Nails were not enough to hold God-and-man nailed and fastened on the

God's Voice from His Throne of Glory John Carter,C. Matthew McMahon,2015-07-28 This most excellent work is divided into two parts First Carter exegetes and expounds the wheels of Ezekiel s vision in Ezekiel 1 and 10 Then in the second part he exegetes and expounds the nail in Isaiah s preaching 22 23 Both works are ultimately pointed at the manner in which God sets up and pulls down those wheels and nails that are to work in his providence for his glory among his people Carter s poignant application of his exegesis on Ezekiel s wheels is masterful thought provoking and reaches the inner recesses of the Christian heart It elevates the power of the Son of God who sits on the chariot throne of the wheels of his providence and commands the wheels to move here and there in providential oversight of the whole world His work on the hammering of the nail is equally impressive in its substance showing God s power and providence over those in authority and those under authority Though Carter is purposeful to deal with circumstances in his time with these passages it does not take much for today s Christian to be spiritually charged by the initial exegesis doctrine and preaching of these works From the Introduction Christians often wonder What is God s will for my life Carter s exposition on God s providence and control of the earth will aid the Christian in making a conscious discernment in answering that question Once the Christian heart and mind is given over to a true realization of God s providence in its power and authority their worldview is held captive in contentment of God s work in their own life God moves things in the world for our good but ultimately his glory Here publishing Carter s sermons has been well worth the time for all Christians need to be aggressively reminded of God s power to be God in the control of all things from the least to the greatest for his own glory The church would do well to study this work to glorify Christ in his all encompassing providence over everyone and everything This is not a scan or facsimile has been updated in modern English for easy reading and has an active table of contents for electronic versions      What Jesus Demands from the World (All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. John Piper,2006-09-21 The four Gospels are filled with demands straight from the mouth of Jesus Christ These demands are Jesus way of showing us who he is and what he expects of us They are not the harsh demands of a taskmaster For example the demand that we come to Jesus is like the demand of a father to his child in a burning window Jump to me Or like the demand of a rich strong tender handsome husband to an unfaithful wife Come home What Jesus demands from the world can be summed up as Trust and treasure me above all This is good news In What Jesus Demands from the World John Piper has gathered many of Jesus demands from the four Gospels He begins with an introduction that puts the demands in a redemptive historical context then concisely examines each demand The result is an accessible introduction for thoughtful inquirers and new believers as well as meditative meat for veteran believers who want to know Jesus better
