Harm Bart, Thomas Hempfling, Marinus A. Kaashoek, 2008-09-25 Mathematicians do not work in isolation They stand in a long and time honored tradition They write papers and sometimes books they read the publications of fellow workers in the field and they meet other mathematicians at conferences all over the world In this way in contact with colleagues far away and nearby from the past via their writings and from the present scientific results are obtained which are recognized as valid And that remarkably enough regardless of ethnic background political inclination or religion In this process some distinguished individuals play a special and striking role They assume a position of leadership They guide the people working with them through uncharted territory thereby making a lasting imprint on the field So thing which can only be accomplished through a combination of rare talents usually broad knowledge unfailing intuition and a certain kind of charisma that binds people together All of this is present in Israel Gohberg the man to whom this book is dedicated on the occasion of his 80th birthday This comes to the foreground unmistakably from the contributions from those who worked with him or whose life was affected by him Gohberg's exceptional qualities are also apparent from the articles written by himself sometimes jointly with others that are reproduced in this book Among these are stories of his life some dealing with mathematical aspects others of a more general nature Also included are reminiscences paying tribute to a close colleague who is not among us anymore

An ethnographic study of the everyday lives of religious minorities near Turkey's border with Syria How do people coexist in a world shaped by longstanding differences political instability and recurrent displacement In Under the Same Sky Se il Da ta addresses this question by exploring the everyday politics of religious difference among minority communities in Turkey's southern borderlands In a region often portrayed through the lens of conflict and division this ethnography brings to life the subtle often overlooked negotiations occurring in social spaces such as bustling city bazaars shared worship sites interfaith unions home gatherings and a multireligious choir Set against the backdrop of major political upheavals in Turkey and Syria before the 2023 earthquakes devastated the region the book demonstrates how Arab Alawis Christians and Jews alongside their Sunni Muslim neighbors use familiar social idioms kinship hospitality love and companionship to reproduce religious differences Da ta argues that religious difference is more than an identity marker for these communities as it is often treated in studies focused on statecraft or political movements It is a dynamic aspect of social relations which is constantly redefined by race class citizenship and gender and unsettled by overlapping practices and multireligious belonging Under the Same Sky focuses on religious difference as lived and reworked in daily encounters within the larger context of a majoritarian Turkish Sunni state inviting readers to reconsider secularism religious plurality and the nature of political life Li Hung-chang and China's Early Modernization Samuel C. Strengthen the Country and Enrich the People Paul Bailey, 2013-12-16 Ma Jianzhong was a close adviser to the powerful Qing government official Li Hongzhang and wrote several essays between 1878 and 1890 outlining his plans for economic and administrative reform He was the first Chinese to advocate the creation of a specialized and professional diplomatic corps His contribution to the late nineteenth century Chinese discourse on the state and the economy has hitherto been neglected Paul Bailey's translation of his essays will contribute to a wider understanding of the origins and circulation of reform ideas in the late Qing Minding Miss Manners Judith Martin, 2020-06-09 The etiquette expert and authentic comic genius guides us through the Age of Incivility Chris Buckley New York Times bestselling author of Has Anyone Seen My Toes We seem to be entering a new era liberated from oppressive old-fashioned rules of etiquette We're finally free Free to shout insults at strangers on the street Free to pressure people to give us money Free to use all sorts of offensive language In this book New York Times bestselling author Judith Martin aka Miss Manners reminds us that living in an etiquette-free paradise is not all it's cracked up to be In wise witty commentary and responses to letters she addresses vexing problems in the workplace at the wedding on the web and beyond in hopes of saving civilization But fear not Gentle Reader she also allows us some important exceptions For example despite the rampant oversharing that social media has encouraged you can politely refuse to answer nosy questions And you are decidedly not obliged to respond to every inane post stay on the phone with a telemarketer or hug your colleagues An extremely useful philosopher I consult her frequently in order to behave better Daniel Handler in The New York Times The Study of Change James Reardon-Anderson, 1991 When Western missionaries introduced modern chemistry to China in the 1860s they called this discipline hwa hsueh literally the study of change In this first full-length work on science in modern China James Reardon Anderson describes the introduction and development of chemistry in China in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and examines the impact of the science on language reform education industry research culture society and politics Throughout the book Professor Reardon Anderson sets the advance of chemistry in the broader context of the development of science in China and the social and political changes of this era His thesis is that science fared well at times when a balance was struck between political authority and free social development Based on Chinese and English sources the narrative moves from detailed descriptions of particular chemical processes and innovations to more general discussions of intellectual and social history and provides a fascinating account of an important episode in the intellectual history of modern China T'an Ssu-t'ung, 1865-1898 Luke Kwong, 2021-09-13 The first full length study in English on T'an Ssu-t'ung a well known scholar reformer in late Ch'ing China Based on a rich variety of primary sources it traces T'an's progress from his early years to his summary execution during the palace coup in 1898 The Introduction explains the premises and sources pertinent to this study while the Epilogue provides an overall interpretation of T'an's life The remaining eight chapters are organized in such a way as to allow a chronological and thematic appreciation of the book's subject matter This is more than a biography of a remarkable individual By placing T'an's personal experience in the larger social and political contexts it also sheds light on an emergent intellectual community in modern China Asia ... United States.
