From Afar It Is An Island:

From Afar it is an Island Bruno Munari, 1972 From Afar it is an Island, 1971 Spoil Island Charlie Hailey, 2013-08-01

Is there an allure of spoiled places? Spoil islands are overlooked places that combine dirt with paradise, waste land with brave new world and wildness with human intervention. Although they are mundane products of dredging, these islands form an uninvestigated archipelago that demonstrates the potential value and contested revaluation of landscapes of waste. To explore these islands, Spoil Island Reading the Makeshift Archipelago navigates a course along the U.S. east coast moving from New York City to Florida. Along the way, a general populace squats, picnics, and reflects on the islands while other forces are also at work. New York City parks commissioner Robert Moses first deplores then adopts Hoffman and Swinburne Islands. UN Secretary General U Thant meditates on the East River's Belmont Island. Businessman John D. MacArthur rejects the purchase of Peanut Island. Artist Christo surrounds Miami's spoil islands. Key Westers debate the futures of two spoil islands that mark their sunset view, and artist Robert Rauschenberg augments this archipelago materially and conceptually. Historical and contemporary stories highlight each island's often contradictory ecologies that pair nature with infrastructure, public concerns with private development, rationalized urbanism with artistic impulse and order with disorder. Spoil islands put you in places you normally wouldn't and perhaps shouldn't be. To examine these marginalized topographies is to understand emergent concerns of twenty-first-century place-making: public space and natural and artificial infrastructure. Today, spoil islands constitute an unprecedented public commons where human agency and nature are inextricably linked. Spoil Island will be of interest to anyone working in the areas of architecture, cultural history, cultural geography, environmental studies, or environmental philosophy. Linking the islands with their environmental aesthetics, Charlie Hailey provides a lively and critical topography of places that play a part in current events and local situations with global implications.

The Authorship of Place Dennis Lo, 2020-09-14

The Authorship of Place is the first monograph dedicated to the study of the politics, history, aesthetics, and practices of location shooting for Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and coproduced art cinemas shot in rural communities since the late 1970s. Dennis Lo argues that rural location shooting beyond serving aesthetic and technical needs constitutes practices of cultural survival in a region beset with disruptive and disorienting social changes, including rapid urbanization, geopolitical shifts, and ecological crises. In response to these social changes, auteurs like Hou Xiaoxian, Jia Zhangke, Chen Kaige, and Li Xing engaged in location shooting to transform sites of film production into symbolically meaningful places of collective memories and aspirations. These production practices ultimately enabled auteurs to experiment with imagining Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and cross-strait communities in novel and contentious ways. Deftly guiding readers on a cross-strait tour of prominent shooting locations for the New Chinese Cinemas this book shows how auteurs sought out their disappearing cultural heritage by reenacting lived experiences of nation building homecoming and cultural salvage while shooting on location This was an especially daunting task when auteurs encountered the shooting locations as spaces of unresolved historical social and geopolitical contestations tensions which were only intensified by the impact of filmmaking on rural communities This book demonstrates how these complex circumstances surrounding location shooting were pivotal in shaping both representations of the rural on screen as well as the production communities institutions and industries off screen Informed by cutting edge perspectives in cultural geography and media anthropology The Authorship of Place both revises Chinese language film history and theorizes groundbreaking approaches for investigating the cultural politics of film authorship and production This extraordinary book discusses the uses of location shooting in films by contemporary Taiwanese and Mainland Chinese directors ranging from Li Xing to Jia Zhangke It highlights the ways in which place memory and identity stances respond to social changes and geopolitical disparities In a world full of uncertainty the argument about the imaginary homeland as an experienced cinematic reality only renders it more urgent and universally relatable Ping hui Liao University of California San Diego The Authorship of Place is certainly a welcome intervention into the study of Chinese cinemas and their auteurs that further contributes to the wider study of location shooting as well as cultural geographies and place based imaginaries of film It is rare to find a book dealing with space place in and around cinema that is this inventive and nuanced in its methodologies Stephanie DeBoer Indiana University

Ambassadors from the Island of Immortals Zhenping Wang, 2005-08-31 Using recent archaeological findings and little known archival material Wang Zhenping introduces readers to the world of ancient Japan as it was evolving toward a centralized state Competing Japanese tribal leaders engaged in ambassador diplomacy and actively sought Chinese support and recognition to strengthen their positions at home and to exert military influence on southern Korea They requested among other things the bestowal of Chinese insignia official titles gold seals and bronze mirrors Successive Chinese courts used the bestowal or denial of the insignia to conduct geopolitics in East Asia Wang explains in detail the rigorous criteria of the Chinese and Japanese courts in the selection of diplomats and how the two prepared for missions abroad He journeys with a party of Japanese diplomats from their tearful farewell party to hardship on the high seas to their arrival amidst the splendors of Yangzhou and Changan and the Sui Tang court The depiction of these colorful events is combined with a sophisticated analysis of premodern diplomacy using the key concept of mutual self interest and a discussion of two major modes of diplomatic communication court reception and the exchange of state letters Wang reveals how the parties involved conveyed diplomatic messages by making accepting or rejecting court ceremonial arrangements Challenging the traditional view of China's tributary system he argues that it was not a unilateral tool of hegemony but rather a game of interest and power in which multiple partners modified the rules depending on changing historical circumstances
