Friendly Multimedia:

Management of Multimedia on the Internet Ehab S. Al-Shaer, Giovanni Pacifici, 2003-06-30 In recent years we have witnessed the explosion of multimedia traffic on the Internet. The availability of high bandwidth connections together with the recent advances in high quality video and audio compression techniques have created a fertile ground for the growth of multimedia applications such as interactive video on demand, collaborative distance learning, and remote medical diagnosis. Furthermore, the availability of low bit rate video and audio applications (e.g. H.263 and G.728) and the proliferation of pervasive devices create a new demand for wireless multimedia communication systems. After a decade or more of research and development in multimedia networking, the research community has learned a number of lessons. First, increasing the capacity of the best effort networks and services does not provide an effective and permanent solution for offering a guaranteed Quality of Service (QoS). Second, the integration of service and network management is a key element in providing end-to-end service management. Third, management techniques for Internet multimedia services must be scalable and adaptive to guarantee QoS and maintain fairness with optimal network resource. Commercial Multimedia Technologies for Twenty-First Century Army Battlefields National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Commission on Engineering and Technical Systems, Committee on Future Technologies for Army Multimedia Communications, 1995-11-27 This book responds to a request by the U.S. Army to study the applicability of commercial multimedia technologies to command and control communications and intelligence needs on future battlefields. After reviewing Army's needs and discussing relevant commercial technologies within the context of a generic architecture, the book recommends approaches for meeting the Army's needs. Battlefield potential is illustrated, and drawing on lessons learned from the private sector, a technology management strategy consisting of specific recommendations to the Army is provided. The key to future benefits is for the Army to accommodate the rapid changes taking place in the commercial world of multimedia technologies. Multimedia Richard Wise, 2005-07-15 Multimedia: A Critical Introduction is a comprehensive guide to the new media form which has resulted from the application of computer technology to existing techniques of broadcasting and telecommunications transmission. The rapid growth of multimedia technologies such as the internet, e-mail, and digital television holds the promise of a new information age in which individual tastes are catered for, citizens become better informed, and new wealth is created. But are new media technologies really designed to achieve these utopian aims? Multimedia: A Critical Introduction provides a historical, cultural, and political context to the development of multimedia as both a technology and a concept. Individual chapters address the origins of multimedia in the unlikely interaction between the military and 1960s counter culture; how the phenomenal US budgets allocated to US military research resulted in the microchip; and why the efforts of counter culture computer hobbyists evolved into a multi-billion dollar industry. The wider democratic and cultural implications of multimedia in the wake of the deregulation of the media industries by new right governments in the 1980s which has led to the domination of the media by transnational conglomerates issues of privacy and censorship in relation to new media including discussion of cryptography electronic surveillance and attempts to regulate material such as pornography on the internet the use of digital technology to create special effects in feature films

Protocols for Multimedia Systems Marten J. van Sinderen, Lambert J.M. Nieuwenhuis, 2003-06-30 This conference in Enschede The Netherlands is the sixth in a series of international conferences and workshops under the title Protocols for Multimedia Systems abbreviated as PROMS The first PROMS workshop took place in June 1994 in Berlin Germany followed by workshops in Salzburg Austria October 1995 and Madrid Spain October 1996 In 1997 PROMS formed a temporary alliance with Multimedia Networking a conference previously held in Aizu Japan in 1995 This led to the international conference on Protocols for Multimedia Systems Multimedia Networking PROMS MmNet that took place in Santiago Chile November 1997 Since then PROMS has been announced as an international conference although informal contacts and interactive sessions as in a workshop were retained as a desirable feature of PROMS After a gap of three years PROMS was organized in Cracow Poland October 2000 for the fifth time We consider it a challenge to make this sixth edition of PROMS as successful as the previous events The goal of the PROMS series of conferences and workshops is to contribute to scientific strategic and practical cooperation between research institutes and industrial companies in the area of multimedia protocols This is also the goal of PROMS 2001 The basic theme of this conference continues to be multimedia protocols both at the network and application level although the increasing interest in wireless mobility and quality of service as interrelated topics with relevance to multimedia are reflected in the current program

Management of Multimedia Networks and Services Alan Marshall, Nazim Agoulmine, 2003-09-09 Welcome to MMNS 2003 Multimedia services over IP networks are proliferating at an enormous speed There is also increasing demand for solutions that provide assured levels of service quality All of these require novel paradigms models and architectures for realizing integrated end to end service management rather than managing network elements in isolation Providing scalable Quality of Service QoS while maintaining fairness along with secure and optimal network resource management are key challenges for the future Internet These challenges apply to both wired and wireless networks This book contains all of the papers presented at the 6th IFIP IEEE International Conference on Management of Multimedia Networks and Services MMNS 2003 hosted by The Queen's University of Belfast Northern Ireland September 7-10 2003 MMNS 2003 follows the successful conferences held in Santa Barbara 2002 Chicago 2001 Fortaleza Brazil 2000 Paris 1998 and Montreal 1997 MMNS uses single track presentations which provide an intimate setting for discussion and debate The conference is known for its high quality papers from various research communities In just six years MMNS has established itself as one of the premier conferences focusing on the management of multimedia networks and services The conference objective is to bring together researchers working in all facets of network and service management as applied to broadband networks and multimedia services
