Race and Nation in Modern Latin America Nancy P. Appelbaum, Anne S. Macpherson, Karin Alejandra Rosemblatt, 2003 Based on cutting edge research these 12 essays examine connections between race and national identity in Latin America and the Caribbean in the post independence era They reveal how notions of race and nationhood have varied over time and across the region's political landscapes The Friendly Liquidation of the Past Donna Lee Van Cott, 2007

Appelbaum, 2003-04-07 Claims that Colombia's present day regional and local hierarchies were shaped by 19th and 20th century processes of colonization and that regionalism and race are tied into

Colombia's history of violence Bolivia and the Making of the Global Indigenous Movement Juanita Roca-Sánchez, 2024-10-30 This book investigates how western anthropological trends development discourse and transnational activism came to create and define the global indigenous movement Using Bolivia as a case study the author demonstrates through a historical research how international ideas of what it means and does not mean to be indigenous have played out at the national level Tracing these trends from pre revolutionary Bolivia the Inter American indigenismo in the 1940s up to Evo Morales downfall the book reflects on Bolivia's national level policy discourse and constitutional changes but also asks to what extent these principles have been transmitted to the country's grassroots organisations and movements such as Indianismo Katarismo CSUTCB and CIDOB Overall the book argues that indigeneity can only be adequately understood as a longue dure anthropological political and legal construction crafted within broader geopolitical contexts Within this context the classical dichotomy between indigenous and whites should be challenged in favour of a more nuanced understanding of plural indigeneities This book will be of interest to researchers from across the fields of global studies political anthropology history of anthropology international development socio legal studies Latin American history and indigenous studies Afro-Colombian Hip-hop Christopher Dennis, 2012-01-01 Afro Colombian Hip Hop Globalization

Mayan Lives, Mayan Utopias Rosalva Aída Hernández Castillo, Shannan L. Mattiace, Jan Rus, 2003-09-03 The dramatic January 1 1994 emergence of the Zapatista Army of National Liberation EZLN in Chiapas Mexico brought the state's indigenous peoples to the attention of the international community Yet indigenous peoples in Chiapas had been politically active and organized for years prior to the uprising This compelling volume examines in detail these local and regional histories of power and resistance powerfully bolstered by gripping and heartrending details of oppression and opposition Situated broadly within the field of political anthropology the authors trace the connections between indigenous culture and indigenous resistance Their case studies include the Tzotzils and Tzeltals of the highland region the Tojolabals of eastern Chiapas northern Ch'ol communities the Mams of eastern and southeastern Chiapas and the settler communities of the Lacandon rain forest In the wake of the Chiapas rebellion all of these groups have increasingly come together around common goals the most important of which is autonomy Three essays focus specifically on the issue of Indian autonomy in both Zapatista and non Zapatista communities Offering a consistent and cohesive vision of the complex evolution of a region and its many cultures and histories this work is a fundamental source for understanding key issues in nation building In a unique collaboration the book brings together recognized authorities who have worked in Chiapas for decades many linking scholarship with social and political activism Their combined perspectives many previously unavailable in English make this volume the most authoritative richly detailed and authentic work available on the people behind the Zapatista movement

Out of the Mainstream Rutgerd Boelens, David H. Getches, Jorge Armando Guevara Gil, 2010 Water is not only a source of life and culture It is also a source of power conflicting interests and identity battles Rights to materially access culturally organize and politically control water resources are poorly understood by mainstream scientific approaches and hardly addressed by current normative frameworks These issues become even more challenging when law and policy makers and dominant power groups try to grasp contain and handle them in multicultural societies The struggles over the uses meanings and appropriation of water are especially well illustrated in Andean communities and local water systems of Peru Chile Ecuador and Bolivia as well as in Native American communities in south western USA The problem is that throughout history these nation states have attempted to civilize and bring into the mainstream the different cultures and peoples within their borders instead of understanding context and harnessing the strengths and potentials of diversity This book examines the multi scale struggles for cultural justice and socio economic re distribution that arise as Latin American communities and user federations seek access to water resources and decision making power regarding their control and management It is set in the dynamic context of unequal globalizing power relations politics of scale and identity environmental encroachment and the increasing presence of extractive industries that are creating additional pressures on local livelihoods While much of the focus of the book is on the Andean Region a number of comparative chapters are also included These address issues such as water rights and defence strategies in neighbouring countries and those of Native American people in the southern USA as well as state reform and multi culturalism across Latin and Native America and the use of international standards in struggles for indigenous water rights This book shows that against all odds people are actively contesting neoliberal globalization and water power plays In doing so they construct new hybrid water rights systems livelihoods cultures and hydro political networks and dynamically challenge the mainstream powers and politics Publisher s description
