López Camelo, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2004-01-01 The fruit and vegetable production sector of Latin America and the Caribbean Asia and Eastern Europe is facing a new situation where on the one hand supermarket chains account for an increasing percentage of the domestic food retail market and on the other hand producers must compete in an increasingly demanding global market for non traditional and off season fruits and vegetables Small farmers are increasingly being marginalized and will be facing unequal market conditions unless they are able to change their practices to meet the needs of a modern food marketing system. Regardless of the production system, the technological challenge is to increase returns through the rational use of available resources, reducing production costs and post-harvest losses, enhancing competitiveness and adding value to the final product.

Andrew Shepherd, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1997

Inventory Credit Jonathan

Coulter, Andrew Shepherd, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1995-01-01. After liberalization of agricultural marketing systems, private traders have taken over the marketing functions of government and parastatal bodies but frequently do not have ready access to finance for purchasing and storing the produce. Inventory credit offers one way of overcoming this problem. This paper examines requirements for successful inventory credit, drawing extensively on case studies from Ghana, India, Mali, and the Philippines. Legal issues are discussed in detail.

Wholesale Markets J. D.

Tracey-White, 1991-01-01. Wholesale marketing systems for fruit, vegetables, and other fresh foodstuffs such as livestock and fish are often inadequate. They neither maximize benefits to producers nor to consumers. This manual has been compiled to provide a systematic methodology based on the sequence of steps normally adopted in the development process. The manual should be of practical value both to senior professionals and to technicians in undertaking marketing and engineering surveys in the preparation of feasibility studies and master plans and in formulating proposals for the provision of physical facilities.

Market Infrastructure Planning J. D. Tracey-White, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1999-01-01. This is the third manual on market infrastructure; it highlights the need for improved planning and decision making to ensure successful market investments. The guide identifies the key steps in deciding on whether and how to invest in market infrastructure and highlights the steps to be taken to determine the size, location, and operations of markets. The guide will be of interest to economists and planners in ministries of agriculture and of urban development as well as city and local authorities. Development practitioners will also find the guide of interest.

The Role of Post-harvest Management in Assuring the Quality and Safety of Horticultural Produce Adel A. Kader, Rosa Sonya Rolle, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2004-01-01. Basic approaches to maintaining the safety and quality of horticultural produce are the same regardless of the market to which this produce is targeted. This bulletin reviews the factors which contribute to quality and safety deterioration of horticultural produce and describes approaches to assuring the maintenance of quality and safety throughout the post-harvest chain. Specific examples are given to illustrate the economic implications of investing in and applying proper post-harvest technologies. Criteria for the assessment of post-harvest needs, the selection of post-harvest technologies appropriate to the situation and context, and for extending appropriate levels of post-harvest information are also discussed.

Rural Transport of Food Products in Latin America and the Caribbean

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2008-01-01. The agrifood transport sector in Latin America and the Caribbean is a key component of the food supply chain, making a significant contribution to gross domestic product in these countries Well developed efficient food transport systems are crucial to the survival of thousands of people and pivotal to the success or failure of key economic sectors such as agriculture and other major national and international commercial activities This publication presents a detailed study of problems encountered covering seventeen countries The study focuses primarily on stumbling blocks faced by small farmers and suggests possible policy and programme interventions to improve the situation in the neediest areas with repercussions for the population as a whole Also published in Spanish Strategies for Crop Insurance Planning Richard A.
