village level but Layne s goal is to discover how the identity building processes of the locality and of the nation condition each other She finds that the tribes creates their own cultural homes through a dialogue with official nationalist rhetoric and Jordanian urbanites while King Hussein in turn maintains the idea of the homeland in many ways that are powerfully influenced by the tribespeople The identities so formed resemble the shifting irregular shapes of postmodernist landscapes but Hussein and the Jordanian people are also beginning to use a classically modernist linear narrative to describe themselves Layne maintains however that even with this change Jordanian identities will remain resistant to all or nothing descriptions Linda L Layne is Alma and H Erwin Hale Teaching Professor of Humanities and Social Sciences in the Department of Science and Technology Studies at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Originally published in 1994 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 The Home Monthly ,1861 When the Valley's White with Snow Anna Dee,2011-07-08 The title is from the song Danny Boy which runs throughout the book It is an autobiographical novel depicting life in an Orphanage as a child leaving at eight years and growing up in the 50s to 60s eras It involves explicit sex violence abuse attempted murder and adultery resulting in falling in love My violent husband caused us to hide our feelings for each other until Ken unable to hold back his emotions any longer courageously stood up and sang Danny Boy in public using the words to declare his love openly for me My husband Kevin was a few feet away The World at home ,1858

Le Guin,2001-02-27 An ethnographic novel that portrays life in California s Napa Valley as it might be a very long time from now imagined not as a high tech future but as a time of people once again living close to the land

Ursula K. Le Guin: Always Coming Home (LOA #315) Ursula K. Le Guin, 2019-03-05 Ursula K. Le Guin's richly imagined vision of a post-apocalyptic California in a newly expanded version prepared shortly before her death. This fourth volume in the Library of America's definitive Ursula K. Le Guin edition presents her most ambitious novel and finest achievement: a mid-career masterpiece that showcases her unique genius for world-building. Framed as an anthropologist's report on the Kesh survivors of ecological catastrophe living in a future Napa Valley, Always Coming Home (1985) is an utterly original tapestry of history and myth, fable and poetry, story-telling and song. Prepared in close consultation with the author, this expanded edition features new material added just before her death, including for the first time two missing chapters of the Kesh novel Dangerous People. The volume concludes with a selection of Le Guin's essays about the novel's genesis and larger aims, a note on its editorial and publication history, and an updated chronology of Le Guin's life and career.

The Home You Left Behind Dorothy B. Murray, 2016-11-14 The Home You Left Behind by Dorothy B. Murray Fifty years ago Jim MacLeary left his small village to find a new life in the UK. After the death of his parents, Jim needed a fresh start away from the quiet village life and bad memories. His children have grown and his beloved wife passed. Jim's thoughts reflected on the homeland he left behind. A sudden decision has him returning again to his quiet village in Cavers Island. During his journey, he remembers both the beauty of growing up in his small village, the games he played with his siblings and friends, the village fairs and Christmas traditions. He also remembers the tragedies that forever changed him: the death of his young brother and the too-early passing of his parents. But village life has changed drastically since Jim left. His sleepy village no longer beams with life. As Jim traces his family roots, he learns why others have stayed and left and then returned again. Jim begins to see the beauty and the fragility of the life he had left behind. But can he ever really return home? Or does home only exist in his memories?

The Home You Left Behind is a gentle meditation on home and belonging.

Rhetoric and Reality on the U.S.—Mexico Border K. Jill Fleuriet, 2021-04-03 Stemming from four years of ethnographic research, media analysis of over 750 national news articles published in the 2010s, and decades of the author's professional and personal immersion in the Rio Grande Valley of south Texas, Rhetoric and Reality illuminates a place at the heart of our national conversation: the U.S.-Mexico border. K. Jill Fleuriet contrasts the rhetoric of national political and media discourse with that of local border leaders in economics, health care, politics, education, law enforcement, philanthropy, and activism. As she deconstructs the common narrative of a border in need of external intervention to control corruption, poverty, sickness, and violence, Fleuriet engagingly illustrates the range of regional organizing, local development strategies, and community responses in the borderlands that ultimately situate the Rio Grande Valley as the true North of the U.S. national compass, where the Valley goes, the rest of the country soon will follow. Rhetoric and Reality asks us to question our own assumptions, especially about those areas that drive national decisions about resource allocation, economic development, and national security. Rhetoric and Reality is an important ethnographic study of the deeply misunderstood, increasingly vilified Rio Grande Valley located on the Texas-Mexico border. Fleuriet presents a balanced counter-narrative that shows the region as one of growth, innovation, complexity, and rich with meaning. Rhetoric and Reality is an excellent example of place-based, reflexive scholarship appropriate for use in courses on border theory, applied anthropology, and research methods. Written clearly and crisply with a wide readership in mind, Rhetoric and Reality is mandatory reading for those wanting to better understand the U.S.-Mexico border region and the people who live there. Margaret A. Graham, Professor and Chair, The University of Texas Rio Grande Valley, USA. This is an important book as it describes life in the Rio Grande Valley rather than on the border. The notion of the border as an open range in need of external help is challenged as the author illustrates the wide range of leadership and programmatic change occurring in the Rio Grande Valley. Roberto R. Alvarez, Professor Emeritus of Ethnic Studies, University of California, San Diego, USA.
